NEW CONSERVATIVE GOV'T IS NOW IN POWER AT OTTAWA

Premier R. B. Bennett and Sixteen Ministers Are Sworn In After Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Tenders Resignation of Liberal Administration—Privy Council Meeting Is Held

By-Election Writ Issued; Aug. 28 Is Nomination Day

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Aug. 7—Late this afternoon the curtain descended upon the last act of the Liberal Administration, which for nearly nine years has directed the affairs of Canada; but no sooner had the stage been veiled than a new act was begun, with different figures occupying the spotlight, some equally as well known as the old cast, others with whose acquaintance as political administrators the country has yet to make itself familiar. It was the same play—that of the Government of Canada—which was being presented, and there was no break in its continuity.

Government come and Government's go, but the King's business must be carried on and not for a fraction of a second was His Excellency the Governor-General left without a responsible adviser. Thus Hon. R. B. Bennett is now Prime Minister of Canada, while Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King is the leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Not until Mr. Bennett had been sworn in as President of the Privy Council, which made him first among the Ministers of the Crown, was Mr. Mackenzie King permitted to relinquish his role as Prime Minister.

DAY OF SPECULATION

It was a day of speculation and expectancy. For the past week Mr. Bennett had been busy constructing his cabinet, a task which was not facilitated by the magnitude and distribution of his following. The process of selection demanded the utmost care, consequently a great uncertainty as to when the Prime Minister would be able to announce his readiness to take office hovered over Parliament Hill.

Already political observers had forecast the personnel of the new cabinet, the forecasts in the main proving eventuality to have been extremely accurate. Mr. Bennett had informed Mr. Mackenzie King that Thursday would probably see him prepared to pick up the reins, and so it proved.

After formalities had been completed, occupying most of the afternoon, sixteen new ministers passed into the Viceregal Chamber, there being three absentees—Hon. Robert Weir, Hon. J. A. Macdonald, and Hon. E. N. Rhodes.

The swearing-in process occupied about half an hour.

The first act of the new Government was to hold a Privy Council

SAFETY OF FOREIGNERS IS MENACED

Missionary at Changsha Reported Stabbed to Death by Communists

REDS PLAN ATTACK ON THREE TOWNS SUNDAY

Nanking Gov't Charges Wang Directing Rebel Forces in China

(Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—The reported stabbing to death of the Rev. Allen N. Cameron, missionary in Changsha, although unconfirmed, heightened apprehension today for foreigners at bandit and Communist plagued centres of China.

Cameron's stated death was particularly disturbing as indicating his many friendships among Chinese formed since he came from Topeka, Kas., in 1891, had failed to save him from Red assassins.

Foreign Governments, alarmed by continued activities of Communist bands, hurried warships and fighting-men up the Yangtze River to Kiukiang, Hankow and other cities.

GENERAL OFFENSIVE

Nanking Government dispatches asserted Communist armies were planning to attack Hankow and its neighboring cities, Wuchang and Hanyang, Sunday, in a general offensive, which the Reds expected would gain them possession of other chief Yangtze River cities by mid-August.

Giving as its authority an intercepted message from General Wang Ching-Wei, the Government charged Wang, acting for Northern Alliance insurgents, was directing Communist forces throughout China.

FRONTIER CITY IS THREATENED BY TRIBESMEN

British and Indian Troops Closely Guard Peshawar Against Afridis

NATIONALIST LEADERS ARE SENT TO PRISON

SIMLA, Aug. 7.—A hostile force of Afridi (Afghan) tribesmen continued marching down the Bara River valley today toward the important frontier city of Peshawar, with the British Royal Air Force unable to deviate against them because of unfavorable flying weather.

Fifty-four airplanes, comprising six squadrons, bombed the Afridi yesterday, but did not check them. Should the plodder fail to halt the advance when they get a good flying day, the authorities may begin ground operations.

The tribesmen, numbering 5,000, are young and aggressive. They have been influenced by their priests and are attempting to enlist recruits as they move down the valleys.

Authorities at Bombay today passed sentences on the Nationalist leaders arrested following a civil disobedience demonstration Saturday. Vallabhai Patel, acting president of the All-India National Congress, was sentenced to three months simple imprisonment. Pandit Malaviya was fined 100 rupees (about $37) with the alternative of fifteen days' simple imprisonment.

The new acting president of the National Congress, appointed by Patel, is a Moslem—Moulana Abdul Kalam Azad.

KARACHI, India, Aug. 7.—Despatches from Sukkur, where rioting occurred on Tuesday, indicated today that there might be a new flare-up at any time.

The police said bands of hooligans were waiting outside the town to renew the trouble. All shops are closed. Only the most daring inhabitants today ventured forth from their homes.

Police and military are patrolling the town and machine guns have been requisitioned.

The report said a few killings had occurred, with some looting. The trouble is of a local nature.

MANY DROWN WHEN FLOOD RUINS HOMES

Arizona Towns Inundated by Torrential Downpour—Seventeen Lose Lives

DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS MORE THAN $200,000

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 7.—Mayor A. C. Villaseonr, of Nogales, tonight estimated the number of drowned in his city late last night and early this morning by the flood which swept these twin border towns after torrential rains at seventeen. The estimate was based on a complete check of the list of missing.

The homes of sixty families, or a total of more than 300 persons, were destroyed, and sixty other families were ordered by municipal authorities to abandon their homes, which threatened collapse in the Sonora City.

Mayor Villaseonr said the damage in his city amounted to $170,000, including the $35,000 hotel. The damage on the Arizona side of the line was estimated by police at $25,000. Although this evening's rain subsided, frightened residents, who fled at breakneck speed when the first shower to high ground, remained away from the lower parts of the cities in which the business sections are located.

HON. R. B. BENNETT, P.C., LL.B., K.C., was sworn in on Thursday afternoon as Premier of Canada, succeeding Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. He was sworn also as President of the Privy Council, Secretary of State for External Affairs and Minister of Finance.

Will Spend Hundred Million Yearly in Hydro Development

Royal Bank of Canada Issues Report on Plans for Canadian Power Expansion in Next Three Years—Establishment of Manufacturing Industries to Use Energy Generated Is Forecast

Heralds the Return of Prosperity

IN a most optimistic review of the proposals for development of Canada's water powers, the Royal Bank of Canada, in its monthly letter on conditions in the Dominion, states that plans for various projects indicate that the annual expenditure during the next three years will total the immense sum of $100,000,000.

Many large enterprises are either under way or planned in British Columbia in the hydro-electric expansion schemes of the Dominion. In addition to the water power resources upon which the figures of the Royal Bank of Canada have been computed must be added several potential hydro-electric sites and proposals which are now being investigated by the Provincial Government water powers branch. These include gigantic possibilities on the Coast district which are computed to have a total of 3,000,000 horsepower.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY

The Royal Bank of Canada, in its letter, sets out the present and possible expansion of hydro-electric plants. It further emphasizes that with the expenditure of $100,000,000 yearly for the next three years that concomitant industrial development must take place to utilize the new power being generated, thus creating a great deal of employment.

On the whole the bank's statement presages an era of increased prosperity.

The letter says:

"The power projects now under development in Canada will necessitate the expenditure of more than $100,000,000 a year during each of the next three years. Investment on this scale constitutes objective evidence that the worst period of

Shaw Signs Movie Deal After All

LONDON, Aug. 7.—George Bernard Shaw today signed his first movie contract, permitting "How She Lied to Her Husband," a play, to be produced as a talking picture by a British company.

Remarking that his other plays would follow suit, he said that the theatre was "done for."

"I signed the contract because I want to make some money," he told reporters.

"I am afraid the poor old theatre is done for. It may survive as a place where people are taught to act, but apart from that there will be nothing but talkies soon. All my plays will be made into talkies."

FIRE SITUATION IN PROVINCE IMPROVES

Outbreaks Reported Well in Hand—Improved Facilities Made Good Work Possible

The forest fire situation tonight was quiet, according to reports from the forestry department. Two or three small outbreaks had occurred, but it was expected that these would be kept well in hand.

While the number of fires this season is greater than last year, as shown in the report of the chief forester, none have assumed the alarming proportions that characterized those of preceding years.

This is attributed to improved facilities for rushing crews to the scene of an incipient blaze.

The fire in the vicinity of Cadboro Bay, near Vancouver, behind Point Atkinson lighthouse, is well under control, it was reported by the forestry department Thursday night.

All danger of its now spreading further is hoped to be over, unless an exceptionally high wind rises, it is said.

Twelve men are fighting the fire on Lasqueti Island, which covers 100 acres. It was started by campers, it is declared.

Another fire, about two acres in extent, is reported to have been started by campers at Roberts Creek. Five men have been sent there, it is stated.

BIRKENHEAD IS IMPROVING

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The condition of Lord Birkenhead, who is dangerously ill with bronchial pneumonia, today continued to show a slight improvement.

FORGERY CHARGES ARE DENIED BY C. C. WILSON

Suspended Purchasing Agent for School Board Takes Stand in Own Defence

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—C. C. Wilson, suspended purchasing agent for the Vancouver School Board, charged with dealing with two forged documents, asserted on the witness stand at his trial in police court this afternoon, that he knew nothing about the alleged forgeries.

Wilson was arrested as a result of evidence he gave before the select committee of the House of Commons, which was started by campers, it is declared.

Thus, he said, coke allegedly for Wilson's private use was paid for by the city.

T. W. Woodhead and Frank Dobson, principals of Kitsilano High School and Model School, respectively, swore signatures on the invoices in question were not theirs.

Wilson denied all knowledge of the alleged forgeries and said he could not explain them. The case will proceed tomorrow morning.

PROSPECTORS FOUND ALIVE BY SEARCHERS

Father and Son Were Lost for Days in Northern Manitoba

SUBSISTED ON BERRIES WHILE LOST IN WILDS

THE PAS, Man., Aug. 7.—Lost for twenty-one days in North Manitoba woods, Prospector Harry Cairns and his fifteen-year-old son, George, were found today, alive and well. The father was weakened somewhat by the wanderings since the pair missed the trail back to their camp at Baker's Narrows, on the north arm of Lake Athapapuskow.

F. R. Patton, old-time prospector, located the lost men about fifteen miles from their camp, found abandoned a week ago, between Flin Flon and Cold Lake rail lines, north of The Pas. They had been the way returning to camp after doing some assessment work on claims, wandered in a circle for days, and subsisted chiefly on berries. Both look considerably weight.

This afternoon, the father and son, former residents of Saskatoon, were flown into The Pas in a royal Canadian Air Force plane. Tonight they are resting at their home.

COAL CONFERENCE SEEKS WAY TO INCREASE OUTPUT OF COLLIERIES

Prairie Grain Movement May Bring Relief to Mines

BUYING orders for many thousands of tons of British Columbia coal are expected to be released by the two transcontinental railway systems as soon as the movement of Prairie grain gets under way for this Coast, delegates to the coal conference were informed yesterday by representatives of the roads. The grain movement is expected shortly.

Another practical result from the first day of the parley was the announcement by Colonel T. A. Hiam, of the Canadian National Railways, that the new automatic stoker system would be installed in a locomotive by that company for conducting early tests into claims advanced for the system, which is said to be superior to the present coal-burning devices.

Transportation officials, including the Western officials of both railroads, the B.C. Coast Service and the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, withdrew from the general conference yesterday afternoon, at the invitation of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, for a round table discussion with leading coal producers of British Columbia fields, and were closed together for some time.

Broad, general lines for closer co-operation in the use of British Columbia coal by transportation systems wherever it is economically possible were laid at this meeting, it is understood. The details of the general discussion are reported on page 6 in this issue.

ALBERTA FLYER PLANS TRIP TO MAGNETIC POLE

Pilot to Take Explorer by Air to East Arctic Areas

WILL FLY FOR WEEKS OVER WILDERNESSES

EDMONTON, Aug. 7.—Bringing northward in a flight which will take him over the forbidding barren lands, over ice-covered islands of the Arctic ties, and finally to the North Magnetic Pole, situated on the rocky coast of the Boothia Peninsula, a region never before visited by an airman, Pilot W. E. Gilbert, of the Western Canada Airways, will undertake one of the most difficult flights in the history of aviation when he leaves the McMurray seaplane base on a special-charter trip next Friday morning.

During the ensuing three weeks, he will fly over lonely and uncharted seas, carrying with him Major Burwash, famous Northern explorer in the employ of the Dominion Government, for whom the expedition to the North Magnetic Pole is undertaken.

Over 5,000 miles will have been covered by the intrepid flyer before he can bring his super-universal Fokker monoplane to land at the McMurray base again.

Worst Storm in Forty-Six Years Strikes Safford

Heat Wave Continues On Prairies

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—Through the long welter of hot days, residents of the prairies today saw a happy gleam of cooler weather. As temperatures shifted upward a couple of degrees to even greater warmth, and rain dwindled down to a mere dribble here and there, the weather forecast for the West was "mostly fair, and not quite so warm."

Flight across the prairies high readings were well up in the 90's all across the line in the 90's. Medicine Hat still held the torrid time—eight at 96 degrees, and Swift Current recorded a warm 94. Calgary, at 90, and Edmonton, at 88, were as warm as most other places in Alberta, but Saskatchewan was a little easier at 86 for Regina, 82 for Battleford, 82 for Saskatoon.

VICTORIA DRUGGIST ELECTED OFFICER AT NATIONAL CONVENTION

HALIFAX, Aug. 7.—At the final business session today of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association annual convention here, L. O. Henderson, of Vancouver, was elected president.

Other officers were chosen as follow: Vice-president, Edmond Vadboncoeur, Montreal; John Cochrane, Victoria, B.C., and H. A. Balcom, Halifax; honorary president, R. N. Kelley, Regina.

The new council includes the following: Messrs. Vadboncoeur, L. A. D. Brooking, Saskatchewan, W. H. Rose and Charles Wasson, Alberta, Charles E. Shaw and Sydney Jackson, British Columbia, L. R. Henderson and Fred Brown.

FUEL OIL BLAMED FOR MARKET STAGNATION

Loss to Industry Runs Into Millions as Unemployment Grows Apace

The displacement of 2,000 coal miners who are trained for no other means of livelihood; the loss of millions of dollars in payrolls and in income on invested capital annually, and the virtual strangulation of a primary industry of the province, were set out in a graphic report presented by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, to 100 per cent attendance at the opening of the coal conference yesterday. That the conference was timely, the warmest commendation of all delegates showed, as they addressed themselves to the business at hand.

The conference opened in the members' room of the Legislative buildings in the morning, and was attended by leading operators from the three main coal fields of the province, representatives of the two transcontinental railroad systems, of the Dominion Railway Board, boards of trade from all over the province, and members of the Legislature itself. The delegates were welcomed by Hon. H. H. Perry, on behalf of Premier Tolmie, and spent five hours in morning and afternoon sittings, adjourning then until 9 o'clock this morning, after considerable headway had been made.

Facts placed before the conference showed that British Columbia is producing less coal than it did ten years ago; that fuel oil consumption has eaten into the coal business to the extent of 1,000,000 tons a year, representing a low minimum value of $6,000,000 annually in lost business to the coal industry. With 70,000 tons of coal turned out at its mines to the end of 1929, British Columbia faces the prospect of retention of its coal industry, while its reserves of unmined coal are practically untouched, the conference was told.

FINANCING OF AIRSHIP FLEET TOLD

Twice-a-Week Britain-Canada Service Would Cost $30,000,000 to Start

DESIGNER OF R-100 SPEAKS IN TORONTO

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—Details of the financing of a regular twice-a-week airship service between Great Britain and Canada were today discussed before the Canadian Club here by Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the R-100 and managing director of the company which built the great dirigible. Sir Dennistoun delivered the closely reasoned address of the practical engineer and planner inspired by the broad vision of a dreamer.

He spoke for three-quarters of an hour, and evoked the most significant form of tribute—dead silence—and at the end of his address his hearers went away with his key words ringing in their ears. "The world is changing, and the British Empire is maintain its place must develop a rapid form of transportation."

It will cost $30,000,000, Sir Dennistoun estimated, to establish a fleet of airships capable of giving service between the old country and the Dominion twice a week. Sir Dennistoun quoted tentative figures of the mail and passenger traffic available to show that the gross revenue to be derived from the service would be $3,000,000 a year, and figured running expenses at a figure of $2,000,000 less. He suggested that the British and Canadian Governments, between them, might guarantee 75 per cent of the initial cost, as the United States guaranteed its Government line for Atlantic service, charging 3½% interest on its investment, which constituted a first charge on the ships.

MAIL CONTRACTS

And, as the United States, under the Jones-Hoggatt law guaranteed mail contracts to its ships, Sir Den-

TWO KILLED IN CHEMICAL BLAST

Three Others Seriously Injured in Explosion at Quebec Factory

ONE BLOWN OUT WINDOW

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Quebec, Aug. 7.—Orphir Julien, twenty-five, and Edgar Carter, thirty-seven, died this morning from injuries sustained when an explosion occurred in Building No. 1 of the Shawinigan Chemical Company. Three other employees, A. Beliemare, Arthur Therrien and Frederic Therrien, were more or less seriously injured.

The explosion, which blew Julien, Arthur Therrien received injuries about the body, and Frederic Therrien suffered from nervous shock.

Cause of the blast has not been ascertained. Doors and windows were blown out by the explosion.

One of the injured, Arthur Therrien, was seen flying through the window of the third story of the building by the force of the explosion, which shook the chemical structure to its foundation, but caused only slight damage.

Beliemare and Arthur Therrien, though seriously injured, will probably recover, attending physicians said. Frederic Therrien's condition was not considered grave.

Notwithstanding additional Chinese troops have arrived in Hankow, foreigners prepared to go aboard eleven foreign warships and commercial vessels there should the city become endangered by Red armies advancing from the South. Already some made helpless by withdrawal of troops to Hankow have been looted by Communists.

EVACUATION CONTINUES

Evacuation of foreigners from Kiukiang continued as 18,000 Communists were said to be approaching.

While foreign nations moved independently to protect their people in China, the Nationalist Government's News Agency asserted reinforced Nationalist troops would prevent further Communist outrages in Changsha and repel the Red drive upon the Hankow area.

Although the Communists departed from Changsha yesterday, allowing the provincial military to return, efforts to obtain accurate information of the extent of Red depredations there were futile.

ACTIVITIES SHIFT

Meanwhile, principal activities of Communists have shifted to other towns in Central Hunan Province and along the Yangtse River in Southern Hupeh, where the district between Hankow and Ichang is reported swept by Communist bands.

The Reds have erected large placards along the river banks bearing Communist slogans. Villages and towns are reported flying red banners bearing the sickle and hammer insignia.

Mr. Stanley Bulley, organist at Christ Church Cathedral, will give his first week-night recital on the cathedral organ on Wednesday, August 13, at 8 o'clock, assisted by Llewellyn Jones, tenor. Mr. Bulley has given two Sunday evening recitals in the last six or seven weeks, but this will be the first public week-night recital, and the programme will comprise much interesting new material.

Hungarians Believe Plan For Great Agrarian Bloc Snare Set by Two Nations

BY RUDYARD CRAWFORD

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 7.—Dreams of a great agrarian bloc in Central and Eastern Europe, composed of Rumania, Jugoslavia, Hungary and possibly including Bulgaria and Poland, today seem to fade, or, rather, to appear in a new form, the result of being made to solidify the political status quo so much as to really help the farmers.

After working with their heads somewhat in the clouds and visualizing a day in the near future when the farmers would form a solid phalanx in dealing with Europe's and America's highly organized industries, the statesmen of several countries, especially Hungary, have discovered that they have been duped by a shrewd plan of the Czech Foreign Minister, Dr. Edouard Benes, and the French Government to unite the little entente in a yet stronger body and lay the basis for a French-dominated united states of Europe.

BUCHAREST CONFERENCE

Count Bethlen, Premier of Hungary, who for years would let no Rumanian-Jugoslav-Hungarian agricultural bloc, believed that the day had come for the realization of his plan when the Rumanian Government invited a group of prominent Rumanian and Jugoslav agricultural experts to Bucharest for a conference.

When, immediately following this conference, Rumania and Jugoslavia held another almost immediately Hungary became a bit suspicious. Her preference has been that nothing was being done against her interests, however she is beginning to believe — and apparently with reason — that the Bucharest conference was more or less a trap prepared by Dr. Benes.

RUMORS INCREASE DAILY

Rumors are daily increasing that Czechoslovakia made secret deals a deal with France and Germany for exchanging French, German and Czech industrial goods against Rumanian and Jugoslav grain, and that it merely played with Hungary by having Rumania and Jugoslavia hold the tempting idea of an agricultural entente before Hungary's eyes as a blindfold until Czechoslovakia's arrangements with France and Germany would be completed.

During the last few days Hungary has rubbed its eyes with dismay as it recovered from the effects of the blindfold and realized that there had been created an anti-Hungarian agricultural bloc which she could be compelled to enter or have said down by Count Bethlen's archenemy, Dr. Benes, if she were ever to enter at all.

GRAIN EXPORT INSTITUTE

Reports from Belgrade today are that Jugoslavia has already organized a grain export institute with a capital of several million dollars and that the Jugoslavia Government will participate in it. A report of a similar arrangement is expected from Bucharest in the near future. In each instance, time, it is believed, will reveal that French capital has been invested.

With what success the little entente will be able to function, it is at present impossible to predict.

Rumanian grape growers yesterday had a mass meeting and protested against Rumania's co-operation with Jugoslavia in the fear that Jugoslavia's wines, being of better quality, would receive preferential treatment in a common Rumanian-Jugoslav export policy.

UNEMPLOYMENT

On August 11, upward of 100 Hungarian parliamentarians, members of the Government party and representative of both Houses of Parliament, will hold a conference at Balatonfoldvar, a resort on Lake Balaton, to discuss the Rumanian-Jugoslav grain union and the question of Hungarian unemployment. It is not unlikely that a decision will be taken to restrict imports and exports at co-operation between Rumania and Jugoslavia, and to seek an understanding with the Czechoslovakia made and Danube Dominions—whose grain exports to Germany have severely affected Germany, Czechoslovakia and France reach a definite agreement for the exchange of their industrial output for Balkan grain.

meeting, which lasted until about 7 o'clock.

"What seat are you going to open for Parliament?" asked one of the newspapermen of the Prime Minister, who looked shock his head.

"That's not my business," he replied. "I daresay Mr. Rhodes will arrange that himself."

Two possibilities seemed most apparent, namely, that Mr. Bruce Beaton Heath would be opened through the appointment of Finlay Macdonald to the Senate; or that Hon. W. A. Black, of Halifax, would resign to accept the Lieutenant-Governorship of Nova Scotia, which becomes vacant in October.

SUCCESSOR TO RHODES

It is expected at Halifax that the Premier will name Hon. Gordon Harrington, Minister of Public Works and Mines, as his successor.

The ordeal of having their pictures taken wound up the proceedings for the day for the new ministers.

Writs for by-elections necessitated by appointments to the new Conservative Cabinet were issued this evening. Nominations day in all instances, except in the case of Premier R. B. Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, will be on August 28. Polling day is named for September 2 in Ontario constituencies and for September 8 in five ridings where, under the Dominion Elections Act, two weeks must intervene between nominations and polling days.

OPPOSITION UNLIKELY

Announcement of the issue of the writs was made tonight by Premier R. B. Bennett. The statement came from the new Prime Minister following the first meeting of his Cabinet after taking office earlier in the day. A preliminary discussion engaged the balance of forty-minutes initial sitting of the newly appointed Cabinet in political circles, no opposition is expected in any of the fifteen constituencies and in this eventuality writs for the by-elections of the ministers may be returned immediately after nomination day. The council of the administration is to hold the special session at the earliest date legally possible—in the words of the Premier. The impression that Parliament may convene on September 3.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, who was defeated in Vancouver-Burrard, will be a candidate in East Kootenay. H. D. McLean, elected as a Conservative in the constituency, has resigned to make way for Mr. Stevens.

The five constituencies in which a taper of two weeks must intervene between nomination and polling days—in case of a contest—are East Kootenay (Hon. H. H. Stevens); Fort William (Hon. R. J. Manion); Nipissing, Man. (Hon. T. C. Murphy); Selkirk, Manitoba (Hon. W. A. Gordon); and Melfort, Sask. (Major Robert Weir).

SECOND MEETING

In all probability, the new Cabinet will hold its second sitting tomorrow.

Ministers without portfolios receive no extra emolument from the Crown, and consequently Sir George Perley and Hon. John A. Macdonald will not have to seek re-election. Senator Robertson will continue to occupy a seat in the Senate. As soon as arrangements are made for the constituency for which Premier Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, will sit in the Commons, the elected member will resign and writs for a by-election in that riding will be issued to bring about the entry of Mr. Rhodes into the Commons.

FACES WATER FAMINE

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 7.—The prospect of a water famine must be faced at Annapolis, the state capital, in a few days if the present 42-day record drought continues, and there was no sign of a break today, as the mercury started its daily climb. The fight on forest fires in Western Maryland continued with more than 1,000 men at the front.

FRUITGROWERS MEET TO FORM TARIFF PLANS

Action to Be Sought at Coming Special Session of Parliament

OTHER PROPOSALS ARE GIVEN CONSIDERATION

VERNON, B.C., Aug. 7.—Steps to be taken to secure a measure of protection for Canadian fruit and vegetable industries were given consideration at a meeting of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' executive held in this city. There will be concentration on action at the coming special session in September.

Vice-President R. H. MacDonald and other members of the executive expressed the view that a huge crop in the United States, a crop which it at least barred from the British markets, means that there will be such a dump on the Canadian market that the Canadian grower, unprotected by anti-dumping legislation, will receive red ink for practically all shipments. There is a sufficient drop in sight, that if nothing but Canadian apples are sold in Canada this Fall and Winter, the growers will still be forced to market hundreds of cars of apples or permit them to waste in the orchards. Orchardists, said the Vale, was present at a portion of the meeting and offered assistance and advice.

BY-PRODUCTS PLANNED

A report by the committee appointed to investigate the possibility of making use of fruits in the manufacture of by-products such as liqueurs and alcohol continued its extensive report. The experiments carried out at the experimental station at Summerland have been successful, and the Provincial Government is to be approached to appoint a practical wine and liquor manager and chemist to proceed with the investigations to a stage where it will be demonstrated as a commercial possibility. It is said that excellent cremes de menthe, other liqueurs and brandy have been manufactured. Samples are to be sent to the British Columbia Liquor Control Commissioner, the only product purchasable in the province.

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

An effort is to be made to raise $5,000 for experts' paple advertising. One dollar a car, if it can be secured, will provide sufficient funds. Shipping houses are to be approached.

On the suggestion of W. W. Duncan, market commissioner, an effort is to be made to secure a share of the apple business at Alexandria, Egypt. The Argentine is also a possible field and British Columbia apples may be on display at a big fair to be held in Buenos Aires.

Installing New Dial System

THE above installer of the British Columbia Telephone Company has his telephone line open, and is making the necessary connections inside. It is one of thirty crews of installers now at work to put dials on Victoria telephones preparatory to their conversion to the automatic system. The task of putting on the dials is now 80 per cent complete. During Exhibition week demonstrations will be made continuously during the day in the exhibition building. The telephone company will address meetings of the local service clubs, explaining the system, the various schools being visited as well, when the pupils will be instructed in the proper methods of operating the dials.

Will Spend Hundred Million Yearly in Hydro Development

dense of a substantial belief in the continued expansion of Canadian industries.

"The estimates of the future total requirements of the electric power industry is from a recent pondering of the Dominion hydro-electric power and reclamation service of the Department of the Interior, and is based upon conservative estimates of the probable cost of the projects already undertaken.

INCREASED EMPLOYMENT

"Expenditures of this type have a far-reaching influence upon business. The wage payments for such construction serve to create new buying power. An even more important influence will be the expenditure resulting from the building of manufacturing plants to utilize the electric energy which will be generated by these new installations. Beyond these again, is the wares which will be paid to the workers who will be employed in the new plants. It is the far-flung consequence of expenditure such as these that bring on those readjustments that herald the return of prosperity.

"Although there are other plans for important building projects, none will have a more intimate bearing upon the industrial development of Canada than those now contemplated by the power industry.

THREE MILLION H.P.

"The present turbine installation averages 83 horsepower per 1,000 of population, a figure which places Canada among the leading countries of the world in per capita utilization of water power. The total installation now amounts to over 3,700,000 horsepower and an additional installation of 1,000,000 horsepower will probably be made within the next five years.

"Quebec has the largest installation with an average of nearly one horsepower per person. This province has led in new equipment brought into operation during each of the past six years. The increase in 1928 amounted to over 300,000 horsepower and brought the total installation to 2,800,000 horsepower, approximately 46 per cent of the total for all Canada.

"Ontario has a total installation of nearly two million horsepower, and in 1928 the power companies in that province generated over six billion kilowatt hours, or more than one-third of the total produced in the Dominion.

"Development in the Prairie Provinces has been slower, but Manitoba has an installation of over 300,000 horsepower, and Alberta, 300,000 horsepower. On the Pacific Coast, large resources are available and turbines with 560,000 horsepower have been installed in British Columbia.

"Until recent years there was comparatively little utilization of hydro-electric resources in the Maritime Provinces, but rapid progress is now being made in both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The turbine installation in the latter province increased by more than one-half in 1929.

"Although more than six hundred central electric station power plants were operated in Canada in 1929, twenty-one organizations and their subsidiaries, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, produced over 82 per cent of the total energy generated. Of this total output of eighteen billion kilowatt hours, this report shows that more than 70 per cent, or over thirteen billion kilowatt hours, were produced by the systems of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Shawinigan Water & Power Company, Duke-Price Power Company, Gatineau Power Company and Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company.

LARGE RESOURCES

"Continuing the report we find: "There are still large reserves of undeveloped resources in many parts of Canada. This is particularly true of the northern sections of Quebec, Ontario, and the western provinces. The water-shed of Hudson Bay contains many sites, which, while now still too distant from existing centres of population, may eventually provide large and important supplies of hydro-electric power. Resources of Northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, are practically untouched. An initial development has been completed on the Churchill River in Northern Saskatchewan and over 200,000 h.p. has been developed in Ontario, north of the height of land. Similarly British Columbia has large resources awaiting development.

PROJECTED DEVELOPMENTS

"Although many of the sites for future plants are situated in districts remote from a ready market, there are, nevertheless important resources awaiting development within reasonable transmission distance of existing centres of population," says the bank report. "A large portion of this immediate reserve is in the province of Quebec, the St. Lawrence River being capable of a further development of more than 1,000,000 horse power. Part of this will shortly be harnessed by the Beauharnois installation, the most important single development at present under way. This undertaking will utilize the descent of some eighty feet between the lake of St. Francis and St. Louis. Construction has commenced on the first unit of the project, supplying some 200,000 h.p., to be in operation in October, 1932. Other units will be added, developing from 150,000 to 185,000 h.p. per annum as required. This project includes a power and ship canal approximately fifteen miles in length, 3,000 feet wide and 19 to 27 feet deep.

"The Shawinigan Water and Power Company is developing an additional 200,000 h.p. in the St. Maurice District, and the Alcoa Power Company, an aluminum interest, 130,000 h.p. at Chute-a-Caron on the Saguenay river. It is expected that the latter will be ready for use early in 1931, and following soon thereafter, another 120,000 h.p. will be developed.

"The outstanding undertaking in Ontario is that of the Canada Bay Power and Paper Company, through its subsidiary the Hudson's Bay Power Company, Limited. It will require approximately 235,000 h.p. to develop the 275,000 h.p. at Abitibi Canyon, one hundred and twenty miles south of Iroquois Falls. The enterprise is being proceeded with immediately and is expected to be completed by 1933. A definite market has already been secured for the power which is to be produced.

SASKATCHEWAN POWER

Owing to the northern location of the water power resources of Saskatchewan away from the populated sections of the province, there has been no past utilization of hydro-electric power in this province. The mining activity in the northeastern part of the province, however, is opening up this section of the country and the first hydro-electric plant in Saskatchewan has just been completed. This development by the Churchill River Power Company, a subsidiary of the Hudson's Bay Mining and Smelting Company, is situated at Island Falls in the Churchill River, and is designed to install units of 14,000 h.p. each, three of which will be initially installed. Power will be supplied to the Flin-Flon and Sherritt-Gordon Mines and to the smelter of the Hudson's Bay Mining and Smelting Company.

"The construction of the plant and transmission lines necessary for the utilization of hydro-electric energy requires a longer time interval than other types of building. Demand must be foreseen and anticipated. During the period of construction and development, large amounts of capital must be raised and expended and in some cases it is years before the undertaking is finally completed and in a position to earn revenue on the invested capital. In these circumstances it is essential to the welfare of the industry that a balance be maintained between demand and supply. Over-rapid development of power sites weakens the position of the whole industry; under development would hold back the natural expansion of Canadian manufacturing. The most recent official report on power contains the statement that the extensive developments now in progress will have an assured market. The normal rate of expansion of established industries together with the requirements of the new industries which are being attracted to the various provinces and the spread of the domestic and farm use of electric appliances, should absorb this power as it comes on the market."

FINANCING OF AIRSHIP FLEET IS TOLD

ristaion suggested that if the two British governments guaranteed a loss of mail to the airship service a week, at the rate of $1,000 a ton for transportation, there would be necessary a surcharge of one ten-cent a letter, and the letter would traverse the ocean in forty-eight hours instead of the eight days it now usually takes now.

The speaker thought it would not be hard to obtain this degree of patronage when Canadian and American travelers were both taken into consideration. The fare might be $2,000 a passage at first, but could soon be brought down to $1,000. This amount, remarked Sir Dennistoun, would not compare unfavorably with the price of an expensive Pullman car, when the comfort and greater speed would be greater advantages for airship travel.

As to mails, there were thirty-two tons of letters crossing the ocean between Britain and Canada weekly. It would only be necessary to obtain 20 per cent of this business to make the airship pay.

TO LEAVE SUNDAY

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Aug. 7.—Given favorable weather, the British dirigible R-100 will leave here on Sunday afternoon for her combined flight over Ottawa and Toronto. This announcement was officially made shortly after noon today by Wing Commander B. B. Colmore, director of airship development.

The statement reads

"Weather conditions permitting, R-100 will leave St. Hubert late in the afternoon of Sunday, August 10, for Ottawa and Toronto. It is expected the ship will reach Ottawa before dark. From there the course will be followed to Toronto, thence back to St. Hubert.

"It is anticipated that the ship will be back at St. Hubert on Monday night. After refueling and placing R-100 will return to England as soon as weather conditions are favorable."

BAKERS ARE PUZZLED HOUSEWIVES SMILING

Bread Sold at Four for a Quarter by One Baker— Consumer Profits

While Victoria bakers spend sleepless night worrying over the situation which has developed in the bread business, the contented housewife can sit back and smile as the prices continue to tumble to new low levels.

Last week the bakers announced a reduction in the retail price of bread from ten to eight cents a loaf, and said it was due to the lower prices of wheat and the corresponding lower rates paid for flour. A number of bakers announced further cuts until today it is possible to buy bread "over the counter" at four loaves for twenty-five cents or seven cents for a single sixteen-ounce loaf.

"There is no price war on among the bakers of Victoria. We have been able to buy our flour at better prices and have given the consumer the benefit of this situation," stated James Ismell, head of Ismell's bakeries, when it was suggested to him that price cutting might easily be the outcome of the present situation. Mr. Ismell was emphatic in his denial.

Asked concerning the future in the bread business and how long the present scale of prices might be expected to continue, Mr. Ismell could not give any indication of what the future holds. "It is well known that wheat is cheaper than it has been for several years and there is an abundance of it. We could, up to yesterday, buy flour at $6.60 a barrel of 183 pounds. Yesterday it went up twenty cents a barrel, so you see it is pretty hard to make any forecast for the future in our business," Mr. Ismell stated today.

Actual figures for the shrinkage in British Columbia coal tonnage and for the alarming tide of unemployment from this source were shown to the conference in a series of graphs which traced the experience of the industry as reported by each operating field, from the year 1920 to date. These charts showed a consumption of 5.1 tons per capita of population in 1920 against 3.7 tons per capita in 1929, with a further drop in the completed figures for this year. Behind the charts lay the problem of over 2,000 persons, directly and indirectly, whose income of livelihood had been withdrawn.

INDUSTRY REVIEWED

"The coal industry of British Columbia is in need of stimulation. For many years this basic industry has been struggling hard to successfully overcome the competition it is required to meet in its natural markets. The first market setback was the loss of a substantial market in the Western states. Almost concurrently with this blow came the 1925-6 bituminous industry in the Western and Central United States and liquid fuel has been driving back British Columbia coal deep by step until now the coal industry may be described, without overdoing the picture, to be standing with its back to the wall in a fight for existence," said Hon. W. A. McKenzie, in opening the conference.

"Changing economic conditions have led to the present situation. They are at the root of the troubles in which the British Columbia collieries find themselves today. No one in particular is to blame. The Provincial Government's concern—and this should be clearly understood—is not directed in this case towards any fault-finding as to whether this or that privately-owned and conducted business is or is not a success from the point of view of the public interest. In British Columbia, we naturally like to see all British Columbia business well managed and pay a reasonable rate of return on the investment. Its very active interest in the premier instance is engaged because any set of economic factors, controllable or uncontrollable, which increases or seriously cripple, or even extinguish, such an industry as the coal industry should be subjected to the closest consideration of the administration with a view to determining what, if anything, can be done to assist.

PART OF ECONOMIC FABRIC

"The coal industry is no ordinary industry. Its product, and hundreds of important by-products, are the vital parts of the commercial fabric of any country which aspires to gain and to hold a leading place among the trading nations of the world. It would be a tragedy if coal mining were to cease to this province. It would be indefensible if those in authority were to stand supinely aside and witness the tragedy enacted without raising that hand to prevent it.

"This is the broad view, but there is another side to the picture. It is the actual and immediate situation affecting all the collieries of the province, more or less, and some more, perhaps, than others. This condition looks as much like a real provincial emergency, coupled as it is with the menace of unemployment in other industry this Winter, that this conference has been called in order that all phases of the question may be discussed in the fullest manner, with all cards on the table, in the hope that general cooperation will be enlisted to the end that relief, not a year from now, but at once, may be extended to a business which is badly in need of it.

"It is important, however, that there should be a proper grasp of the situation, in order that all those present may appreciate the importance of action.

PRODUCTION DROPPED

"The annual report of the Minister of Mines gives the coal production for 1929 as 2,351,383 long tons, a decrease as compared with 1928 of 270,404 tons, or a loss, valuing coal at $8 a ton, of $1,377,... 200. But it means more than a cash loss to the province; it means about 540 less men employed per year, as the output per man per annum averages 500 tons. This, both in figuring one worker as the supporter of two others, means the withdrawal of the support of some 1,737 people. That is the area of last year's experience in the coal trade. There is no need to dwell on the dismal of this year as far as it has gone. Those responsible have referred to only in general terms since the conference, but complete Monthly statistics, however, indicate that output continues to be less, less men by hundreds are employed than is usual at this season at the collieries of the Crow's Nest Pass and of Vancouver Island, and that the smaller mines of the Nicola-Princeton district are finding their conditions hard. Representatives of the collieries are here and no doubt will speak for themselves.

"If it were nothing more serious than a depression, upon which a ready recovery might be expected as soon as world conditions right themselves, there would be less reason for concern. The serious feature, the obstacle that the decline in the coal trade has been accentuated gradually for years. Further, it appears that the coal mines in this province are not alone in their difficulty. The collieries of the State of Washington are in the same position and are following in the footsteps of British Columbia in their efforts to find relief or a solution. The trouble is not peculiar to one area, it is due to changing conditions, and has, as it comes from the ground, with nothing more done to it than mining and cleaning, been displanted in the markets by other fuels, other forms of transportation, mediums of heat generation, notably fuel oil.

HON. W. A. McKENZIE
Minister of Mines

ISLAND SUFFERED MOST

"Nothing can illustrate British Columbia's position in a better or fairer manner than a study of the records of the past nine years, beginning with the year after the close of the Great War.

"The gross production of coal: 1920, 2,696,774 long tons; 1929, 2,351,383 long tons.

Gross production by districts:

	1920	1929
Vancouver Island, long tons	1,898,254
Nicola-Princeton, long tons	149,731
Crow's Nest, long tons	847,389	1,202,383
Vancouver Island, long tons	1,130,805	949,755
Nicola-Princeton, long tons	249,236	199,245
Crow's Nest, long tons	848,733	1,202,383

"Thus in this period there has been an aggregate loss of 448,391 tons and a decrease in the production of the Vancouver Island industry of 571,499 tons. Slight gains in the Crow's Nest Pass field and to the Nicola-Princeton section will be noted. Then the sharp ray of sunshine into an otherwise dark outlook where it not for the fact that the Crow's Nest collieries, after experiencing extremely poor demand for a few years, climbed in 1927 and 1928 up to a production in excess of 1,200,000 tons and to 1929, the year quoted, being 48 again. And in recent months the reports show that output has had to be slowed down, principally because the requirements of the Great Northern Railway are being curtailed owing to the conversion of its locomotives from coal to oil-burners. As to the Nicola-Princeton district the coal resources of that section warrant much greater development than has begun within the past. It is true that there are two mines working more or less regularly, as compared with half a dozen in 1920, but they, too, are feeling the pinch, and the major operations here would find the load heavier than could be borne were it not for the coal used in railway operation and mining enterprises.

EMPLOYEES LET OUT

"Comparative figures as to the number employed in coal mining are interesting:

	1920	1929
Vancouver Island	4,391	2,747
Nicola-Princeton	573	373
Crow's Nest	1,842	1,842
Totals	6,346	5,030

"These records are startling, a glance showing that the serious decline is in the parents of the Vancouver Island collieries. This is the result, chiefly, of falling off in production due to a market apparently steadily becoming weaker and more restricted. There are contributing causes such as the competition of the Canadian Collieries (D.) Limited, and the Western Fuel Company of Canada, and the consequent reduction of operations and the gradual working out of the reserves of the Extension Mine. But, if there was a safe market, the loss would be produced. The 10,000,000 tons produced in British Columbia up to the end of 1929 scarcely has made an impression on the reserves of the provincial coal reserves. The problem which coal operators, and others interested, must solve is, not finding the coal, but finding and establishing stable markets. That is beyond all others the question which operators are facing at this time and which is the fundamental attending, which are resulting in the decline of output, the partial or entire closing of mines, the throwing out of employment men who know no other business than that of mining, and who, with their families, are the backbone of several prosperous towns in Vancouver Island, British Columbia cities and towns, which, failing relief, are threatened with extinction.

REDUCED PER CAPITA

"Another illustration of the gradual decline in the coal trade because consumers have been turning to burning oil instead of other forms of fuel, is presented by statistics as to the per capita output in 1920 and in 1929. In the first named year the collieries were producing at the rate of 5.1 tons per head of population, and last year this had dropped to 3.7 tons per capita. If consumption had continued in 1929 at the 1920 rate there would have been produced 300,331 tons more than the 2,646,235 tons. So that, if the industry had done nothing better than hold its own in the past nine years, the 1929 production would have been 348,631 tons better than it was, or a difference in monetary value of $4,074,... 26.

"In terms of employment this would mean work for 1,046 men who, when, if it is admitted that one worker will do the average support three, inclusive of himself, provides for the maintenance of the population of 6,138. It is a fair statement, therefore, that the retrogression of the coal trade in the past nine years has lost British Columbia the equivalent of one fair-sized prosperous town, for there is no favorably situated community, even if wholly dependent on one industry, which does not attract to itself its miscellaneous population of merchants, truck and dairy farmers, settlers, etc.

GENERAL CONDITION

"What, then, is wrong, and how can the condition be righted? As has been stated, and as the coal operators will tell you, British Columbia is no different than are other coal producing parts of the American Continent. We, however, are concerned with our own situation. The fact that we are suffering as others are suffering should not prevent us trying to effect a cure, or to meet, to modify the effects of the altering economic conditions responsible. In this province we are able to point to the principal cause of the coal industry's trouble. Fuel oil, not local, but imported from other lands, is eating into the market of the British Columbia Vancouver Island coal, since the Standard Fuel in California has been practically thrown out of the Pacific and other United States markets. The Crow's Nest has been waging a bitter fight against similar results, as witness the fluctuations in the yearly output of its mines. The Nicola-Princeton field, with resources capable of a permanently productiveness many times that of the present, has been making slow but uncertain headway.

INTERESTS STRANGLED

"Now the Island and Nicola-Princeton fields are confronted with relentless competition among themselves, and competition from them, namely, the railroads, industrial and the general public of the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island. They are being strangled by a flood of liquid fuel, produced from the centre of the burning in the province, free of duty in its crude state, to be refined and sold thus displacing thousands of tons of coal. From statistics available to the department, it is shown that in 1929 there were imported 62,214,000 gallons of fuel oil, on which the one-half-cent a gallon duty was paid, and 42,600,000 gallons of crude oil. The figures are in striking contrast to those of 1919, viz., 3,... 979 gallons of fuel oil paying the duty and approximately 1,000,000 gallons of crude oil, from which to manufacture refined articles. An increase in business so startling in its story. Had the coal trade's companion could only have been at the same pace, the trade would have grown, and 42,600,000 gallons of crude oil. On that basis, with the proportions of last year displaced 1,500,... 000 tons of coal, Vancouver Island, into terms of employment, means work for 2,500 men.

ALBERTA COMPETITION

"And there is yet another, although a minor, source of irritation to the Island coal operators of this province. It is the increasing volume of importations from the fields of the Province of Alberta. In fourteen years the consumption to which local coals are subjected from this quarter has grown from 54,860 to 247,000 tons. Again we have the loss of employment, the amount of Alberta coal used would employ 526 men at home, with payrolls increased and local purchasing power augmented to that extent, and the general local prosperity augmented in that degree.

"These are matters, it is submitted, of the gravest concern. The facts should be known, not only to the Government, collieries, to municipal administrations, to industrial and other organizations responsible for the expenditure of public funds, to consumers, as takers, royally on their product, meet the demand, to consumers, that the product must be transported to the Island, Mainland, and in the maintenance of railroad and steamship companies, and finally, if the trust pass through the hands of dealers in fuel, to consumers who look to the sale and delivery to the consumer, that the coal is the product of Patronize Home Industry' had a direction to the people. It has to this case. Millions of hard dollars are expended by various chambers by these British Columbia collieries, which are entitled to the reasonably fair treatment. Perhaps the coal operators here will be able to give you more detailed information touching the industry's problem.

AT REASONABLE COST

"But there is a factor which the coal operators cannot control. It is the establishment and the holding of a fair and reasonable price in the quality of the coal sold and the cost of production. The marketing of a high standard of British Columbia coal, and of the best that can be demonstrated as a reasonable price, is essential if the province is to succeed in rehabilitating the industry. No amount of assistance will avail without public confidence. It is no good to attempt to force a too great an undertaking on this province, and anything that the collieries might say in this regard of a reasonable assistance would be of assistance.

"The department has had knowledge of this condition and has been delivered to give the coal operators a fair consideration. It has been learned that coal users contemplated installing oil burning equipment, whether to industry, in public institutions, apartment blocks, or elsewhere, representations have been made on behalf of coal. It has been pointed out that marked progress has been made in the economical and efficient burning of coal, that by adequate methods now procurable it is debatable whether oil is as convenient to use, or as satisfactory in the results obtained as is coal. The services of members of the technical staff of the department have been referred to, and those who would agree to investigate before turning to oil. The campaign has had effect. The Juvenile Institution, Victoria, the building of the Children's Aid Society, and the new home of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, of Vancouver, all are expected to use coal. Representations to the Canadian National Railways, it is hoped, will induce its officials to take a decision favorable to coal to the new C.N.R. Hotel in Vancouver.

GOVERNMENT ASSISTING

"As the Government is desirous of assisting in every way it has the authority, goes, as well as through other channels, that the new Mental Home at New Westminster has been equipped with two modern coal-burning units, one using pulverized coal and the other the automatic chain stoker. Accurate records of the results being obtained are being kept, in order that those interested may acquaint themselves at first hand of the economy and high efficiency that can be obtained from coal. When properly handled according to the best modern practice. The Tranquille Sanatorium, the heating plant of which shortly must be overhauled, will burn coal. As a further mark of his Government's determined stand, Hon. R. H. Pooley, Minister of Public Works, has authorized the statement that, in dealing with applications for financial assistance from public, or semi-public institutions, the policy of the Government will be to give preference to those sections of the province in which coal for heat or power purposes will be taken into consideration.

PREVIOUS CONFERENCE

"Officials of the Federal Mines Department, the provincial department and coal operators met last October in this room to discuss some of the questions that are before you today. It is unnecessary to trouble you with details of the proceedings, but the net result was that ten carload samples taken from the various coal fields of the province have been shipped to the new laboratory at Ottawa for testing. For general information it may be said that on the urgent needs, not only of the coal industry, but of the Dominion generally, whether it be for the making of gas, coke, by-products, the generation of heat in domestic furnaces or power plants, is of greater importance than ever before. The Government's concern in the matter is shown by its action on subjection to heat tests of a different character. Therefore, a knowledge of the physical behavior of coal on heating is essential for selecting a coal for different types of equipment. This is especially true with respect to the use of coal for pulverized coal consumption. This method of burning coal is particularly advantageous because of its high efficiency and flexibility of control. It is one of the most promising methods that the coal operator has of meeting competition from fuel oil. This will explain the nature of the information expected from the tests undertaken by the department in co-operation with the Dominion Mines Department, the coal operators and the railway companies, whose assistance in transporting the samples to the laboratory cheaply free of charge is gratefully acknowledged. In the circumstances the following telegram received from Mr. McKenzie, Minister of mines, branch, Ottawa, will be of interest. It is dated August 5 and reads:

"Regret unable have representative present your conference on August 7 to discuss coal problems. Expect to be able to furnish final report on samples submitted for tests in October. Every effort has been experienced in burning in the pulverized state, and by the time samples tested. Statement of progress made on investigations being mailed today, accompanied by some records of analysis.

OBJECTS OF MEETING

"What is the object of this conference and what do we hope to accomplish through it?

"First, it is the desire that the coal operators should have the opportunity to encourage you in appreciating the present situation, with, perhaps, a clearer outlook before you and that through them, and the department, the general public should obtain a clearer idea of the really serious conditions and of the consequent need of co-operation, in order that a purely local industry engaged in the exploitation of one of the basic industries of the country, employing thousands, and on which so much depends, should be conserved.

RAILWAY HELP

"Second, it is the hope that the discussions will have the effect of convincing the representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and of the Canadian National Railway Company, who are in attendance, that it is good business to use coal rather than imported fuel in this province. It is quite admitted that economic considerations must be duly weighed, but when measuring costs involved in obtaining a set standard of efficiency, surely, it is found that the expenditure by the local operator per dollar spent almost, if not quite, balances the obtained cost of imported product, it is a fair proposition that preference should be given to the former. It is not only the direct cost and the direct return that must be weighed, but the indirect return which comes to the transportation company through the maintenance of the industry which is contributing to the prosperity of the province and country. In this connection we are fortunate in having with us Clive Lennox, chief fire inspector of the Railway Commission, and Hon. Duncan Ross, of the Department of Railways, Ottawa, and it is to be hoped, will be able to show that much progress has been made to the perfecting of fire arresters for use on coal-burning locomotives that no longer is fire hazard, and that the locomotive will not on locomotives to preference to coal.

"In this connection it is thought possible that the coal operator and the railway companies might consider whether it would be practicable and desirable to provide for the fire arrester and automatic stoker equipment which has been set up on Northern Pacific Railway with results said to be entirely satisfactory.

SUGGEST TRADE COMMITTEE

"Third, it is thought that it would be a move in the right direction if those present would express an opinion on the value of the appointment of a representative committee to carry on the work of extending the market for British Columbia coal. The department would be glad to co-operate with such a committee. To it might be referred many matters which are being or will be submitted designed for the betterment of domestic and industrial fuels produced in the province. Other suggestions to the same end, and general business, constantly is coming which could be well handled by such a body. On such a committee members of the technical staff of the department might serve.

"Fourth, if the representatives of the public service organizations are convinced, as a result of the data submitted, that their support to the coal industry in successfully overcoming their present handicaps is justified, a formal undertaking on their part to use their influence, personal and through the organizations they represent, to promote the use of coal would be welcomed," concluded the statement of the minister.

Delegates to the parley included prominent men in business circles from all over the province, with a full attendance from the city producing areas, as follows: Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines; Robert J. Dunn, Jr., Deputy Minister; J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist; J. Dickson, chief inspector of mines; H. H. Emmas, A. Sturrock and Capt. C. D. Newcombe, Canadian Pacific Railway; W. W. B. Mitchell, Nanaimo Board of Trade; C. P. Davis, M.P.P.; George Pearson, M.P.P.; F. B. Chadwick, Tulsqua Collieries; A. W. Neill, M.P.; Thomas Graham, Montreal, secretary-treasurer of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy; Thomas Uphill, M.P.P.; W. A. Dunn, George McGregor, Victoria Chamber of Commerce; Brian Lucas, C. L. Harrison, Cumberland Board of Trade; C. J. Cullin, Ladysmith Board of Trade; F. L. Anderton, Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island; Colonel D. B. Marlyn, industrial commissioner; H. F. Pike, N. W. Wilson, president Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, with Mr. Saunders; J. Parfitt, W. A. Lyons, Canadian Manufacturers' Association; H. Dalton, of Vancouver, Canadian Manufacturers' Association; Captain E. L. Cousins, Board of Trade; Hon. Tracy; P. S. Dickson-Smelie; L. A. Hanne, M.P.P.; P. Boyd; H. Merritt; G. Murray, Coalmont Collieries; Charles Graham, Nicola Valley Coal; H. Pearson, Middlesboro Colliery, Lieut.-Col. C. W. Villiers, President P. Perry, of the Canadian Collieries, Limited; George Wilson, M.P.P.; Mr. Barking, of Granby Consolidated, Limited; Col. T. A. Flam, Canadian National Railways; W. Ray, Provincial Department of Railways; Clyde Leavitt, chief fire inspector Board of Railway Commissioners, with Duncan Grey, of Edmonton, and Frank Yerxsen, of Kamloops; W. J. Sturgess, Western sales manager of Canadian National Railways; F. J. Cavenhill, chief forester of British Columbia; Lorn Campbell, Associated Boards of Trade of Kootenay; Mr. Richardson; J. H. Cameron, superintendent Reginald; A. Stephen Bailway, and Charles A. Collier, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Good-bye, my dear," said her raising from the breakfast table, "and if I'm prevented from coming home this evening I will send you a wire."

"You needn't bother, darling," replied she sweetly. "I've already taken it out of your letter-case."

Sun and Wind Bring Out Rusty-Brown Spots. How to Remove Easily

Even the woman with a tender skin may be no longer dread the sun and winds. Though they cover her face with tiny brown spots the can safely rade them out in the privacy of her home with a lotion.

After a few nights' use of this dainty lotion, prepared for ridding freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It's seldom that more than a jar of Othine is needed to clear the skin of the homely, rusty-brown spots.

Be sure to ask at any drug or department store for Othine double strength. It's always sold with guarantee of money back if it does not fade out even the worst freckles and give you a lovely, milk-white complexion. (Adv.)

THE NEW GOVERNMENT

After its notable victory of July 28 the new Conservative Government assumed office yesterday under the leadership of Mr. R. B. Bennett. It has a mandate of a most substantial and definite character from the country and that mandate comes from every province in the Dominion. Much is expected from the Conservative regime. Most of all the hope is that it will devise policies that will conserve our resources for the use and prosperity of our own people, while at the same time following ways and means which will increase our trade with our own kith and kin beyond the seas.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, the new Prime Minister, has for a long time been prominent in the political affairs of the country. He is essentially the type wanted for leadership since he possesses unbounded mental and physical vigor. His reputation was greatly enhanced during the course of the late political campaign. He unfolded a constructive programme, he enunciated it in clear-cut, incisive logic and with conviction; he made an instant appeal to the sympathies of the people, and he showed that he has greatly enlarged his understanding and made himself a master of the problems which confront the country during the last quarter of a century in his political life.

Mr. Bennett comes of United Empire Loyalist stock, which is, in itself, a recommendation to leadership. He is not new to Cabinet position since he held the post of Minister of Justice and Attorney-General in the Meighen Administration of 1921. His wide political experience, his intellectual vigor and the manner in which he has studied the country's problems and informed himself on the extent and possibilities of its resources fit him admirably for the task he has now undertaken. He has inspired his followers with the enthusiasm which characterizes himself. His personality has broken down the barrier in Quebec which Liberalism had for so long placed as a bandicap to the Conservative winning of office. He has performed, too, the task of converting in some measure the Prairie Provinces to a belief in protective policies. He has, indeed, consolidated Conservative sentiment throughout the Dominion. It is doubtful if the party has ever been as strong or so unified since the days of Sir John A. Macdonald.

Mr. Bennett has chosen for his Cabinet many old-time stalwarts of the party, a number of whom have had previous administrative experience. Among those are Messrs. Hugh Guthrie, R. J. Manion, H. H. Stevens, E. B. Ryckman, D. M. Sutherland, Senator Robertson and Sir George Perley. For the time being the Prime Minister is taking the portfolio of Finance himself, a wise provision since he is so admirably informed on the fiscal policies which are so necessary to meet the present national emergencies. The Cabinet announced yesterday is in a measure incomplete. It will be subject to changes, some of which will no doubt be delayed until Mr. Bennett returns from the Imperial Economic Conference.

The first business of the new Government will be to make arrangements for the special session of Parliament to be summoned early next month. It is necessary to prepare legislation and the purpose is that such will be passed within a fortnight so as to enable the Dominion's representation to leave for the Imperial Conference. The legislation of course will embrace the necessary public works to relieve unemployment, some changes in tariff schedules designed to foster industrial development and the voting of necessary appropriations to meet conditions of an adverse character which may be expected to develop during the coming Winter.

The most important of Mr. Bennett's pre-election pledges was in relation to a special session of Parliament. That he is implementing it with the least possible delay is an earnest of his intention to fulfil to the letter all that he promised on behalf of his party during the election campaign. Mr. Bennett, in all his relations in life, has shown himself a man of his word. While him political promises are made to be kept. He is the unusual politician in this respect, and because of it he bids fair to win a wide measure of respect and support from the country.

THE LIBERAL LEADER

Mr. Mackenzie King, who relinquished the office of Prime Minister yesterday, after upwards of eight and a half years in power, has won for himself a place of importance in the political annals of the country. He has an asset, a valuable one where political power is concerned, namely, an invincible belief in himself. Mr. King assumed office in 1922 with the belief widely entertained by his followers that he had inherited the mantle of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. That was a handicap to begin with since too much was expected from his regime. He was not able to live up to expectations; perhaps he could have if he had always had a solid and united following in the House of Commons. He had, often enough, however, to rely on the support of those who had hybed ideas respecting the country's development. His leadership frequently followed the lines of compromise. Then, too, he does not possess in large measure one of the gracious present diplomacy, magnetism and statesmanlike qualities which kept the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier in power for fifteen years.

In the record of our political history it is not clear that there is any particular achievement of an outstanding character that has made its mark on the country's destiny under the latest of Liberal premiers at Ottawa. If there is one which the Liberals may arrogate it is the emphasis which Mr. Mackenzie King always laid on Dominion status. He preferred a claim at this for Imperial Conference on behalf of Canada for an Imperium in Imperio, and he won his claim without struggle. The status he wanted for the Dominion was given for the asking. No obstacles were placed in the way. The laurels he won in this respect were not garnered either on the field of controversy or of diplomacy. So much indeed was the status in question taken for granted that it is doubtful if it will be remembered as even an incident in the annals of Imperial Conferences.

Mr. King has much to be thankful for in the strength of some of the Cabinet Ministers he was able to call to his counsels. For some years he had the rich experience and ripe wisdom of Mr. W. S. Fielding. He had the sound balance and great personal popularity of Sir Lomer Gouin. His Cabinet was strengthened for a time by the presence of such as Mr. J. A. Robb, and there were other Ministers who, in their different spheres, assisted substantially in maintaining the prestige of government in the country. In such personalities the administration of Mr. King was eminently blessed, and in his position of leadership he gained through their reflected light. To his credit it may be said that during his years in office he was master of his administration. He had a difficult task. He accomplished it well in a strictly party sense.

Mr. Mackenzie King, although voted out of power, must still be reckoned as a personality of worth in the country's politics. He is in the plenitude of his intellectual strength, confident of himself and his purpose, and a politician of considerable fighting ability. He has a substantial following in the country. He has been defeated because he failed to visualize the policies which the people believe are necessary to meet present emergencies. He made mistakes in the election campaign which cost him dearly, but he has taken his defeat like a sportsman. The hope will be expressed generally that he will follow up this display of sportsmanship by not offering any captious criticism during the emergency session of Parliament which is to be held next month to devise measures for unemployment relief. Since he stipulated that one of the issues of the late campaign was who would represent the country at the Imperial Economic Conference it is unthinkable that he will put any obstacles in the way of Mr. R. B. Bennett, the new Prime Minister, making the trip to London.

TWO NEW EMBASSIES

The decision to raise the British Legation in Santiago and the Chilean Legation in Ottawa to the rank of Embassies is an appropriate recognition of the increased and increasing importance of both Governments, both politically and economically the great Latin States and the American continents are acquiring a stature which entitles their representatives to ambassorial privileges in the principal cities of the world. With Chile, British associations have been long and intimate. Chile, it is indeed, known to exist in that Republic a specially warm feeling for Great Britain, and the sentiment is entirely reciprocated. The long seaboard on the west coast of South America could bear eloquent testimony to the close naval connection that has long existed between the two countries and happily continues; and in Chile, as in Argentina and Brazil, British commercial enterprise has been of fair and profitable field.

The Embassy which is now proposed to create follows upon a similar enhancement of diplomatic status in Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. These together indicate clearly and interesting illustration of how once more, after a great European war, a new world of interests is being built up to redress loss and disturbance in the old, whether permanent or temporary. Ambassadors are not, of course, nor over should be privileged commercial travellers. They are nowadays properly accompanied on an ever-increasing scale by a commercial staff. The importance of both political and commercial representation abroad has grown in the West more rapidly and more emphatically than in the Old World. Forty years ago there were British Ambassadors only in seven foreign capitals, and none of these was in America. Every one, indeed, was posted to Europe. Today there are four in North and South America, and a corresponding larger contingent of ministers, trade commissioners and consuls.

Note and Comment

Two souls with but a single thought, Two souls that think as one

We suppose there is hardly a newspaper man, we know there is not a newspaper man of the older generation, who has not heard the story of an editorial writer on one of the most prominent of Canadian newspapers who in an absent-minded moment, or in a moment when his mind was unusually active, wrote a very able article for his paper and submitted it to his editor for approval and publication. The very able article was approved and published. It was read by a brother newspaper man, who, after reading it, said to himself: Methinks I have read something very like that somewhere before. So, impelled by the natural curiosity to which nearly all newspaper men are prone when they have read something they consider quite good and out of the ordinary run of editorial writing in Canada, this inquisitive newspaper man overhauled his memory, and discovered that the editorial which was quite out of the ordinary was identical in tone and phraseology with one once written by a man named Addison years and years ago and published in The Spectator.

Of course a story like that simply could not be suppressed. It became current in the city in which the newspaper containing the editorial was published, reached the ears of the editor who had been humbugged, and the offender was sentenced to banishment from the precincts of the office, with the ominous words ringing in his ears: "Get thee hence; never more be officer of mine."

A curious feature of that extraordinary case is that the writer who was charged with scribbling was a classical scholar, an undoubtedly clever fellow, could reel off copy for the printers by the ream when he was in the mood for creative work, and his more charitable comrades in the newspaper realm often declared that he was a man of genius who had made such a deep and lasting impression upon his mind that he could write it when in a subconscious mental condition and should not have been responsible, consequently, for a temporarily abnormal state of mental activity.

That, of course, is a very old story; and we have recalled it because it is a most amusing story of a literary kind. On Monday evening last The Victoria Times printed the following editorial:

THE BEST TIME TO LIVE

The "Good Old Days," which are so regarded because we have conveniently—though perhaps unconsciously—trained our memories to recall only the good things and forget the bad, were not such as could be are popularly supposed to have been.

You can take the Prime Minister, Oliver Wendell Holmes, dean of the Supreme Court of the United States who, in his ninetieth year, finds the complete life of 1830 quite as good, interesting than that of 1865 when, in measure he was becoming a lad of twenty-three, he left the Union Army to pursue a career in the venerable jurist gives his opinions in the current issue of the Golden Book magazine. He says in part:

"When it is said we are too much governed we may remember that in five, I answer that the chief worth of civilization is that it makes the means of living more complex, that it calls for expert and combined intellectual efforts instead of simple, cross-ordinated ones, in order that the crowd may be fed and clothed and housed and moved from place to place. . . . Because more complex and intense intellectual efforts mean a fuller and richer life. They mean more life . . . Life is an end in itself, and the only question of its being worth living is whether it has enough of it."

Though most people's experience with life is many, many years less than that of Justice Holmes, no doubt many believe as he believes. Our mode of living today, of course, is far greater effort than that of a generation back, but we are compensated with greater life in fuller measure. We enjoy more conveniences, more pleasures and opportunities than our grandfathers ever thought possible. True, life is faster; competition is keener; but compensations are abundant.

Regardless of those who pine for "the good old days," no time in life has never been a better time to live than the present. And, in addition, we look to the future for improvement. Our children will have a greater price for their lives, but the conveniences and opportunities will be commenced with the increase.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaels

IF I SHOULD GREET YOU
If I should greet you after all these years,
Ye gods!
If some returning tide of time should bring
In place of Autumn's prideful stress and tears,
The April raptures of our vanished Spring,
I would not ask you first of honors won,
Of wealth or friends or coveted estate;
This record all the world may look upon
And from it form its worldly estimate.
Instead, my questions would be these: "My friend,
Have you kept the faith and the valiant soul I knew,
Untainted by fears that some sometimes must send?
Long gone the years, friend, have they left you true?"

RE TEXTILES AND THE THE CONFERENCE

Sir,—Under the above heading The Daily Victoria Times on last night's issue has a leading article which should not be allowed to pass without challenge, for it is full of twisted of facts, gross misrepresentation, and that telling of half-truths which is worse than direct lying.

The Times says: "We know, of course, that the tariff of Canada on July 29 voted against the British Preference." This is not true. The people of Canada know that Mr. Bennett stands as much for British Preference as anyone else, but he fights takes the stand that that duty of the Government of Canada is to Canada First. The people did, however, vote against the travesty of British Preference there are no of Britain. Preference was given by Mr. William Lyon Mackenzie King's Government during the last eight and a half years, during which the actual preference was given to the United States instead of Britain.

As regards the textile trade our imports of fibres, textiles and textile products in the years 1928 and 1929 were as follows:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$18,561,742	$19,189,940
United States	48,192,981	48,205,104

Note that under the Liberals' regime the balance of Addition and now our imports from Britain declined by over $4,000,000 while those from the United States increased by over $1,000,000.

As the Liberal press seems inclined to continue its campaign of misrepresentation, it may be as well to put the ground from which it is fed by a plain statement of what are the principal items of our imports of textile products. In cotton and its products our imports were:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$ 6,000,000	$ 6,000,000
United States	8,000,000	8,000,000

Flax, hemp and jute products:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$7,000,000	$6,000,000
United States	1,000,000	1,000,000

Silk and its products:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$ 1,000,000	$ 1,000,000
United States	4,000,000	4,000,000

Wool and its products:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$16,000,000	$17,000,000
United States	3,000,000	3,000,000

Other textile products:

	1928	1929
United Kingdom	$7,000,000	$6,000,000
United States	4,000,000	4,000,000

In most of the above items Britain has maintained her lead over the United States have been gaining ground. But we ask the Times in view of the incontrovertible facts, if it does not, in view of the foregoing statistics of trade and commerce, that the Liberals are not the only British preference the less their talk about it, the better.

In order to show progress made in the textile trade since the Liberals quoted figures for the years 1917 to 1928, but week ended further. Why? Was it because it was in 1928 that any politics, and Canada is now entering upon reversal of her economic position, and under able guidance, as we choose to think, in the matter of British preference, surprise us to find the Labor party in Britain dishing the Conservatives by voting for a duty on imports, following their successful efforts in protecting the wages of the worker. In the time they have proved themselves Protectionists to the hilt.

No one can tell with any degree of certainty what may result from conferences referred to with Mr. Ramsay MacDonald in the proposed visit to Britain's first overseas. Let's hope a real Empire trade will result, binding the Motherland and her Dominions and Colonies in such manner that all will feel they have been immeasurably strengthened and rendered fit to do yeoman service to each other Compared with this part, politics fade into insignificance.

NANAIMO RIDING

Sir,—Please allow me through the medium of The Colonist to express my thanks to all those who gave me their support in the recent election in the Nanaimo Federal Riding.

The very substantial increase of the vote, amounting to some three thousand or more, is a great proof of the splendid work of my many friends throughout the Riding.

TWO DROWN IN POND; WITNESSES HELPLESS

CLIMAX, Sask., Aug. 7.—Irene Acker, 12, and her brother, Dale, 7, drowned in a pond near their home Wednesday afternoon when they ventured into a hole in water over their depth. Neither was able to swim and other members of the family, bathing in the pond at the same time, were helpless, as they could not swim. The two are children of Mr. and Mrs. Turner living four miles from Conway.

ODE TO A NIGHTINGALE

"Perhaps the self-same song that found a path
Through the sad heart of Ruth, when sick for home
She stood in tears, amid the alien corn;
The same that oftimes hath
Charmed magic casements, opening on the foam
Of perilous seas, in fairy lands forlorn."

WILL COMMEMORATE WAR IN PUGET SOUND

Pig Was Only Casualty In Conflict of 1860 Between Britain and United States

ROCHE HARBOR, San Juan Island, Wash., Aug. 7.—The "war with a pig," one of the least-known armed conflicts, will be commemorated here Saturday by a steer festival beginning Saturday.

The "pig war" began in 1860, before the San Juan Islands had been definitely recognized by Great Britain as United States territory.

The pig was killed by a British subject during an argument with an American farmer over the sovereignty of the island, and armed troops of both nations entrenched on opposite ends of the island.

A blockhouse and a few crumbling buildings mark the British camp at the Roche Harbor end of the island, while a monument, grass-grown trenches and a solitary stone fireplace remain to show the site of the American camp a few miles to the south.

The pig was the only casualty in the war and the armed troops got along in rather a friendly fashion until the Emperor of Germany, called as a referee, decided the islands should fly the Stars and Stripes

TO SPEAK AT BANQUET

Dr. E. C. Rolland, president of Washington State College; Dr. Rufus B. Kirkland, president of the University of Southern California; Hon. E. Chandler, Federal Trade Commission, and Congressman Lee Bladley are listed as speakers at the banquet which will open the commemoration.

WILL BUY HOME FOR FREQUENT TOURS TO CITY

General Manager of San Francisco Examiner Is Charmed With Victoria

INTENDS TO SECURE WATERFRONT HOUSE

"I am going back to San Francisco to spread the evangel of Victoria and its environs," said Clarence Lindner, general manager of the San Francisco Examiner, just before leaving here yesterday afternoon after spending several days in and about the city. "Moreover," he added, "I hope to buy a small house somewhere here on the water, to which, from time to time throughout the year, I may steal away and enjoy the wonderful things you have to offer.

"You have everything here that a man could want. I have never seen anything more beautiful than the city of Victoria and its surroundings, and the country that lies contiguous to it. Living in the United States all my life I was not aware of what there was to offer here. I was struck by the orderly manner in which everything is handled, and at the same time the friendliness which characterizes the people."

During his stay in Victoria Mr. Lindner was taken for a number of outings on Vancouver Island, including a trip as far as Qualicum. During these outings he was the guest of George I. Warren, publicity commissioner for Victoria, who was largely responsible for Mr. Lindner coming here. The latter, in a humorous way described how Mr. Warren induced him to come.

"One man named Warren came to San Francisco and suggested that I come up to Victoria," said Mr. Lindner. "His claims for this place and its surroundings were such that I felt they must be exaggerated. However, I fell for his talk and decided to visit your city. 'Mr Warren did not exaggerate in the least, I find. I have never seen anything more beautiful than Victoria and its surroundings."

Mr. Lindner was struck by the wonderful timber of the Island. He expressed a hope that something was being done in the matter of reforestation, and was pleased to know that the forest branch of the province was actively engaged in this line and was carrying out now a plan whereby natural reforestation would be accomplished wherever possible, and that this would be supplemented by planting, where such a course was absolutely necessary.

The visitor said that he felt the time was coming when all the world would come to British Columbia for wood. The wonderful resources which were possessed at this line in the province made the asset a most valuable one which should not be allowed to become depleted. There was, according to his view, a marvellous value in the future attaching to this timber wealth in the province.

Bible Vacation School Will Close Next Week

With an enrolment of over ninety scolars, which is larger than that of last Summer, the Bible vacation school at Fairfield Church has had a busy week, with Bible story, memorization, handicraft and games. Rev. Hugh Nixon, the director, has been assisted by Miss Norma Jones and Miss Eva Paiden in the primary department, and Miss Eva Young, Miss Isabel Barton, Miss Audrey Bear and Miss Charlotte Crawford in the junior. A picnic will be held this afternoon at Beacon Hill Park, and the closing session will take place next Friday at 3 o'clock.

Il Duce Starts Public Works Ball Rolling to Relieve Unemployment

Italian Premier Again Restores Famous Methods of Direct Action

BY WILLIAM N. STORMAN
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

ROME, Aug. 7.—Premier Mussolini has once more restored his famous methods of direct action in order to solve the Italian unemployment problem.

While newspapers continue to stress the fact that unemployment here is almost negligible in comparison with that in France and other countries, and official figures show that only a third of a million were workless during June, the Government is now formulating one of the greatest public works schemes in its history for relief of the situation.

IMPORTANT PROJECTS

Several important projects have already been made public and within a few days Il Duce will discuss further plans with the Mayors of Turin, Milan, Genoa and Florence.

After a conference between Il Duce and the Governor of Rome, it has been learned that there $4,500,000 will be spent on roads, hydraulic plants and buildings in the Rome district this Winter, furnishing employment for 500,000 men. Already 2,000 men are working on public projects entailing an expenditure of $1,600,000 in the city and its environs.

Only a few days ago Il Duce announced another gigantic project embracing the entire peninsula which, he hopes, will keep the country busy.

NEW BUILDINGS

This provides for the construction in the near future of postoffices valued at $2,750,000, homes for telegraphers costing $2,000,000, homes for railwaymen involving $3,750,000, railway improvements sufficient to employ 18,000 workers, works for the Ministry of Finance costing $3,000,000, and hospitals and sanitariums with a total capacity of 17,000 beds.

Five thousand persons are now employed in the reconstruction of buildings destroyed by the recent earthquake, and still another public works plan is expected to be published Saturday.

DICTATORSHIP WINS SKIRMISH

Latest Attack Against One-Man Rule in Germany Meets Defeat

STAND OF SOCIALISTS

BY OTTO BROM
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

BERLIN, Germany, Aug. 7.—The latest attack against Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's provisional dictatorship has been defeated with the declaration by the standing committee of the Reichstag that it is incompetent to deal with the emergency measures passed under Article 48 of the constitution.

The bourgeois parties agreed with the Government as to the constitutionality of the emergency ordinances, whereas the Socialists and Communists declared them to be unconstitutional.

FRIENDS AND ENEMIES

The dictatorial Government, under Article 48, has made ardent friends and enemies. Such men as Dr. Hans Luther, Reichstamk president and former Chancellor, have a strong liking for the dictatorship. Dr. Luther had some practice in governing over the head of Parliament, as he was Finance Minister in 1924, when the budget was legislated, and as he thought himself the very man to carry through the plans at this time. By the direction of a Cabinet member, it passed out that Dr. Luther had proposed himself to President Hindenburg to replace Herr Bruening as dictator. But Hindenburg refused.

Obviously the position of the Reichstamk president offers a great temptation to interfere in politics. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of that bank could not and Dr. Luther seems to be following suit.

On the other hand, many politicians fear the application of Article 48, dreading the "lust for power." A dictator might enjoy his position and stay after a new Reichstag has been assembled. The Socialists do not dare to put up an energetic fight, as first of all the budget must be balanced somehow, and, secondly, the Chancellor's party is allied with the Socialists from Prussia and might seek other coalition friends if the Socialists endanger the Catholic Centrists' position in the Reich.

DANGEROUS DRIVING DRAWS PUNISHMENT

Magistrate Jay In Saanich Police Court Inflicts $50 Fine for Carelessness

Police Magistrate Jay inflicted a fine of $50 on Chris Comerford, charged with driving to the common danger. The evidence which formed the basis of the charge occurred on Quadra Street, in Saanich Municipality, a short distance. The accused was driving behind one of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines' buses, and when the driver had occasion to slow down near the Lake Hill School, he was prevented from ahead and collided with another car coming in the opposite direction.

The excuse offered by the driver was that he thought the bus was going to stop and that his car brakes would not hold sufficiently to avoid an accident.

The evidence of the driver of the bus was that he slowed down of necessity, owing to the car in front of him doing the same. He had not, however, stopped until after he heard the crash of the two cars past to the rear of his seat and alongside of the bus. He had not seen the actual events leading up to the collision.

Evidence was given by R. R. P. Sewell, the clerk of Saanich, however, which had the effect of carrying a good deal of weight with the magistrate in reaching a conclusion that there was not care exercised. Mr. Sewell had earlier on been passing by the car of the accused and the car which was ahead of the bus just at the time of the accident. Mr. Sewell's attention was attracted to the dangerous way in which these two cars were proceeding and had hurried his pace to get the numbers of them. He had passed them at the bottom of the hill south of the Health Centre where they had stopped, one of them having something wrong with one of the rear wheels.

Mr. Sewell was only a little way ahead of the cars when the collision between Comerford's car and another one coming from Victoria occurred.

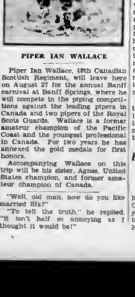
The magistrate said that in view of the evidence there was no doubt in his mind that the accused was driving to the common danger. If the brakes were not such that he could stop in the distance required behind the bus, he was open to the charge that he was driving to the common danger in following the bus that closely. It appeared to him that in one of the instances where the driver was in a process also and wanted to pass behind it. There were too many of these motor vehicles that it was dangerous on the roads.

The magistrate felt that a substantial punishment would have to be meted out, and accordingly made the fine $50.

E. L. Tait appeared for the municipality of Saanich, and Stuart Henderson for the accused.

VICTORIA PIPER TO COMPETE AT BANFF

Ian Wallace, 16th Canadian Scottish, Will Attend Annual Carnival



PIPER IAN WALLACE

Piper Ian Wallace, 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, will leave here on August 27 for the annual Banff carnival at Banff Springs, where he will compete in the piping competitions against the leading pipers in Canada and two pipers of the Royal Scots Guards. Wallace is a former amateur champion of the Pacific Coast and the youngest professional in Canada. For two years he has achieved the gold medals for first honors.

Accompanying Wallace on this trip will be his sister, Agnes, United States champion, and former amateur champion of Canada.

"Well, old man, how do you like married life?"

"To tell the truth," he replied, "it isn't half so annoying as I thought it would be!"

OPPOSITION ARISES TO MINIATURE COURSE

Brilliant Light and Late Hours of Play Are Causes of Objection

Victoria golfers have undoubtedly become bitten by the miniature golf bug, which has spread its fascinating features to many towns and cities of the United States and Canada. Today three courses are operating in the city and an application has been made to the City Council for a fourth.

The application for the fourth was presented at the last meeting of council and passed on to the finance committee for action or report without comment, but about the evening a flurry of opposition has developed, and the finance committee, in view of the opposition, may be forced to refuse permission to the fourth course. The matter was considered by the finance committee yesterday, and it is understood, the majority of members were opposed.

The principal grounds of opposition are that the courses are brilliantly lighted, and operate well into the night with the result that neighboring residents may be troubled by undue noise.

FOUR PREMIERS MAKE PLANS FOR AIDING JOBLESS

R. B. Bennett Holds Parley at Ottawa With Provincial Leaders

DEFINITE PROGRAMME FOR HOUSE PLANNED

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 7.—Premier R. B. Bennett conferred with the three Prairie Province Premiers here today and received from them assurance of co-operation in every way possible to relieve the unemployment situation. Within the next two or three days a further conference will be held to draft some definite programmes which Mr. Bennett may present to the special session of Parliament to be called in September to deal with the problem.

Premiers J. E. Brownlee, of Alberta, Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, and John Bracken, of Manitoba, attended the conference.

"We saw Mr. Bennett and offered to aid in with him at any time to discuss unemployment relief," Premier Bracken said later. "We will confer with him again in a day or so and prepare some definite programme on which we can co-operate. That is about all we can say at the moment."

"Unemployment is bad in Alberta at the present time," Premier Brownlee remarked to reporters. "We feel that immigration should be shut off entirely from our province for a year, or perhaps two years. We have arranged with the Pool and the banks for the financial handling of the carryover of the 1929 crop, which will run about a hundred million bushels, considerably less than last year, and we now wish to discuss with the Federal Government the arrangements to be made for financing the present crop. According to our estimate the crop will run about 340,000,000 bushels this year."

"Unless the latest dry spell in Saskatchewan has had too serious an effect, we expect to have about 74 per cent of a normal crop in our province this year, compared with about 54 per cent of normal last year," said Premier Anderson. A Reuter which might engage his attention while here, he said, was the appointment of a successor to Hon. Henry M. Newlands, Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan, who has expressed his intention of resigning.

Obituary

NUM—The funeral of Chew Cheong Num, who passed away in this city, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Interment will take place in the Chinese Cemetery.

FEE—The funeral of Mary Jane Fee, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on August 5, will be held on Friday at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

BOYD—Mrs. Charlotte Alice Boyd, of 1568 Wilmot Place, a well-known resident of Oak Bay, died at the Jubilee Hospital early yesterday morning after being taken ill suddenly on Tuesday. Mrs. Boyd was the widow of the late Samuel Boyd, of Dumfries, Scotland, and Prescott, Ont. She was born in Oshawa, Ont., and spent most of her life in Prescott, before coming to Victoria to reside in 1919. Mrs. Boyd's parents, Edward and Margaret Leslie, were well-known pioneers of Ontario, having settled there on coming to Canada from Ireland nearly a century ago. Two brothers, H. O. Leslie, of West Vancouver, and Charles Leslie, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., and two sisters, Mrs. John Hutchison and Mrs. A. W. McVittie, both of Victoria, survive Mrs. Boyd, her elder sister, Mrs. R. N. King, of Victoria, having predeceased her early this year. Funeral arrangements are in charge of the B.C. Funeral Company and will be announced later.

KELLY—The remains of George Peter Kelly, who passed away in bethe, known as a holiday resort, this city on August 6, are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

SNOW—Funeral services were held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Ann Marian Snow who passed away on August 5. Rev. D. W. J. Hippel officiated among a large gathering of friends. The hymns sung were "Tell Me the Old Old Story" and "Rock of Ages." A profusion of beautiful floral offerings was received and placed on the casket and bearer. The pallbearers were W. Jones, W. A. Pridham, A. Crowe and C. Crook. Interment took place in Royal Oak Burial Park.

WINTER—The funeral of Hannah Neal Winter, who passed away in this city on Wednesday, August 6, will take place on McCall Bros' funeral home to the Church of Our Lord, Humboldt Street, where service will be held at 2 o'clock. Rev. Arthur de B. Owen will officiate, after which interment will be made in St. Mary's churchyard, Metchosin.

MURRAY—The funeral of Miss Adeline Murray, who passed away in this city on Wednesday, August 6, will take place on Saturday morning from McCall Bros' funeral home to St. Mary's Church, Langford Street, Victoria West, where mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father A. B. Wood. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

ZINKAN—There passed away yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 2824 Fernwood Road, Grace Zinkan, aged sixty-six years, wife of Gleason V. Zinkan. Mrs. Zinkan was born in Salem, New York, had been a resident of this city for the last five years, and had resided for many years in Skagway. The funeral, which will be private, will be held on Saturday afternoon from McCall Bros' funeral home. Rev. Mr. Edwards, of the Four Square Gospel Tabernacle, will conduct the service after which interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

POSTER WORDING CHANGED

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The home office has decided to withdraw the nasty used poster with the words, "Notice to Aliens," substituting for them, "Notice to Foreign Visitors." The Home Office accepted representations that the poster militates against Britain's endeavor to become more popular as a holiday resort.

Pulverized Coal May Open Markets For B.C. Industry

Coal Conference Hears Improved Spark Arresters for Locomotives Now Under Test by Canadian National Railways — Transportation Officials Show Willingness to Assist

Movement of Crop Will Benefit B.C.

THE use of pulverized coal for general industrial purposes, including both land and water communications; the adoption of improved spark arresters on Canadian locomotives, once these are proved practicable, and a systematic consideration by British Columbia coal wherever its use can be economically effected, were pointed to as three means within the power of British Columbia business and governmental circles for the relief of the soft coal industry of the province, in a general discussion which took place yesterday afternoon.

While no direct request was made to Hon. W. A. McKenzie, who presided at the conference, many delegates pointed to the serious inroads made into the coal industry by crude oil imported duty free, and indicated that the Government action in giving the full weight of its power behind the increased use of the home product would be welcomed. The lighting of the lamp and royalty on coal production was directly urged on the Government, as was the use of every means in its power to encourage a wider use of the natural British Columbia product that supplies a livelihood for large numbers of men and their dependents in the coal centres of the province.

MINERS HARD HIT

The miners' side of the picture was given to the conference by George Pearson, M.P., who said 1,844 coal miners had been displaced in the industry of this province since 1926.

"What we want now," said Mr. Pearson, "is immediate relief, and the only way this can come for Vancouver Island miners is by securing more coal orders. We feel that the transportation companies have a duty to perform in this regard to the miners, and that this obligation has not been fully met.

"The progress of this Island is vital to transportation companies, and they are using oil. It is a source of disappointment to Nanaimo to see the growing use of fuel oil on land and sea. The men have only one weapon, a weapon we propose to use to the limit, and that is the influence we may have with the Government of this country," concluded Mr. Pearson.

C. P. Davie, M.P.P., said he endorsed the views expressed by Mr. Pearson in regard to the distress in coal mining areas through the shrinkage of employment.

NEW SPARK ARRESTER

W. Ray, inspector of Provincial Government Railways, told of tests he had witnessed with the new Brown-Cyclone spark arrester, to reduce fire hazards in the operation of locomotives with back oil and coal. The tests had shown, he said, that, while certainty had not yet been demonstrated, the new device was far in advance of that known as the "mechanics' fronts-end," now in use on Canadian locomotives, and, if applied by the Dominion railways, would enable a much larger use of coal with efficiency. The cost of extra fire patrols, and the penalizing costs of fire outbreaks attributed to the railroads, had in the past encouraged the use of oil rather than coal, he declared.

P. E. Cavenhill, the chief forester, said records of his department showed that there was one fire for every three miles of road, on the average, with non-burning systems, and one fire to every ten miles where oil was in use. He was not prepared to say that perfection had been achieved in spark arresters.

The cost of changing from the present system in use of locomotives to the new device, if it were proven suitable, would be between $250 and $400 each, the conference was told by Clyde Leavitt in reply to further questions. Mr. Leavitt, chief fire inspector for the Dominion Railway Board, strongly urged the attention of the delegates be given to recent tests with the new spark arrester. Nine-tenths of the fire in coal-burning systems would be reduced if the new device were applied, he said.

The railway board did not undertake to tell the companies what they should use, but had drawn the attention of both transcontinental systems to the new device some weeks ago, and the matter was still under advisement, said Mr. Leavitt. There was reason to suppose that the new device would also contain an element of fuel economy, which would serve to popularize coal for locomotive use. Spark prevention was a larger matter than appeared on the surface, he continued, as it implied an extra fire patrol by operating companies for four and a half months in the year.

Charles A. Cotterill of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said that every sympathy was felt for those concerned in the coal industry of the province. The railways, on the other hand, had a duty not incumbent on provinces, and, as far as his road was concerned, Island coal would only be used to a point eighty-two miles east of Vancouver, as that was being actually done at present. If coal were burned in the certain division it would have to be brought from Alberta, and each little producing centre depended to some extent on the section of railway nearby for its support. This support could not be withdrawn in a haphazard way, added Mr. Cotterill.

STOCKED UP ON COAL

Last year the Canadian Pacific Railway stocked up with coal in anticipation of a big grain movement. The movement did not take place and as a result much coal reserves had been on hand, with consequent reduction in purchases later in the season. There was no doubt, on the contrary, of a good grain crop this season, and, just as soon as the crop was moving the coal would be in the market again for coal. Progress along the lines of experimentation had to be worked out slowly, but something would likely be worked out that would be of benefit to the coal situation on the Island, he thought.

RAILWAYS SYMPATHETIC

J. M. Cameron, of the Canadian & Nanaimo Railway, said that the road was very sympathetic to the subject under dispute. The Island was different from the Mainland in many respects, and was a heavily timbered section with a long dry season. Conversion from oil to coal burning in locomotives was a costly affair, with bunkers and other facilities that would have to be supplied. It was not entirely fair to expect the railways to do all the experimenting, he continued, but the right ways would be glad to co-operate with the Government, or the producers, or both, in any tests carried out for the use of coal with additional safety to that now possible, said Mr. Cameron. It was a serious matter for everybody if 1,000 people left the Island by reason of non-support, and railways had a direct interest in averting such a condition whenever possible.

WORLD CONDITION

Col. T. A. Hiam, representing the Canadian National Railways, said the British Columbia Government was to be congratulated on having brought about the conference, which officials of his road felt would have an immediate effect in the betterment of conditions for the British Columbia coal industry. Conditions facing the industry in this province, he said, were not unique, but were being shared generally throughout the world.

"We are only too anxious to develop spark arresters, if we can find a device that will do the work for us, not only in British Columbia, but in every province in Canada," continued Colonel Hiam. As a matter of fact, instructions have been issued for the installation of the Brown Cyclone arrester for test on one of our locomotives.

EXPECT GOOD CROP

"Like the Canadian Pacific, we are looking forward to a good grain crop this year," continued Colonel Hiam. "A rough estimate of the crop might be anywhere in the neighborhood of 400,000,000 bushels, compared with about 300,000,000 bushels last year. We would require for our share in that business, so far as the westward movement is concerned, about 18,000 tons of coal, so you see there is some prospect of early relief for the coal mines of this province.

"The Canadian National Railways used 60,000 tons of B.C. coal in 1929. In addition, about 20,000 tons were required for bunkering our ships.

"You know the railways are not the only 'bad boys' in this business. There are other bad boys as well, and I am inclined to believe you are expecting too much of the railroads if you look to them for the solution of all your problems," continued Colonel Hiam. "So far as the Canadian National Railways are concerned, we would be delighted to have representation on any committee that is appointed as a result of this conference to further the use of B.C. coal, and to assist in any way that is open to us the work of that committee," concluded.

Some 79,000,000 gallons of fuel oil had been used by the two transcanada rail systems last year, interjected Mr. Pearson, out of a total use in the province of some 110,000,000 gallons. Of this, he said, the Canadian National used 36,000,000 gallons, and the Canadian Pacific about 42,000,000 gallons. Translated in terms of coal this would have meant the mining of thousands of tons additional to that turned out last year.

USE OF OIL NECESSARY

Speaking for the Big Bend Steamboat Co., Capt. C. D. Newmans said that service used both coal and oil. To keep up the regularity speeds demanded by fast passenger schedules oil was necessary, he said, if the schedules could not be maintained with coal under the present system. The service carried a very large number of people into the province every year, and competition with oil burning was the determinant of tourists through B.C. points to Alaska. That form of competition could not be met with coal, he pointed out, and the province thereby lost, and the public itself set forward the time, fast service schedules.

Oil and internal combustion engines were being used all over the world for shipping nowadays, continued the manager of the B.C. Coast Service. It was physically possible for the service to burn coal in some of its ships, and this matter was being taken under advisement, he added, with the hope that something of interest to local producers might be arrived at.

FOR POWER GENERATION

Tom Uphill, M.P.P., stressed the point that the burning use of hydro-electric power was ousting the natural use of B.C. coal to an alarming degree. The Government, he advised, should go now about granting additional water rights for power development. Still the use of pulverized coal for electric generation had been tried out.

RETAIL PRICES CRITICIZED

Many factors entered into the coal question, continued Mr. Uphill, including the cost of coal to the ultimate consumer. In this, he thought, the coal operators and distributors had not been entirely blameless.

A price of $11.50 a ton retail at Victoria left many to go without coal in Winter, he said, whereas the price was $8 a ton in other and thirty-five miles. Island coal was being sold at a cheaper price in Seattle, he had been informed.

It was the part of the miners that interested him most, continued the member for Fernie, as they had given from twenty to thirty years of their life to the coal industry hoping they knew and now found that that business was drying up on them. He would like to see the subsidies, tons increased and extended, if possible, to the use of coal by railways to points as far as Winnipeg. He would like to see the Dominion Government could afford to take a personal stand in the interest of the coal industry and its undoubted difficulties, he said.

GERMAN TESTS RECITED

Interesting results from German experiments with the use of pulverized coal were given to the conference by J. Dickson, inspector of mines. Ships had been launched with one of three boilers devoted to the use of powdered fuel, and had been so successful that the other boilers had later been converted to the same purpose. In Great Britain and the United States 100,000 tons of shipping had been converted in a year to use pulverized coal, and the United States Shipping Board had

Bush Fire Under Control Following Five-Hour Fight

THREE and a half acres of timber, brush and grass was practically demolished in a bush fire on the East Saanich Indian Reserve yesterday. The blaze was reported at 3.30 o'clock and a crew of seven men, under Assistant District Forest Ranger Dunn, were rushed to the scene. After digging fire-lines and fighting it for five and a half hours it was reported under control last night at 8 o'clock. There was only one house in the immediate district which was not damaged.

New Minister of Public Works

saved time and money in a trial of this method on the Atlantic Coast, he said.

In Germany, continued Mr. Dickson, out of a total output of some 50,000,000 tons of coal annually, about 50,000,000 to 58,000,000 were turned directly to the generation of electric power through its pulverized use in the drying of generators.

One Seattle school was also equipped with a 250-horsepower unit and had demonstrated its efficiency for low power systems, once doubted, said Mr. Dickson further. The use of pulverized coal was also demonstrated effectively with the emergency raising of steam, and was now resorted for this purpose than other forms of fuel, he added. Mr. Dickson was thanked for his able report.

NO PROFIT TO PRODUCER

Lieut.-Col. C. W. Villiers, vice-president of the Canadian Collieries, Limited, said the coal producers had no part for the price of coal in the regal trade. The company received $8.47 a ton over its own wharf, and the equivalent of $11 a ton at Vancouver after the harbor dues had been paid. The company's profit was their own affair, and not part of the consideration of the conference in so far as the coal producers were concerned, he said.

Lorne Campbell, of the West Kootenay Light & Power Company, and representing the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, maintained that the price paid $12.50 a ton for lump coal delivered in Victoria, the difference between that price and the $6.47 received by the mines, was too great a spread, he believed, summounting to some $4 a ton.

The collieries were selling fine coal at prices below the cost of production, observed Lieut.-Col Villiers. "Is it due," he added, "to the subsidy on oil. We are taxed and the oil goes duty free."

Claude L. Harrison, representing the Chamber of Mines and Trade, said that two questions were before the conference, the problem of immediate relief for the miners, and the greater problem of a stabilized market for British Columbia coal. He favored investigation of the use of powdered coal for industrial developments.

At this stage of the conference Hon. W. A. McKenzie, in the chair, suggested that the transportation officials and the representatives of the coal producers withdraw to another room, to see if an accord could be reached on a basis for basis of closer co-operation. This was done, and the general conference rose for the day, with an arrangement to meet at 10 o'clock this morning.

Martin P. Ritz, inventor of the Ritz device for the distillation of coniferous products, invited the delegates to see his test plant in the city yards. Many of the coal men accepted the invitation and will be shown the new distillation process by the inventor later in the week.

City & District

Money Stolen—Harry Ball, Field Apartments, 723 Field Street, reported to the police yesterday morning that a prowler visited his home sometime between 7 o'clock Wednesday night and 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning and relieved him of $58.50 in cash. Detectives are investigating.

Resting Comfortably — Charles Dickson, 1311 Blanshard Street, and Mrs. A. Dickson, 230 Burnside Road, who sustained a fractured skull when he was struck by a car just outside his home on Wednesday night, was reported as resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital early this morning.

Three Fire Calls—A grass fire on Fort Road at 10.50 o'clock yesterday morning, was put out by the Fire department. Less than an hour later the engines were speeding to the second call of the morning to another grass fire in the 400 block, Burnside Road. At 4.40 o'clock in the afternoon a fence on fire at Fernwood Avenue and Queens Street brought them out on their third call of the day.

Visitors at B.C. House—Among the latest visitors who have registered their names at the office of the Agent-General for British Columbia are Miss J. C. McIlwraith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oliver, W. J. Whiteside, M.D., John Dean, of Ottawa, A. M. Clark, M. L. Hall, Miss Frances Barclay, Mrs. T. D. Stark, Miss Minnie MacDiarmid, Mrs. H. H. McDougall, D. W. Grimmett, R. B. West, of Vancouver, Ian Maclaren, of Kelowna, and Robert Peston, of New Westminster.

Closing Today—The annual Presbyterian Sunday School picnic will be held this morning. School will assemble at the hall at 9 o'clock and at 9.30 the teachers in the various classes will distribute the conveyances that students. At 10 o'clock John R. Bosley, manager of the Dominion Bank, will address the mathematics students on "The Origin and History of Begging." At 11 o'clock, in the assembly hall, prizes in competition with the tennis tournament held recently will be distributed. Life-saving examinations were held on Thursday, when nine students received tennis medallions and three awards of merit.

Career Sketches of Cabinet Members in Federal Government

Canada's New Premier

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, President of the Privy Council, Secretary of State for External Affairs, and Minister of Finance, has had a strikingly distinguished career as a statesman, before the bar in Canada and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and in business. Less than three years after his selection to guide the destinies of the Conservative party, on the second ballot at the Winnipeg convention of 1927, the new Prime Minister led his followers to victory.

Born at Hopewell, N.B., on July 3, 1870, of United Empire Loyalist descent, and the ninth generation of the American Continent, Mr. Bennett was educated in the public and high schools of New Brunswick and Dalhousie University at Halifax. For a brief period he practised his profession at Chatham, N.B., and in 1897 moved to Calgary, has present Western home. Mr. Bennett is president of the Canadian Bar Association, Bencher of the Law Society, Governor of Dalhousie University, Hon. Colonel of the 19th Battalion, Calgary Highlanders, and a member of numerous societies and associations.

Twice Mr. Bennett represented Canada at Geneva for the League of Red Cross Societies and International Red Cross Society.

The Prime Minister was a member of the executive committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund from 1914 to 1919; member of the Legislative Assembly of the Northwest Territories from 1898 to 1905; member of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta from 1909 to 1911, when he resigned to successfully contest Calgary for the Dominion House. He accompanied Sir Robert Borden to England, Belgium and France in 1916 and was Director-General of National Service during the Great War until the passing of the Military Service Act in 1917.

Mr. Bennett was Minister of Justice in the reorganized Conservative Cabinet of 1921 and Minister of Finance in the 1926 Conservative administration.

A member of the United Church of Canada, Mr. Bennett is unmarried. The recent election campaign tour of the Premier covered nearly fourteen thousand miles, during which he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Mildred Bennett.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the new Minister of Justice, succeeds Hon. Ernest Lapointe. This portfolio ranks with finance as second to that of Prime Minister. He represents Wellington South in the Commons, the same constituency as his father, Donald Guthrie, represented from 1878 to 1882. Hugh Guthrie was first elected to the Commons in 1900 as a Liberal and moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne the following year.

During Mr. Meighen's brief reign in 1926, Mr. Guthrie was again Minister of Militia and Defence. He was leader of the Conservative party in the Commons during the sessions of 1926 and 1927. He was a candidate for the leadership in the Conservative convention at Winnipeg in 1927 and in the voting came next to Hon. R. B. Bennett. Since then he has been recognized as the financial critic of the official opposition. He is a concise and convincing speaker with an impressive, dignified presence. He is married, a Presbyterian. He will be sixty-four next Wednesday. He has resided in Guelph, Ontario.

Hon. R. J. Manion

Hon. Dr. Robert James Manion, the new Minister of Railways and Canals, has what is regarded as one of the most important portfolios in the new Ministry because of the prospect of important developments in the St. Lawrence deep waterways project. He has already had ministerial experience. He was Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment in 1921 until the defeat of the Meighen Government. In the short Meighen administration of 1926, he was Postmaster-General. He was a member of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario for a time after the Government's defeat. Dr. Manion was the Military Chaplain at war when serving as medical officer with the 5th Battalion at Ypsy Ridge. He was born in Pembroke, Ont., in 1881, of Irish-Canadian ancestry, and will be regarded as the Irish-Canadian representative in the Cabinet. He was first nominated in Fort William as a Liberal, in 1915. He was elected to the Commons as a Liberal Unionist in 1917 and has represented that constituency ever since. He is the author of "A Surgeon in the Army." He is a gold medalist of Toronto University and is a vigorous speaker of the fighting type. He has three sons. Charles was Minister of Railways in Hon. T. A. Crerar.

Hon. H. H. Stevens

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is a newcomer of the House of Commons of only twenty years. Twice previously Mr. Stevens was a member of Commons, but unsuccessful. Prior to the 1921 election he was appointed Minister of Trade and Commerce. In the brief Conservative Government of 1926 he was Minister of National Revenue, and now he returns to his old portfolio to administer the Department of Trade and Commerce. In 1911, 1917, 1921, 1925 and 1926, Mr. Stevens was returned at each of these elections from Vancouver, but was defeated in July 24 last, after a series of successful consecutive campaigns in his constituency of Vancouver Centre. Mr. Stevens, who made the charges resulting in the 1926 Customs probe, was born on December 8, 1878, at Bristol, England, but has resided in Canada since away back in 1897. A broker and accountant, Mr. Stevens is married and a Methodist in religion. He is one of Parliament's foremost debaters.

Hon. Thos. C. Murphy

The new Minister of the Interior, Hon. Thomas C. Murphy, is not a newcomer to parliamentary life. Mr. Murphy, who will give representation to Manitoba in the Cabinet, was Premier of Manitoba for Nepawa at the general election on October 26, 1925. He sat in Parliament until 1926, when he met defeat in the general election that year, but redeemed his nomination for the Conservative party on July 28 last. His municipal experience in municipal council service from 1921 to 1924 as councillor of Neepawa and for one year afterwards as mayor of the town. He was born on October 29, 1882, and has resided in Canada all his life. Mr. Murphy is married and a member of the United Church.

Hon. E. B. Ryckman

Hon. Edmund Baird Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue in the new Government, will have his second term in office. He was Minister of Public Works in the short-lived Government of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in 1926. Mr. Ryckman is a distinguished lawyer and business man of Toronto. He is president of the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Company, Limited, and has represented Toronto East in the House of Commons since 1921. Born in Huntingdon, Que., in 1866, Mr. Ryckman comes of United Empire Loyalist stock. He was educated at Brockville Collegiate Institute, the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall. Always prominent in the House, Mr. Ryckman has been a leader of Toronto Conservatives for many years. He declined nominations before he finally entered the race in 1921.

Hon. Hugh A. Stewart

Hon. Hugh Alexander Stewart, Eastern Ontario's representative in the Cabinet and new Minister of Public Works, is a prominent lawyer and former mayor of Brockville. He has represented Leeds County in the House since 1921 and was born in the township of Elizabethtown in Leeds county in 1871. Despite his nine years Mr. Stewart is still the youngest looking man in the House of Commons. Mr. Stewart is of Scottish descent and a member of the United Church of Canada. He obtained his education at Brockville Collegiate Institute and Queen's University. He led a vigorous onslaught on Hon. Peter Veniot, Liberal Postmaster-General in the session of 1927.

Hon. C. D. Robertson

The new Government returns to the principle of having a member of the Senate holding a portfolio in the Cabinet. Senator Gideon D. Robertson is the new Minister of Labor, succeeding Hon. Peter Heenan. Starting as a telegraphist with the Canadian Pacific, Mr. Robertson, Lambton County boy, rose through various stages in the Order of Railway Telegraphers, being elected vice-president for Canada in 1918. He has served in that capacity ever since. He was called to the Senate in 1917 and later in the same year entered the Unionist Cabinet as Minister Without Portfolio.

In 1919 he became Minister of Labor in 1919 and was reappointed to that portfolio when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen became Premier. On August 26 he will be fifty-six years old. He belongs to the United Church.

Hon. D. M. Sutherland

Hon. Donald M. Sutherland, the new Minister of National Revenue, is a physician practising at Woodstock, Ont. He was first elected to the House of Commons for Oxford North in 1925, but was defeated in the election of 1926. He had a distinguished war record, being awarded the Distinguished Service Order. He was the original commander of "A" Company, in the 1st Battalion, and later became officer commanding the 23rd Battalion. He was a Unionist candidate in 1917. Dr. Sutherland was born in 1879. His maternal grandfather having been a member of the Canadian Parliament back in 1854. Both of his parents were Scotch. He belongs to the United Church of Canada.

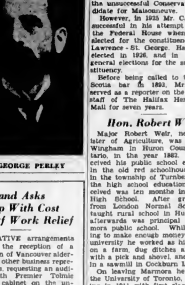
HON. J. A. MACDONALD



SIR GEORGE PERLEY

Hon. Murray MacLaren

Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, was officer commander No. 1 Canadian Hospital during the war, before which he was consulting surgeon in the general hospital in his home city of Saint John, N.B. He was the Canadian representative on the international pensions committee on disabled soldiers. He was also Canadian representative on the advisory council to the British Ministry of Pensions on artificial limbs. He was Canadian representative on the travelled council of surgeons. He has held many important positions in the Canadian Red Cross and at one time was Dominion President of the St. John Ambulance Association. He has represented St. John-Albert constituency in the Commons since 1921. He was born in Kent County, N.B., in 1861. He is a Presbyterian and took an active part in presenting the claims of the continuing Presbyterians during the church union discussions in Parliament. He has two sons and two daughters.

Hon. W. A. Gordon

Hon. Wesley Aston Gordon, the new Minister of Immigration, Colonization and Mines, was born in Owen Sound, Ont., forty-six years ago, of Scotch-Irish descent. He was educated in Owen Sound Collegiate and Osgoode Hall, Toronto. He studied law with A. O. Mackay at Owen Sound. For twenty-three years he has practised the legal profession at Haileybury. At the last general election he was elected as Conservative member for Timiskaming South, defeating Malcolm Lang, the Liberal member in the last Parliament.

He is married and is a member of the Presbyterian Church. His familiarity with the mining industry of Northern Ontario will enable him to advise his colleagues in this important sphere of Canadian life.

Hon. J. A. MacDonald

Hon. J. A. MacDonald, Minister without portfolio, was a member of the 1926 Conservative Government as Minister without portfolio. He has represented Kings, P.E.I., since 1925. A merchant and produce exporter, Mr. MacDonald was director of national services and honorary fuel and food control administrator for Prince Edward Island during the Great War. He was elected to the Prince Edward Island Legislature first in 1908, and re-elected in 1912, 1915, 1919 and 1923. Mr. MacDonald is a Scotch Roman Catholic and is married.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes

Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes returns to Dominion politics as Minister of Fisheries. He was Speaker of the House of Commons in 1917 and was re-elected to that position in 1918. Previous to that he had been Deputy Speaker since 1916. He was first returned to the House of Commons in the general election of 1908 and remained in the House of Commons until he entered provincial politics in Nova Scotia, becoming Premier and Provincial Secretary in 1925. He is still Premier of that province, which position he will now resign.

Mr. Rhodes was born at Amherst, N.B., in 1877. He graduated from Acadia and Dalhousie Universities and began the practice of law. He is one of the board of governors of Acadia University. He has one son and one daughter. He is a member of the Baptist Church.

Mainland Asks Help With Cost Of Work Relief

TENTATIVE arrangements for the reception of a delegation of Vancouver aldermen and other business representatives requesting an audience with Premier Tolmie and his cabinet on the unemployment situation, were made at the Legislative Buildings yesterday. Though no time was set for the conference, the Vancouver delegation might be heard at the conclusion of the present sittings of the coal inquiry, it was indicated. In statements released on the Mainland this week, the Vancouver delegation is said to be seeking a meet to the Dominion-provincial-municipal system of apportioning costs of unemployment relief, the institution of a programme of necessary public works in so far as possible next Fall and Winter, and for financial aid to some already expected by Vancouver in caring for its unemployed.

Sir George Perley

Sir George Perley, Minister without portfolio, the only knight in the Cabinet, first came into prominence in 1911, when, as chief Conservative whip and one of Sir Robert Borden's principal lieutenants, the Laurier Government was overthrown in the reciprocity issue. He was Minister without portfolio in the Borden Government. In June, 1914, he took charge of the office of High Commissioner and held that post until the Meighen Government was defeated, he resignation taking effect in 1922. He was First Minister of Overseas Military Forces for Canada. In 1917 he became a member of the first Imperial War Cabinet and also a member of the Imperial Conference the same year. He was one of Canada's plenipotentiaries for signing treaties at the conclusion of the Great War and one of Canada's delegates to the Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva in 1921. He was Secretary of State in the Meighen Cabinet in 1926. He represents the constituency of Argenteuil, Que., in the Commons. He is an Anglican. He has extensive lumber interests. He was born in Lebanon, N.H., in 1887 and was educated at Harvard. Although he will be seventy-three next month, he most certainly does not look anything near that age.

Hon. C. A. Cahan

C. H. Cahan, K.C., who was appointed Secretary of State yesterday, has been in and out of politics for more than forty years. His political career started in Nova Scotia, where he was elected to the Legislature in the constituency of Hebbinburne in 1890. Shortly after his entry to the Provincial House, he became leader of the Conservative party and held that position until 1894, when he retired from Provincial politics.

In 1896 Mr. Cahan was offered a portfolio in the short administration of Sir Charles Tupper (May-July), but declines when he was defeated for election to the House of Commons for the constituency of Shelbourne and Queen's. Again in 1900 he was unsuccessful, this time in Cumberland, N.S.

Coming to Montreal in 1900, Mr. Cahan continued his practice in the Quebec metropolis. In 1911 he was offered the nomination for St. Lawrence-St. George in the Dominion elections of that year but refused. For five years he remained out of politics. In 1917 he was the unsuccessful Conservative candidate for Maisonneuve.

However, in 1925 Mr. Cahan was successful in his attempt to enter the Federal House when he was elected for the constituency of St. Lawrence - St. George. He was re-elected in 1926, and in the last general elections for the same constituency.

Before being called to the Nova Scotia bar in 1893, Mr. Cahan served as a reporter on the editorial staff of The Halifax Herald and Mail for seven years.

Hon. Robert Weir

Major Robert Weir, new Minister of Agriculture, is born in Wingham in Huron County, Ontario, in the year 1882. He received his public school education in the old red schoolhouse No 2 in the township of Turnberry. All the high school education he received was ten months in Clinton High School. After graduating from London Normal School he taught rural school in Huron, and afterwards was principal of Mamore public school. While teaching to make enough money to go to university he worked as hired man on a farm, dug ditches and sells with a pick and shovel, and worked in a sawmill in Cockburn Island.

On leaving Mamore he entered the University of Toronto, graduating in 1911 with first class honors in specialist courses in analytic, matics, physics and actuarial science.

In 1912 while working in the actuarial department of the Grain Growers' Grain Company, he was laid up with a tuberculosis attack. The result of carrying too much work led to a breakdown in health, forcing him to make a change. He came West and taught mathematics in Regina Collegiate Institute until he went overseas.

Major Weir went overseas from Regina, was wounded in Flanders and was invalidated for the rest of the war. He returned to Canada in June, 1919, taking up farming upon his return.

Hereford Park Farm, the 1,000-acre tract, three miles east of Weldon, Sask., where Major Weir specializes in purebred stock, and cultivates about 700 acres of land, is one of the show places of Northern Saskatchewan. Hundreds go there each year to see his purebred stock. He has twenty registered Percheron horses, seventy head of Hereford cattle, twelve Berkshire pigs and seventy-five Shropshire sheep.

Although this successful farmer has all kinds of prize-winning stock he has spent comparatively little in their acquisition. From a $250 Percheron mare he has raised colts, which last year netted him $3,500 in prize money.

Although Major Weir has fine Percherons—he won the gold medal at the Toronto Royal last year for the best group of Percherons on the continent—he believes in working his show horses and brood mares. Thirty of his prize-winners plowed this Summer were from a four-horse outfit which needed 200 acres of land this Spring.

Proselytizing by Protestants to Be Combated in Rome

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 7.—The Pope, in a personal statement, published in The Osservatore Romano this evening, announced the formation of a "Pontifical organization for preservation of the faith and for the protection of new churches in Rome," designed to combat Protestant proselytizing in and around Rome.

As long as chimneys pour forth atmospheric filth, air and water will be found necessary for the health and well being of the complexion. Cold cream will act as a cleanser, but it never imparts that look of dewy freshness that comes from a morning cold water splash. If an application of cream follows the sudsy renovating, the epidermis will not feel starched or stretched. Put on the emollient at night and remove with cold water in the morning.

End Piles Quick

Piles sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. Cutting and external remedies can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. REM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhard, a specialist, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. REM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success right in this city that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say to every Pile sufferer, try REM-ROID at my risk. It must end all Piles or you get your money back. (Adv.)

BRITAIN MAINTAINS U.S. APPLE EMBARGO

Certain Classes Barred Because of Fruit Fly Infection,—Argentine Regulations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The British Government, in a note to the American Government, has declined to modify its embargo on certain classes of American apples imposed because of infection with the apple fruit fly.

The British note was in reply to representations by Secretary Stimson, and it expressed regret that the embargo could not be modified as requested. It was emphatically stated that Great Britain could not run the risk of a spread of the infection through the importation of the grades barred.

The higher grades of apples are admitted by the British, the Government believing these classes are more carefully inspected.

The note has been transmitted by the State Department to the Department of Agriculture.

ARGENTINE REGULATIONS

The State Department also had made representations to the Argentine Government against new regulations of that country respecting the type of container in which imported apples must be shipped.

The Argentine ban does not involve the fruit fly, but merely the necessity of shippers to change from the present method of shipping in barrels to a new non-standard box. Shippers contend insufficient notice of the change was given.

Plans Garden Fete

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 7.—Arrangements were made at the monthly meeting of the Port Alberni Junior Hospital Auxiliary, held on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Gordon Campbell, president, in the chair, for a garden fete to be held on August 15 at the grounds of Mrs. J. B. Wood, Marpole Hill. This organization has undertaken the furnishing of the Nurses' Home of the West Coast Hospital, and plans were also discussed for the buying of furniture and other necessities.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

The Heedless Little Muskrat

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

For heedlessness we have to pay;
Tomorrow, if we don't today.
—Jerry Muskrat.

There was another signal that the little Muskrats learned. This was the plunge, or splash, signal. Jerry Muskrat would be sitting on the shore. Suddenly he would plunge into the water. Such a splash he would make! If Mrs. Muskrat was on the shore, she would plunge also. If she happened to be out in deep water, she would instantly dive. All the little Muskrats would plunge, or dive. Then all would be still until Jerry or Mrs. Muskrat gave the signal that all was well. So these little Muskrats learned to obey signals and to warn each other. Once in a while one of the youngsters would give the plunge, or the slap-tail, signal; and always Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat would dive. Usually there was no danger. Sometimes the little Muskrat had done it just for fun. But that was quite all right, for thus they showed that they were learning.

Now, in a large family of children no two are exactly alike. One will be more loving than the others, one will be more obedient; one will be more heedless; one will be more heedless; one will be quicker to act; one will be bolder; one will be far more timid. It was just that way in Jimmy Muskrat's family. Some of those youngsters could be depended on to always do exactly the right thing at the right time. Others caused their parents a great deal of worry. There was one in particular who was both heedless and headstrong.

This young Muskrat liked to think that he was smarter than his brothers and sisters. He liked to think that he knew more than they did. He liked to show off. He was always the last one to mind. Now he was the first one to discover that a set of the signals given by Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat were given when there was no danger at all. They were given just for training. When he discovered this, the young Muskrat felt very clever. When the plunge signal, or the tail-slap signal was given, instead of heeding it promptly, he would take his time about it. Once in a while he would not dive at all, but would chuckle to himself as his brothers and sisters all dived. "They can't fool me," he would say to him self, as he heard his father and mother plunge into the water.

So the young Muskrat grew more and more heedless and careless. There came an evening when all the Muskrat family were out to enjoy the dusk and play about. Jerry Muskrat was at the other end of the Smiling Pool. As usual, Jerry was very much on the watch for possible danger. So it was that he was the first to discover the big black shadow, which was not a shadow at all, but Hooty the Owl. Instantly, Jerry gave the danger signal and dived. Mrs. Muskrat repeated the signal and dived. Eight little Muskrats did the same thing.

But the ninth—the heedless young Muskrat, the one who thought himself so smart—merely chuckled and continued to sit on a little tussock, eating a tender bit of green stuff which he had found. He didn't even sit still, but moved about. Suddenly a little chill feeling of fear swept over him. At the same time he seemed as if a shadow crossed in front of him. He looked up into two fierce, glaring eyes. Then with a squeak of fright he started to plunge into the water. He was too late. Hooty the Owl reached for him with his great claws and clutched him. That heedless young Muskrat had paid for his heedlessness with his life. And it was all because he thought himself so very smart.

For Sports and Holidays

Linens and a Variety of Loosely Woven Materials Are Popular for Summer Wear

"Kumfortee" is the latest form of the sports wrap made of fine woven string, either of jute, flax, or hemp, says an article in The Times-Union. It is light yet warm and is proofed against showers, besides looking very attractive. Most of these wraps are in the natural-being color, lined and bound over the edges with some vivid shade of mauve or flame, and decorated with some gay embroidery or printed color-pattern. They are of various lengths, from full overcoat to the sleeveless design, and are a welcome innovation. Little three-piece suits of woven string can be had, with a short skirt, a little sleeveless coat, and a string-colored shantung jumper or tuck-in blouse.

TWEED JUMPER

Another novelty is the tweed stockinette golf jumper, which features with a lightning fastener being more closely woven, this material has the advantage of not stretching with wear or damp, and these jumpers can be donned in a moment. Though soft they will withstand lined with fleece for the Autumn.

FOR BEACH WEAR

At last a really practical bathing wrap has been produced. It is a long coat of hand-blocked Italian linen with a detachable Terry lining to which a scarf is joined. This wrap serves two purposes: when the Terry lining of bath toweling is set with sea water it can be detached, and the linen coat above it is smart enough to be worn as a beach coat for the rest of the day. An extra piece of the same linen can be supplied to make a little hat and bag to match and so complete the ensemble. The addition of a scarf to these bathing wraps is a good idea, for when emerging from the sea one's first need is to fling a towel round neck and shoulders, and this removable Terry scarf supplies that want. The designs and colorings of these linen beach coats are both original and delightful. They are bright and gay without being startling and bizarre. One of the most striking has a pattern of orange and black on white; another is printed in shades of brown and flamingo, a third is in cool tones of green on white.

In the same collection are found long linen coats of every variety of design and cut. They are ideal for an English Summer, for they are cool and yet have enough weight to be worn over a crepe de Chine or cotton dress on grey windy days. They are slim in line and, as they are cut with no superfluous fullness, they do not crush; the linen is specially woven and the printed designs are original and exclusive. The smartest is perhaps one with a sprawling black design—rather reminiscent of Virginia creeper leaves—printed upon a greyish-white ground. Its front edges are bound with a two-inch strap of black linen, and the shield-shaped pockets are edged with a flat band of the black linen under which also a black linen belt finishes with a black buckle. A little hat of the same linen underlined with black sheeting.—Kasper, Stockholm.

organdie comprises an effective outfit. For lovers of color there is a coat in taupe of Italian blue, dim orange, and flame, and for those who like quaint designs there is one with a pattern of pagodas and Japanese maples, which has a curious curved line on the shoulders at the back, obtained by an arrangement of tiny tucks. Yet another is suggested by the Old Bleyne at Brighton, and a fourth is derived from a child's picture book.

"You're not touching my papers, are you, Jack?"

"I'm cutting out paper dolls, dad but I'm only using the written side."

CROP CONDITIONS ON MAINLAND REVIEWED

Agricultural Department Publishes Reports Received From District Officials

The following reports on horticultural conditions on the Lower Mainland and in the Okanagan and on poultry conditions on the Lower Mainland have been received by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Additional reports on Vancouver Island appear on the Vancouver Island page of this issue.

LOWER MAINLAND — Raspberries commenced moving in car lots on July 8, a week earlier than in 1929, and up to the end of the month forty-three cars in addition to a steady local shipment, had been shipped to Prairie points. Prices have been fairly steady throughout the season.

Loganberries have been in demand and the small crop this year has been finding a very ready market.

Blackberries are on the market in quantity but the demand is not brisk for large orders.

Yellow Transparents are on the market and are of fair size and are sizing up rapidly. Other early varieties are coming along rapidly and where attention has been given are clean and showing evidence of good color.

Prunes are sizing but are for the most part a light crop, while plums are showing a very favorable yield, some of the earliest varieties are now past but there are a number of varieties ripening rapidly.

During the month the mixed car shipments of vegetables decreased, due to the downward trend of prices.

The pea and bean crops have come on rapidly during the month and the canneries are working at capacity.—D. E. W. Clarke, district horticulturist.

NORTH OKANAGAN — The sweet cherry crop is now cleaned up and the yield of high-quality fruit has been very satisfactory, no loss was occasioned through splits or disease. The strawberry, raspberry and black currant crops are now practically finished but the yields of these three fruits have in general been disappointing. Raspberries gave promise of heavy yields but the hot dry spell injured considerable fruit and had the effect of cutting the crop heavily. There is at present little change in the prospects of the tree fruit crop, but moisture supplies for the balance of the season will be the determining feature on ultimate yields. Yellow Transparents and Duchess apples are now moving out as green cookers and should quickly clean up, leaving an opening for the movements of Wealthies on the green cooker market. Drought spot is very prevalent in some sections.

Early potatoes are practically cleaned up. The prices on this commodity have dropped considerably, which has tended to check the digging of the later varieties to allow of full development and increased tonnage. Cucumbers and semi-ripe tomatoes are now moving freely, and string beans in quantity are going into the cannery. Sweet corn should be ready in the next week, and some onions will be ready for the green onion market.—H. H. Evans, district agriculturist.

SOUTH OKANAGAN — The weather during July has been quite warm, with practically no rain. Moisture conditions, however, are at present quite satisfactory.

Ground crops which had been badly checked by the cool weather earlier in the season, are now coming along quite fast, and tomatoes and cucumbers are moving in quantity. Cantaloupes will be later than last year, but from present indications should start to move about the first week in August.

Cherries and apricots are about cleaned up, while green apples for cookers are moving freely.

Orchards generally are looking very well. The second crops of alfalfa are about harvesting and appear to be quite good quality.—R. P. Murray, district agriculturist.

LOWER MAINLAND POULTRY

The poultry market, as a whole, is in rather poor condition. The direct cause would appear to be heavy holdings of frozen poultry remaining in storage from last year's operations. Stocks in storage on July 1 were over 3,000,000 pounds heavier than on the same date, 1929, but with increased consumptive demand, owing to tourist traffic, conditions may be improved from now on.

Egg prices have remained firm throughout the month. The consumptive demand is good, both locally and at Up-Coast camps and canneries. With declining production and increased tourist trade, carlot shipments have been reduced.

With finer weather the health and general conditions of flocks have greatly improved and pullet production has commenced. Cases of paralysis have been noticed among early-laying pullets.—James Allen, poultry instructor.

New York has the largest single supply of radium in the world, the state having just purchased $237,000 worth of radium and accessory equipment for use in the State Institute for the Study of Malignant Diseases at Buffalo.

Sherwood's Rink Scores Great Victory in Capital City Lawn Bowling

Spectacular Plays Feature of Team's Win Over Renwick

Score is 16-14 After Best Exhibition of Lawn Bowling in Recent Years—Visitors Win Kelly-Douglas Cup From Locals

Brilliancy at its heights was evidenced in the semi-final of the rink competition in the Capital City Lawn Bowling tournament at the Beacon Hill greens yesterday afternoon when teams skipped by E. G. Sherwood and H. Renwick, of the Victoria Club, displayed the greatest exhibition of bowls that has ever been witnessed on a local green. Sherwood's squad came out on top after a great finish, 16-14.

From the commencement until the last bowl was delivered, the large audience was kept in suspense so much spectacular play was made. In the first half of the game the Sherwood rink gained a big lead, this could not be attributed to the lack of skill on the part of their opponents, but principally to the fortune of the game, namely, good luck.

About the half-way mark the Renwick team picked up, and with only two ends left to play, only two points separated the squads. On the fourteenth end, Sherwood scored one, leaving him three up, and only spectacular playing on the part of the players enabled him to save off defeat as his opponents were missing nothing, and it required perfect play to successfully end an attack.

VISITORS WIN CUP

Playing brilliantly throughout, the visitors captured the Kelly-Douglas Cup for defending the Victoria representatives by a 141-126 score. The winners registered five shots of the seven matches played, the majority of them being closely fought from start to finish.

By their victory, the Visitors received the locals of the coveted trophy and now hold it for a second year. Field and Hodgkinson, of South Vancouver, continued in the fight for the double title by scoring an easy win over Edwards and Wells, Burnside club, 26-7.

R. Watson, of the South Ponder Club, was in rare form to lead the field in the triples competition with forty-six points. Ten shots behind him, in second place, came W. Armstrong, Victoria, while Bryce and McLean were third and fourth, respectively. W. J. Cox, of Vancouver, was the only Mainlander to gain a place in the play-offs, which will be held this morning at the Burnside greens.

Victoria High Boys Win Preliminary Heats—Lynn Patrick Reaches Two Finals

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—High school athletes from the length of British Columbia put on their track and field tags at Hastings Park today and competed in the preliminary eliminations of The Vancouver Sun's annual Kiwanis Competition for the Vancouver Exhibition. The sprinters, jumpers and weight throwers had most of their time taken up with sizzling heats today and will run off finals tomorrow.

Island competitors fared as follows:

George M. Brown, of Cumberland, was second in his heat in the 100 yards event.

C. W. Hogan, Nanaimo, finished third in his heat in the 100 yards and was second in his heat in the 220 yards.

John Lawson, North Saanich, was third in his heat of the 100 yards.

Lesaf Williams, Colquitz, was third in his heat of the 100 yards.

George McKee, Courtenay, was third in his heat in the 440 yards.

Lynn Patrick, Victoria, won his heat of the 440 yards and was second in his heat in the 220 yards.

Leonard Bayly, Victoria, won his heat in the 440 yards.

Donald Ashby, Victoria, was second in his heat in the 220 yards.

Big Rifle Meeting to Open Monday

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Crack shots from all parts of Canada will gather in Ottawa over the week-end for the annual meet of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, which opens at the Connaught Rifle Ranges on Monday. In addition to the wide range of prizes and trophies offered, scoring at the meet will determine personnel of the team which will represent Canada at Bisley in 1931.

A feature of the meet will be participation of Bisley cadets from the Officers' Training Corps units of Canadian Public Schools.

The most coveted single awards at the meet are the King's Medal and the Governor-General's Prize. The competition for the former takes place under battle firing conditions, as determined by the General Staff. It is open to actual serving members of any unit of His Majesty's Forces in Canada.

"Fore and After" Was Babe's Motto

By H. DEMAREE

Former Pitcher New York Giants

Many middle-aged and old golfers play very slow golf, which apparently comes from a fitting sense of the dignity of the game. Perhaps they feel that the story of the elderly but respected player who, finding himself driven into by some hasters behind him, turned to the caddie with the message that "Mr. Smith presents compliments and is aware that he is a slow player. But he can be——" is apropos.

I was playing a round with Babe Ruth one day and the big fellow let loose with one of the prodigious tee shots he occasionally gets and the ball sailed past the foursome ahead of us.

"What do you usually do in a case like this if they get out of range?" I asked.

"If they're old men and get upset by their pardon, and if they're young I don't 'em in the nose" was the Bambino's rather surprising and blunderbuss advice.

PAIR OF CANADIANS REACH SEMI-FINALS

Montreal Wins Way to Final Quartette on Last Hole

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 7.—Each an arch-enemy of old man par, two young Canadians and a duo of American amateurs tonight in the semi-final picture for the Dominion amateur golf championship. In, out and around the deep undulations and ominous bunkers of the London Hunt Club course they will wield their highly efficient clubs tomorrow to decide who will wear the crown Bobby Weld of Great Neck, N.Y., won for himself in 1929. Held lapsed for a year in the second round Wednesday and was eliminated.

Ross Sandy Somerville, one of the few men who had to fall back on a fighting heart today when his prowess failed him, and Slim Carroll Stuart, complete the home force, ready to give every ounce of their driving strength to foil the challenge of J. R. Ferguson and J. Wood Platt, the invading Philadelphians.

Playing over his home course, Somerville's uphill fight to recover from Frank Connolly of Detroit, after being six down at the 24th hole, provided the feature of today's round. Sandy was carried right to the final 36th hole by the Michigan star but his courage in the pinch stood up to give him victory one up.

Platt showed himself an equally strong finish he eliminated Ward Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, six and four. The young son of the great pro of the same name fought Platt from start to finish. Platt, in the morning round and went to lunch all square with his opponent but he was helpless against the superb golf of the American in the final 18-hole breeze.

Stuart defeated a fellow Montreal-er of wide renown—Jack Cummins—to enter the semi-finals. This match also went to the final green with Stuart winning one up.

D. Ferguson had to overcome the prowess of Fred G. Hoffitzel of Toronto to go into the final fours. This tally was 3 and 1.

REACH GOLF FINALS

SEATTLE, Aug. 7.—The Washington State women's golf tournament will wind up here tomorrow with Mrs. C. S. Johnson and Mrs. W. A. Kirkman, both of Seattle, battling for the championship.

Mrs. Johnson defeated Mrs. H. O. Young, Seattle, at the nineteenth hole, and Mrs. Kirkman eliminated Mrs. M. E. Dodson, Seattle, at the twentieth hole.

Collings Tied for First Position in Aggregate Shooting

Local Marksman Has Total of 313—Fyvie Leads British Columbia Squad in President's Match With Total of 48

(Special to The Colonist)

LONG BRANCH RIFLE RANGES, Aug. 7.—A very tricky fishtail wind and a blistering heat again made interesting shooting at the Ontario Rifle Association Meeting today of Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, in a shoot-off for the City of Toronto Silver Medal, dropped a point on his eleventh shot to lose out to Cadet Macintyre, of Hamilton.

In today's shooting in the Tait Brasser Match, seven shots at 200, 500 and 600 yards, some high scores were registered. Capt. Walker, of Toronto, had top score with 104, and for second place there were tightly tied with scores of 101 who will shoot off for the silver medal tomorrow. These included Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, Sgt. Fyvie, Sgt. S. M. B. Read, 99; Lieut. D. Fyvie, 97; Sergt. J. R. Regan, 96, Major F. Richardson, 96.

In the President's Match, ten shots at 600 yards, conditions were very hard, and only one score of 46 was registered.

Lieut. D. Fyvie led the British Columbia men and was tied for last second place with 48. M.G. H. Collings had 46. Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, 46; S.S. W. B. McKay, 46; Major F. Richardson, 46; Pte. I. M. Grant, 44; Q.M.S. J. Kennedy, 44; Dr. McIntosh, 44; Pte. H. Shrosbree, 43; Sergt. W. Smith, 43; Sergt. G. Watson, 42; S.-M. E. J. Read, 42, Pte. E. Jamieson, 42.

MASTER GUNNER COLLINGS

The All-Comers' Aggregate was completed tonight, and results are not yet out, but it is reported unofficially that M.G. H. Collings is tied for first place with a total of 313. (Other British Columbia men ranking well up are Major F. Richardson, 306; Lieut. D. Fyvie, 305; Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, 305; Sergt. J. R. Regan, 305; Pte. I. M. Grant, 300; S.-M. E. J. Read, Sergt. W. B. McKay, and Pte. E. Jamieson each with 298; Sergt. S. Watson, 296, and Pte. H. Shrosbree, 296.

Manitoba Surprises By Holding B.C. XI To Draw in Cricket

Prairie Squad Furnishes Upset in Winning Against Coasters in Western Tourney—Alberta Takes Lead

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 7.—Alberta is in undisputed possession of first place in the 1930 Western Canada cricket tournament, at the completion of today's play, the fourth day of the event.

Incidentally the Albertans maintained their unbeaten record by defeating Saskatchewan by 103 runs, the score being 211 to 109.

Manitoba put over a surprise by holding British Columbia to a draw, scoring 286 for three wickets, including a century by Gillespie, to their opponents' 107 for three when play halted for the day.

This result was more or less of a shock, as the Manitobans had previously suffered three straight defeats.

British Columbia probably regretted sending Manitoba into bat after winning the toss, as the Easterners settled down to demonstrate what a really strong batting side they are when playing to form. Both Pritchard, 79, and Newcomb, 50, were caught by Remnant off Rhodes.

Meston joined Gillespie and continued to paste the British Columbia bowling at will, staying just long enough to allow Gillespie to reach his century, the first of the tournament. Meston, the skipper, then declared, with the score at 290 for three wickets.

The British Columbia team went out and batted quietly to secure 107 for three wickets when stumps were drawn.

None of the British Columbia bowlers appeared to be very effective, Rhodes securing two of the three wickets at a cost of 82 runs. Keel, of Manitoba, secured all three wickets for 16 runs.

ALEXANDER REFUSES TO DISCUSS FUTURE

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, now the enigma of minor league baseball managers, was up and around today apparently recovered from his recent illness.

The former National League pitcher said he had been ill since last Friday and did not care to discuss new opportunities to get back into baseball.

Diamond Sculls' Winner Given Reception

DEMETRAL TO MEET BROOKS

Local Grappler Will Oppose New Yorker in Main Event Saturday

ANDERSON COMING BACK

"Rocky" Brooks, who has been appearing in semi-wind-up pastimes regularly in local wrestling presentations, will have a chance to show what he can do in fast company Saturday night at the Tillicum gym, when he grapples with Harry Demetral, New York, in the eight round main event of the Tillicum Athletic Club's card. The New Yorker showed here some months ago against Ted Thye in an interesting bout.

In the semi-wind-up fane will see Des Anderson, former National Amateur Champion and Runner-up to the world's title at the Olympic games. Anderson showed here against Brooks a short time ago and was given a great hand by the fans for his display.

In the curtain raiser, which will get under way at 8 40 o'clock, Baptiste Thomas, fighting Indian, will oppose John Neunkidt, local grappler.

SOLDIER FIELD MAY ADD ANOTHER MARK

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Soldier Field, Chicago's gigantic lake front stadium, may add another attendance record to its list.

Already bolder of attendance records for football and boxing, the stadium is expected to break the 50,000 mark established for a track and field event when the British-American meet is held, August 27. The track record was established at Los Angeles in 1928 during the Pacific Coast Olympic tryouts.

Vice-President Charles Curtis has accepted an invitation to watch the international meet and the Prince of Wales has been asked to join him.

Athletics Turn Back Senators When Foxx Hits 31st Home Run

Mackmen's First Sacker Hits Circuit With Two On—Yanks Down Boston Sox—Robins and Cubs Win in National

ENTERPRISE WINS THIRD STRAIGHT FROM CUP RIVALS

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 7.—Harold S. Vanderbilt today sailed Enterprise, smallest of the America's Cup defence candidates, to her third straight win over her three rivals. Weetamoe, the Morgan-Nichols candidate, came second, 16 secs. later. Whirlwind took third place, and Yankee, the Boston boat, was last.

English Boy Hands Cuban First Defeat Before 50,000 Fans

Berg Takes Five Rounds to Chocolate's Three in Fast Mix—Weight Advantage of Britisher Big Factor in Victory

By WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Before a crowd of close to 50,000 patrons from everywhere, including most of the 600 Madison Square Garden millionaire first-row sitting club and the population of Harlem, Jack Berg, of England, outpointed Kid Chocolate, of Cuba.

This ends Chocolate's 189th bout and the first one he has lost, which is some record.

According to my score, Berg won five rounds. Chocolate three, and two were even. The fact of the matter was that the great little Cuban fighter could not give away nine and a half pounds to a man as good as Berg and come through to victory.

I thought that Chocolate's best round was the third, in which he both outfought and outboxed his opponent. Berg took the fourth and fifth rounds, and then Chocolate spurted to take the sixth, in which he landed all the clean punches.

The seventh round saw Chocolate rally in the latter part to make it even, but the last three rounds were all Berg.

CHOCOLATE IN TEARS

When the decision was given, Chocolate, bitterly disappointed, burst into tears, but while it was a very close bout I think the verdict was just.

The crowd was largely with the lighter man, but many of the spectators booed the announcement of Berg's victory.

This match really detracted nothing from Chocolate's reputation. He was fighting a heavier man and a tough man for anybody to beat, and did not seem to be in quite as good condition as he has appeared in other bouts.

Neither man was in any distress at any time during the contest. It slowly was a case of a beautiful boxer and a clean hitter up against a stronger, heavier, aggressive opponent.

Berg fought in his usual style, punching continuously, and sometimes heeling with the palm of his glove. Chocolate, finding himself unable to hold the Englishman off, was always on the defensive, except for infrequent spurts when he stood too close and shagged, and in these instances he usually tired before Berg did.

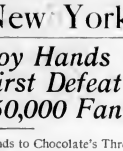
BOUT FULL OF ACTION

As was expected, the bout was full of action from first to last, and the contestants certainly gave the crowd its money's worth. Chocolate, who once was a newsboy in Havana, started his boxing career when he was only ten years old. He has come from 112 pounds to 134, and with his height there appears to be no reason why he should not eventually go into a lightweight, especially as he is now twenty-four years old, although on account of the Boxing Commission rules, his age has been advanced to twenty-one.

Berg, the boy from London's East End, probably will be matched against Al Singer for the lightweight championship, but if Chocolate ever gains that additional nine pounds both these men had better be cautious about tackling him.

Singer was introduced tonight and, strangely enough, there were intermingled with the cheers. There must have been a number of Italians among the Bronxites, because Tony Canzoneri was cheered to the echo when he was introduced.

The referee for the main bout was Patsy Haley and the judges were Joe Agnello and Charles Mathieson. In the preliminaries Petri Hayes, of East New York, knocked out Ray Ortega, of South America, in the fifth round. Joe Comforti won a decision from Sammy Portel, and Eduardo Corti beat Eddie Reilly in six rounds. Sammy Dorfman, New York, and Eddie Mack, Denver, fought a ten-round draw.



JACK BERG

In the semi-final bout Baby Joe Gans, of San Diego, won the decision over Eddie Murdock, of Oklahoma.

GLOUCESTER WINS FROM GLAMORGAN

Hammond's Bowling Big Factor in Team's Victory — Hobbs Scores Century

LONDON, Aug. 7.—In cricket matches finished in England today, Gloucestershire beat Glamorganshire at Clifton by an innings and 36 runs, and Northamptonshire defeated Hampshire at Northampton by two wickets. Gloucester's victory was due very largely to fine bowling by Wally Hammond, the international player, who took eight Glamorgan first innings wickets for 28 runs and four second innings wickets for 49. Scores were:

Gloucester, 230; Glamorgan, 62 and 136.

Northants scored 120 and 88 for eight wickets and Hants 46 and 163.

Among the best batting feats of the day was Jack Hobbs' 168 for Surrey against Sussex.

Closing scores today were:

At Kidderminster—Derby, 85 and 10 for five wickets; Worcester, 309.

At Hastings—Surrey, 285; Sussex, 125 for five wickets.

No play took place in the following matches: Leicestershire and Yorkshire, Lancashire and Middlesex, Somerset vs. Essex, and Australia vs. Warwickshire.

Kent vs. Nottinghamshire, at Canterbury—Kent, 278; Notts, 314 (Whysall, 128.)

To enable parachute jumpers to glide gently to earth, a canvas "ruffle" has been devised. The arrangement also aids jumpers to guide themselves to safe landing spots.

Clubhead Low When Past Contact Point

HILLIER HICKS CLUB GOES THROUGH ON LOW PLAY AT ...

By SOL METZGER

Here's another sketch of Miss Hicks smashing a drive the proverbial mile. She sticks them about as far as any woman golfer. Note how low is her clubhead when well past the point of contact. Compare this sketch with the one above yesterday and you'll see that her clubhead passes almost straight through the ball when she drives.

Rather good proof that J. Parmley Paret, tennis expert, knows something about the golf game when he claims that, like the tennis stroke, the implement used to apply the force is at rightangles to the direction line for a longer time than the exact moment of contact with the ball.

The next point in golfing at a true picture of the swing. In order to solve the big problem of slicing is to view it from another angle. We'll make Miss Hicks as our model for this in the next article.

HAND IN HANK

The home run battle between Hack Wilson and Babe Ruth continues to be one of the high spots of the present season — and Lou Gehrig isn't far away. Wilson is now ahead of the best year the Babe has known before 1930. That shows you how fast the Club outfielder is stepping along in the pursuit of the Sultan, who is also well ahead of his old mark for the August date.

There is a good chance now that Babe will have to break his top record to crowd Hack out. The slugging Club is set at home for a long haul where he has his sights adjusted along the outfield ranges. He is sure to break the national league record which Klein established last year. And he has let Babe know that it will be just as well not to leaf down the stretch—which the Babe couldn't do if he wanted to.

THE HITTING ELECT

There has never been a closer race in the two leagues as far as the battle of batting eyes is concerned. Terry, Klein, O'Doul and Herman have been knocking the ball lonesome all hunched in the neighborhood of .400. In the American there are Simmons, Cochrane and Goslin just as closely lumped.

One unique feature is that Philadelphia has four of the leaders on her two clubs—Klein and O'Doul of the Phillies with Simmons and Cochrane of the Athletics. These two batting races should be the best of many seasons for they are both in the class necessary to stay for the final summing up through August and September. Terry's record for the last month has been one of the most phenomenal turns in baseball.

If the Giant-Dodger series had lasted one day longer about all Brooklyn citizens would have been funneling around in circles emitting the clarion call of the cuckoo.

Few who saw Stribbling against Paul Reinbach some two or three years ago would have figured that he was to be one of the main hopes for any heavyweight revival—if any heavyweight revival is to take place.

THE PUNCHING LION

When it comes to a matter of real fighting the best battle seen around this vicinity in the scrap between a four year old bear and a mountain lion in "The Silent Enemy." There is enough action here to last out three or four fights. In one charge the lion delivers a right swing that would decapitate a human being. He nails the bear squarely on the side of the head but in place of flopping the bear proves he can take it and still come back with the winning edge.

HITTING DISTANCE

In one of his home runs Babe Ruth carried a target 430 feet away by a matter of fifteen feet. The wallop must have carried around 500 feet before it landed. It would be an interesting test to see just how far Ruth could hit a baseball on the carry, but 500 feet is close to the limit. Ruth has carried over 150 feet with a golf ball, which shows the more extended range of the smaller missile. Tommy Hitchcock can pass 300 feet with a polo ball. The golf ball is still well ahead when it comes to distance making but a golf course is around 4 miles where greater distance is needed.

Another check up reveals the fact that Mac Smith played 72 holes at Innsbrucken without hitting a tee shot off the course. The wonder is that no one searched his golf bag to be sure he wasn't using a rifle.

One of the best ways to get long drives is to play a lot of golf before the baked out fairways get soaked up the name of Hadley to his surer system.

Dogs and chickens are more careful than people in crossing busy roads, declared A. Dryland in a disquisition by council and municipal surveyors on "Road Design and Safety" in London recently.

PLANS COMPLETED; BAKER TO REFEREE

Final arrangements were completed yesterday by promoter Joe Bayley for the boxing show to be held tomorrow evening at the Victoria Exposition Coliseum, first in which Jumbo Davies, flashy local featherweight, will swap punches with Harvey Holliday, Vancouver, in the ten-round main event. The fillings of the five card are the selection of the referee were made and the Hon. Duncan McTavish of the day. Ruth has carried over 150 feet with a golf ball, which shows the more extended range of the smaller missile. Tommy Hitchcock can pass 300 feet with a polo ball. The golf ball is still well ahead when it comes to distance making but a golf course is around 4 miles where greater distance is needed.

Queen's Own Riflemen Win Team Trophy

LONG BRANCH RIFLE RANGE, Aug. 7.—The Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, has been declared the winner of the Jubilee Challenge Trophy, awarded for top team shooting in the Lieutenant-Governor's Match, which was contested at the annual Ontario Rifle Association Tournament. The Queen's Own five-man team scored an average of 56 on the 300 and 600 yard ranges in a possible 70.

A correction posted gives George Gillmour, of Hamilton, first place, and the Silver Medal for high score in the City of Hamilton Match, which was shot yesterday. Cadet Jack Mackay, of Central Collegiate, Hamilton, took second place.

J.B.A.A. TENNIS TOURNEY OPENS AT CLUB TODAY

First of Strong Contingent of Members to Start Play for Net Titles

DRAW ANNOUNCED FOR FIRST ROUND

Quality and quantity will be compromised this evening when the barrier is sprung that will release the first contingent of net experts in the opening rounds of the J.B.A.A. Tennis Club championships, which are scheduled to get under way today with six matches on the slate. Although this is the first tourney the veteran athletic association has staged, some sharp competition is expected before the championships for 1930 are written in the books.

Four women's doubles, one women's singles and a men's doubles are listed for this evening, while another half dozen games are slated for tomorrow. Play will continue each day and the finals will be played Thursday evening, followed by the presentation of trophies and a dance in the club's headquarters.

Composition of the sharpest character is expected in today's matches as some of the best young players, male and female, in the club will be seen in action on the various courts.

Experiments conducted by the Danish Government with an autoboat-submarine-airplane are said to hold the successful. As an automobile the machine can travel over land on pneumatic tires, launch itself into the sea as a boat, convert itself into an underwater craft, and on coming to the surface, unfold telescoping wings and rise into the air. In appearance it resembles a lighting all-metal vessel hull with wings which may be folded by switches inside the hull.

BAMBINO IMPROVES BATTING AVERAGE

Ruth Gets Lone Hit to Move Up to .362—Other Six Men Mers Lose Ground

Babe Ruth was the only member of baseball's shopping big six to improve his batting average yesterday. Although still in sixth place, Ruth moved from .359 to .362 by a timely triple against the Red Sox. In his other two times at bat he drew a pass and filed out.

Al. Simmons and Mickey Cochrane, of the Athletics, made a hit each, Simmons failing a point and Cochrane standing still.

Activity among the big six was confined to the second division, times for hits being scheduled.

Hagen Fails to Qualify in Pro Golf Tournament

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—For the first time in his long golf career, Walter Hagen will not be among those competing when the professional golfers tee off at Fresh Meadow Club, Flushing, in September in quest of the pro championship.

The five times holder of the professional title failed to qualify yesterday, when young Harton Smith, Hagen's protege, led the field over the Cherry Valley Club course. Smith scored a 139 for the 36 holes but Hagen, took 146, four strokes short of the mark needed to get within the honored ten, which will represent the Metropolitan district.

Along with Hagen, other such well known stars as Mike Brady, Leo Diegel, Al Espinosa, Wes Bobby Cruickshank, and Willie MacFarlane, failed to qualify. In addition to Smith, the qualifying group include Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Bill Mehlhorn, Billy Burke, Pat Cirvelli, Jimmy Hines, John Golden, Whitty Cox and Jack Forrester.

Saanich Thistles To Meet Hustlers At Central Park

In the final game of the Victoria and District Football League the Saanich Thistles will meet the Hustlers this evening at Central Park. The teams will clash on the upper diamond, with Ernie Black calling the balls and strikes and Bob Whyte officiating on the bases. As this is a championship game there is expected to be plenty of action, with both teams fighting hard all the way.

HARRISON DOWNS WINDY LANGLIE

Tacoma Ace Defeats Seattle Net Star in Straight Sets—Doubles Team Downed

SEATTLE, Aug. 7.—Right on the heels of their scintillating victory over the Pacific Northwest sectional tennis district at the National intersectional meet in Forest Hills, N.Y., Howard Langlie and Lloyd Workstrom, both of Seattle, were eliminated from the Washington State event today.

Laurenzo Driscoll and Ray Casey, both of San Francisco, defending doubles champions, conquered the Seattle net stars in the fifth round of the tournament this afternoon to enter the quarter-finals. The scores were 8-6, 8-6.

Langlie and Nordstrom yesterday defeated Brubaker Harrison, Tacoma, and Bob Hoops, Eugene, Ore., in the finals of the sectional tournament to win the Eastern trip.

Leon de Turenne, Seattle, defending singles champion, sounded a warning today that he was in condition for championship play when he eliminated Hoops, one of the "crack" entries, 6-0, 6-2.

Harrison, winner of three Northwest titles this season, entered the quarter-finals with a 6-3, 7-5, victory over Windy Langlie, Seattle. Driscoll downed John Edwards, Victoria, B.C., 6-4, 6-0.

Miss Alice Marble and Mrs. Dorothea Percy, both of San Francisco, will meet tomorrow in one bracket of the women's semi-finals, and Mrs. Colda Myer Grom and Miss Charlotte Miller, both of Berkeley, will tangle in the other.

Miss Marble defeated Miss Marie McNab, Vancouver, 6-1, 6-4. Mrs. Percy downed Miss Carolyn Fitzgerald, Tacoma, 7-5, 6-0. 6-4. Miss Miller eliminated Miss Edith Tough, San Francisco, 7-5, 6-3, and Mrs. Grom conquered Mrs. Irene Swarts, Seattle, 6-1, 8-1.

EMPRESS HOTEL TO MEET E. & N. NINE

Softball Squads Will Clash Tomorrow in First of Series for C.P.R. Honors

Empress Hotel and E. & N. Shops will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Victoria West Park at 3 o'clock in the first of a three game series for the Canadian Pacific Railway Softball League championships. The second and future is scheduled August 18 and the third, if necessary, August 25 at the same park.

The hotelmen and Shops finished in a deadlock for first place and will take the field in the first play-off game with their strongest squads in the fight for the beautiful Daily Colonist Cup, symbolic of the honors. McClinton will pitch for the Empress Hotel with Chetworth on the receiving end, while Robertson and Watson will form the battery for the Shops.

During the war two Scottish soldiers were out on a raid one night in "No Man's Land. Suddenly in the glare of a searchlight an enemy machine gun began to sputter.

Hearing a grunt from Sandy, Jock inquired, "Are ye hit, Sandy?" "Aye, I got it in the leg, Jock." "Wel, crawl on the back an' I'll carry ye in." "Na——Jeez!" Sandy said, "that means the V.C. for you an' neither bullet for me!"

Youthful Net Star Defeats Bill Tilden

Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena Lad, Wins Pacific Coast Title

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y., Aug. 7.—Frank Shields, youthful New York star, sprung a sensational upset today by defeating "Big Bill" Tilden in the Meadow Club's invitation Tennis tournament.

Shields, 19-year-old school boy who was No. 13 on the national list to Tilden's No. 1, scored his surprising conquest in clean cut fashion in the quarter final round of the tournament.

Tilden only two days off the boat from Europe, made a belated entry into the singles competition yesterday. He won his first two matches but was hard pressed to beat J. Gilbert Hall in three sets.

BUICKS TAKE EASY VICTORY FROM FORDS

After Taking an Early Lead the Fords Give Away the Game by Errors

In the Garage League baseball game played at the Royal Athletic park last night Buicks defeated the Fords by a score of 11-9. In the early part of the game the Fords took the lead and up to the end of the fifth inning were never seriously threatened. In the last of the sixth however the Buicks counted the lid out for seven counters and gained a one run lead. Three runs did not come off the Buick bats as the Fords made numerous errors in the final stanza.

Bill Armour replaced Frank Moore on the mound for the Fords in the last half of the sixth.

The score by innings follows:

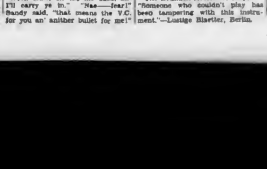
Fords . . . 0 0 2 7 0 0—9
Buicks . . . 0 1 0 0 2 7—11

Batteries: Moore, Armour and Finch; Finnell and Seddon.

ALABAMA SENATOR INJURED IN CRASH

DECATUR, Ala. Aug. 7.—United States Senator Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, suffered bruises and cuts and a sprained wrist and three members of his party were cut and bruised today as their automobile crashed into a telephone pole to avoid a heavy Sedan truck that came onto a highway from a side road, near here.

The Nationalist movement is advancing in Scotland. The Scottish National party recently held at Glasgow its second annual conference, which was followed by a demonstration at Stirling. At the conference C. M. Grieve pleaded for a covenant which would pledge those who signed it to establish an independent government in Scotland. A manifesto to be issued states that the party stands for a complete measure of Scottish self-government.



ANACORTES TO PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

Flashy American Ball Club Will Make Debut Before Local Fans —To Appear in Twin Bill

Baseball fans are promised a treat Saturday, with the visit here of the Anacortes, Northwest Baseball League club, in a twin exhibition series against the Boys of Canada, who finished in first place in the league schedule of the Victoria Senior Amateur loop. The games will be played at the Royal Athletic Park at 2:45 o'clock and 6:15 o'clock.

According to Manager Chitwood, of the Anacortes club, his boys finished right on the heels of Tesley Raymond's Bellingham Tulips, in the league schedule, and at the present time are a snappier aggregation of ball tossers.

The club is composed of young players, who know their baseball like a bee knows its honey. The twirlers who will work here against the Boys of Canada will be Mattson and Pumma, a pair of husky young moundsmen.

NANAIMO SOFTBALL

NANAIMO, Aug. 7.—In a men's twilight softball fixture, played on the Central Sports Ground last evening, the Automotives won from the Laundry by 15-5.

In the Girls' League game the Tar Flats had a runaway victory over the C.G.I.T.

SCOTS MAKE PARIS SWEETS

Revelations that chocolates bearing the name of a famous Paris confectioner were really made in Scotland has not pleased many Parisienne, who believe that Parisians add something to all they create not possible by anyone else. The manufacturer has explained that, owing to the climate in Paris chocolate making is unsuccessful, so the sweets are made in Dundee, Scotland, and that tariffs between France and Scotland bring too high also has an influence.

Which travels faster, heat or cold?—Heat, because it is easy to catch cold.

At The Playhouses

COLISEUM Sally Starr, Metro-Theatre Cartoon—Marion's new flapper find, makes her second screen appearance in "Not So Dumb," Marion Davies' all-talking adaptation of the famous Stage farce, "Dulcy," which is now playing at the Coliseum Theatre.

PLAYHOUSE Aileen Pringle, star of "Wall Street," the Columbia all-talking drama of love and finance now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, is a highly-accomplished pianist. She studied music in Paris and London. Appearing with her in this current production is Ralph Ince.

DOMINION One of the most extraordinary cliffs chase sequences ever filmed comes in the course of "Women Everywhere," Fox Movietone singing and talking romance of Morocco and the Foreign Legion, featuring J. Harold Murray and Fifi Dorsay, and directed by Alexander Korda, now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

COLUMBIA Lovers of the big outdoors need not spend time and money to seek the glories of the great Southwest, since Warner Bros. "Under a Texas Moon," first 100 per cent talking, singing, outdoor picture in natural color—now on the Columbia Theatre—catches every hue of sky, earth and water—as well as glowing tints of flesh, hair and eyes.

CAPITOL Surprise follows surprise in the ranks of the Universal Army while filming the sensational war epic, "All Quiet on the Western Front," which is now at the Capitol Theatre. Director Milestone one day discovered a man marching in the ranks as a soldier who owns seven medals for bravery and who was fired by seven cities in seven different countries.

A new system of transportation is being tried out near Glasgow, Scotland, in the form of a "rail plane." It is said to be capable of attaining a speed of 150 miles an hour.

ARLISS' "DISRAELI" FASCINATING STUDY

One of the greatest plays in the history of the stage has been made into a Vitaphone production by Warner Brothers, now at the Columbia theatre. The play is "Disraeli," and this new screen version stars George Arliss, the masterful actor who made such a tremendous impression in the original production. His performance on the screen is a powerful one—the equal of the finest stage performance he ever gave to his life.

Mr. Arliss' portrayal of "Disraeli" runs the gamut of characterization. It is a thing of ever changing moods and therefore fascinating in its unexpectedness.

Intrigue, romance, strategy — George Arliss deftly brings out all nuance of each passing emotion of the mysterious super-statesman, Disraeli.

"HIGH TREASON" MAKES A TIMELY SPECTACLE

"High Treason," the spectacular Osmond British all-dialogue film, which is due for screening at the Playhouse theatre next week, comes very timely when both Britain and America are making strenuous efforts toward ultra establishment of permanent peace.

Certain incidents in "High Treason" have foundation in the thoughts and utterances of famous men, both past and present.

The theme is the forces for peace against the forces for war struggling in a politically reconstructed world a decade hence.

U.S. LEGIONARIES PAY VISIT TO WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9—Two thousand American legionaries, from the Minnesota State convention at Crookston, invaded Winnipeg last night. It was a goodwill invasion, and the city was in holiday attire in honor of the visitors who, in picturesque uniforms and to the roll of drum corps, marched through the principal streets amid cheering thousands.

The first ceremony of a two-day visit took place at the cenotaph, on the Mall, where the Legionaries and their ladies deposited a wreath.

Later, the visitors attended special entertainments, arranged for their benefit, and many visited the Canadian Legion clubrooms.

FORMER AFGHANISTAN RULER HURRIES HOME

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 7.—Former King Amanullah of Afghanistan, who has been summoning in his place on the Bosporus today embarked hurriedly on an Italian steamer presumably for home. Because of the disturbed state of affairs in Afghanistan politicians expressed the belief his departure might be connected with events in his homeland.

Cabby (on being told to go to the Courts of Justice): "And where be they?"

Judge: "What! A London cabby, and you don't know where the Law Courts are?"

Cabby: "Oh, the Law Courts! But you said the Courts of Justice."

BROADCAST BRIEFS OF THE AIR

President John M. Thomas, of Rutgers University, will offer counsel to the graduat freshmen and his parents on the eve of entering the life land grant institutions of each state for a four-year course of study, when he addresses the National Farm and Home Hour audience from the Washington and Chicago studios of the N.B.C. tomorrow morning at 9.45 o'clock over KOMO, KOW and KGO.

Italian music generally overlooked in the general make-up of radio programmes, will comprise the entire programme of the Condottieri Orchestra, when they play over KJR tomorrow evening from 6 to 9 o'clock. Stephanie Lewis, youthful N.B.S. soprano, will contribute three selections to the programme. She will sing "O Cemanie de Piagarini," by Alessandro Scarlatti; "Neapolitan Nights," by Zamecnic, and "Sebeen Crudele," by Antonio Caldara.

Kenyon Congdon, baritone, will sing the "Elegie," by Massenet, during the recital by the French Trio over KGO and KPO at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The trio, Lydia Vinzaya, harpist; Elfreda Ben, violinist, and Stella Pasetti, flautist, will be featured.

A medley of children's songs is included in the programme of the Saturday Knights, which KJR listeners will hear from 6 to 7 o'clock tomorrow. Another medley to be played by the Knights is made up of a collection of old songs. Three soloists will contribute selections to the programme. They are Ed Sheldon, baritone; Robert Meneen, tenor, and Dud Belter, saxophonist.

Fast jazz mellow blues and good comedy will constitute the programme of the Melomaniacs when they broadcast over KGO, at 2.15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Irene Beasley, Brad Browne, Al Llewelyn, Reiss and Dunn and Freddie Rich's orchestra will present the programme.

Carrie A. Andrew, staff artist of KGA, Spokane, will be heard as guest artist in the Fiji Hour, which KJR will broadcast, beginning at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Andrew, a tenor, will be heard in his final appearance before returning to KGA.

The music that expresses the soul of the South will be heard when Rosamond Johnson direct a group of spiritual singers in a half-hour concert over KYL tomorrow at 4.30 p.m. Taylor Gordon, tenor, will be the featured soloist.

RADIO CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

The Victoria Radio Club will hold its regular meeting in Temple Hall, North Park Street, tonight, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present as important amendments to the constitution are to be discussed, including a change of name of the society.

In spite of the fact that Constable Griffith signaled and shouted to A. S. Richards, driver of a taxi truck, to stop, he continued to keep going and ran across a fire hose which was in use at the Beacon Hill fire a few days ago. The driver said he did not see or hear the constable until he had crossed the hose, and did not know it was in use. He was fined $10.

SYNDICATE SECURES HIXON CREEK OPTION

W. A. Lewthwaite, Representing Canadian Capital, Has Invaded Mineral Area in North

W. A. Lewthwaite, of Vancouver, has secured an option on eleven mineral claims on Hixon Creek held by Eric Hann, according to information from Prince George, B.C. The claims are strung along the creek from a point four miles above the road crossing, and are said to comprise the most promising ground in what is known as the Hixon Creek section. Mr. Lewthwaite is acting in the interest of an Eastern Canadian syndicate. It is the opinion of engineers who have examined the ground that the development must be planned on the basis of a tonnage enterprise, involving a very large expenditure, before the property can be put into stage to yield returns.

Eric Hann has been placer mining on the ground for several years, and is credited with having made some remarkable gold recoveries. Examination of the gold discloses the fact that it had not traveled very far from the point at which it was shoveled into the sluice boxes, a circumstance considered of no moment in estimated value of the schist formation running through the mineral claims.

Mr. Lewthwaite's company has made an option payment and the engineers are now on the ground laying out a plan of work which is expected to get under way within thirty days. The development on the property consists of a tunnel driven into the ledge matter for a distance of 170 feet, from which there have been thirty feet of cross-cutting. The first work will be the extending of the crosscuts from either side of the tunnel. It being the opinion of the engineers that an additional 200 feet will give a fair idea of the gold values, which are carried in the schist with enrichments in the form of quartz stringers. If the ground responds in the manner expected by the engineers, Hixon Creek, within the next two years, will be the scene of the largest mining operation in the northern portion of the province.

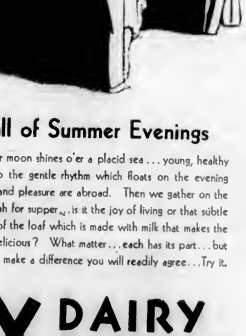
SUMMER DAYS



the call of Summer Evenings

Softly the summer moon shines o'er a placid sea . . . young, healthy limbs respond to the gentle rhythm which floats on the evening air . . . romance and pleasure are abroad. Then we gather on the beach or verandah for supper . . . is it the joy of living or that subtle "wheaty flavor" of the loaf which is made with milk that makes the sandwiches so delicious? What matter . . . each has its part . . . but Dairy Bread does make a difference you will readily agree . . . Try it.

Contract and Auction Bidding

	1st Rd.
South	1 N.T.
West	Pass
North	Pass
East	Pass

The above hand was submitted by a fan with the remark, "It looks to me like three No-Trump for North and South with careful play."

There are many hands, on which we could go game if we allowed the Declarer to play with brilliancy but restricted the defence to ordinary.

Occasional successes based upon this and exceptional luck at times leads to the tendency to overbid. In the long run, however, it will pay to stick to bidding values and take extra tricks if they come as an much valiey.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE SUBMITTED

Contract: South opens the bidding with one No-Trump, which all pass. North has not enough to encourage South by bidding two Clubs. West has a good opening lead and East can stand any lead that West may make.

Auction: The bidding is the same as at Contract. In the case, however, a bid of two Clubs by North would not have been considered encouraging, but on the other hand North's situation is not so desperate as to abandon hope for game if South should happen to have a really strong No-Trump.

THE PLAY

West opens the Queen of Spades. North then plays the five, East the King and South the two. East returns the eight of Spades and South again ducks the trick. This is evidently what the fan meant by careful play." There can be no doubt about the fact that it is the correct play in spite of the fact that it actually costs the Declarer one trick.

It has now become time for the West hand to play carefully. He can see the five Clubs in Dummy and he knows very well that if he retaliates his long Spades he will never be permitted to get in to make them. The only possibility of his obtaining the last game would be with the Queen or Jack of Hearts, but by that time he would have had to discard on two Clubs and probably one Diamond. Likewise the possibility of entering hand with the Queen or Jack of Hearts does not exist unless East should happen to have a high honor therein.

Looked at from this angle, East's play is to overtake the eight of Spades with the nine, and shift to the Queen of Hearts, on which East will play the encouraging six.

It makes no difference how whether or not South refuses to take the trick. The Heart will be continued, and although both the Club and Diamond finesses are successful, East and West must make five Spades, three Hearts and a Club trick, holding North and South to one odd.

CROP REPORTS FROM VANCOUVER ISLAND

Conditions Reviewed by Officials Of Provincial Department Of Agriculture

The following reports on agricultural conditions on Vancouver Island are issued by the Provincial Department:

VANCOUVER ISLAND

Southern Districts and Gulf Islands

July has been warm and dry, particularly during the latter part. The precipitation during July was only .63 of an inch, which was 37 inch below the average. The hours of sunshine were above the average.

All garden crops are ripening very fast and cutting of Fall wheat and oats has commenced.

Pasture is becoming very dried up.

Root crops are progressing fairly satisfactorily, but a good shower of rain would help considerably.

The loganberry crop is past the peak, but picking will probably continue for another two weeks.

Sweet cherries are about over, but Olivets are just beginning to move.

Early apples are on the market and late varieties are sizing well.

COMOX VALLEY

During July, for the first week, the weather was quite changeable, there being some days quite cool with rain, but there were also some very hot days.

Crop Conditions—A large acreage of hay has been cut, which in some of the smaller places has either been stacked or hauled into the barns. The quality of hay in good sunny places this year is above the average, some very nice green hay being harvested. Oats are now being cut for hay in some cases. The drier places, the oats are now just beginning to turn yellow in some cases on the moister lands the oats have obtained a height of from 4 1-2 to 5 feet and show promise of a very good yield. There are also the prospects of a very good yield of wheat and barley. Both Spring and Fall wheat are now well out in head and with favorable weather should yield a very good crop. There are some very good crops of mangels in various places around the country. Where turnips were planted too early, they have been hit very badly with the turnip flea-beetle, but some of the later plantings have more or less escaped injury from this pest.

Quite a lot of potatoes, carrots, onions and beets are now being harvested locally. Raspberries are fairly well over, but some very good loganberries are still coming in. The local market is now well supplied with all kinds of vegetables.

Livestock—The sheep survey for the northern part of Vancouver Island has been fairly well completed. The calves and pigs in the various sows and the ton litters have been checked over and for the most part are doing very well. A number of beef bulls have been shipped out of the district to Northern Central British Columbia and to some of the Islands.

A great deal more attention has been given to the testing of dairy cattle throughout the district. Some cases of tuberculosis have been noted, but wherever found the cattle have been destroyed. It is now felt that T.B. in this district is well under control.

H. S. FRENCH,
District Agriculturist.

OBITUARY

The death occurred in Vancouver yesterday of Mrs. Mary Harris, wife of John Harris, of Nanaimo. Death came at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Paull, after a lengthy illness.

The late Mrs. Harris was eighty-three years of age, and was a native of Cumberland, England, having resided in Nanaimo and district for the past twenty-six years, and, besides her husband, is survived by one son, Jack, and four daughters, Mrs. George Wilkinson, Victoria; Mrs. Arthur Paull, Mrs. Fred Andrews and Mrs. Frank J. Ward, all of Vancouver.

The funeral will take place in Vancouver on Friday afternoon, interment in the Ocean View Cemetery.

"Don't you know you will be punished for fishing on Sunday?" said a shocked minister of a little boy on the river bank. "No," replied the young angler. "Dad's fishing a little way down the stream!"

NANAIMO FIVE ACRE COMMUNITY REVOLTS AGAINST CITY'S PLAN

NANAIMO, Aug. 7.—The largest and most demonstrative meeting ever held in the Five Acre community took place in the grounds in the Harewood Central School last evening to protest against the proposed dumping of garbage on the old cricket field.

Amongst the objections voiced by those present were the following: That all property in the neighborhood would be immediately depreciated. That it would become a breeding place for rats and a menace to the health of the small children who play there. That the fumes from the dump and incinerator would be most objectionable, and that if salt water disposal was to be the ultimate solution of the disposal of garbage why not facilitate it at once?

Points also raised were that if for any reason, such as a change of policy on the part of the new council, the work of building up the new field were stopped the last state of the field would be worse than the present; and that if the Cat stream were cleaned out the drainage problem would be solved.

It was also asked by an old resident that a system of tile drainage had been put in several years ago and while some of it was not functioning at the present time, much of it was, and that if another five or six feet of covering was put on it would be impossible to repair it, which would result in a general flood condition.

Another speaker wondered how the city residents would feel if the provincial ratepayers bought a few lots in the city and used them for dumping purposes.

A petition to be presented to the City Council is being circulated for signature by the ratepayers of the community and is being signed in large numbers.

Duncan Utilities Plan Approved by Council Of North Cowichan

DUNCAN, Aug. 7.—At yesterday's meeting of the North Cowichan Council, approval was given to plans submitted by the Duncan Utilities Limited, for the creation of six miles of electrical transmission lines through municipal lands in the Chemainus district. This line will be a link in one connecting the company's plants at Nanaimo and Duncan, and will also permit the sale of electrical energy to an area not now served. The company will commence work on this line immediately.

MARKET SOUGHT FOR AUSTRALIA

Exporter's Representative Tells of Possible Reciprocal Trade

LIQUOR BOARD IS BUYER

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7.—Wine is one product of Australia that Canadians should be ready to buy in larger quantities in the interests of Empire trade and the balancing of trade between Canada and Australia with the danger of injuring Canadian industry; also because it is good wine and good value always, says H. E. Laffer, overseas representative of the Australian wine exporters.

Mr. Laffer is on his way to London, where he will make his headquarters. He plans to make regular visits to Canada, probably twice a year.

RECIPROCAL TRADE

Australia is anxious to increase the reciprocal trade between the Dominions, Mr. Laffer said. Lumber, fish, paper, pulp and any other Canadian product can be used in even greater quantities than at present, and in return Australia wishes to sell Canadians her wine dried fruits, fresh oranges and other commodities.

Australian wines, he points out go to the world's best market in cases supplied by British Columbia and oranges go in British Columbia paper wrappers and British Columbia boxes.

Any suggestion that Australian wine might compete with British Columbia loganberry wine or other Canadian wines is altogether wrong, Mr. Laffer said. The Australian wines are in quite a different class and cater for quite a different trade.

INSTEAD OF FRENCH WINES

"There is no desire on the part of the Australian wine trade to compete with home products. On the other hand, there is much in which we might be mutually helpful. What we desire is a fair share of Canadian trade in wine, at present bought from other countries. We have the goods right at your front door, ready to supply all demands," he said.

Arrangements have been made with the British Columbia Liquor Control Board to maintain stocks of representative Australian wines in all their liquor stores, Mr. Laffer announced. Australia will carry out a programme of advertising and other methods to make Canadians acquainted with the excellence of her product.

DURANT MOTORS TO BE REORGANIZED AND FORM NEW ALLIANCE

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 7.—Complete reorganization of Durant Motors, Inc., and its alliance with unidentified European automotive interests were announced today by William C. Durant, founder of the company, following a visit of several days here.

Three executives, who formerly were prominently identified with Dodge Brothers, will retire.

Another announcement detailing further reorganization changes and the expansion move of the company is expected from Mr. Durant next week.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER CLOSES CHICAGO MILL; TRANSFERS TO CANADA

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 — The International Paper Company has closed its recently acquired Paper Products Company mill in Chicago and has transferred the newsprint tonnage to the Gatineau and Three Rivers mills of the Canadian International Paper Company in the Province of Quebec, Canada. The closing of the Chicago plant, which has an annual capacity of more than 30,000 tons of newsprint and specialties, is the seventh instance this year of the transfer of newsprint tonnage from an International Plant in the United States to the company's Canadian mill.

Dalhousie Strikes Big Flow of Gas at No. 7, Calgary Says

VANCOUVER, Aug. 7—Dalhousie No. 7, at 735 feet in the lime and a total depth of 2,325 feet, struck a gas flow conservatively estimated at 10,000,000 feet, according to advices from Calgary today. At about the same time Home No. 5, 380 feet in the lime, struck a heavy gas burst. Drilling is continuing in both wells.

TORONTO MINING NEWS

(Miller, Court & Co., Ltd.)

TORONTO, Aug. 7. — Trading turned somewhat softer on the Standard Exchange with the volume of sales and scope of trading lighter on Tuesday, with a turnover of 201,687 shares and losses outnumbering gains by a comparatively wide margin. Twenty-four issues tapered downward as compared with 17 that registered gains and could bearish surroundings.

The first drill hole put down by Bunker Hill extension on the Lochaerty property at Sudbury, held under option, has been completed and the drill is being moved to a new setup.

It was reported yesterday that the July production of Barry Hollinger Mines was approximately $22,000. The mines has been set to the 750 foot level where station cutting has been completed. Crosscutting is now under way from the level to intersect the vein on which the mines was sunk.

The increase in output of copper, gold, silver, lead, so far during the current year, is a concrete evidence of the forward march of the Canadian mining industry. During the first five months of the current year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows the production of copper to have increased 40,800,000 pounds, gold to have increased 30,800 ounces, silver 2,500,000 ounces, nickel 1,300,000 pounds, zinc 14,500,000 pounds lead 1,300,000 pounds.

BIG ONION STORAGE BUILDING AT VERNON

VERNON, B.C. Aug. 7.—A frost-proof onion storage where 750 ton may be held is under construction by the Vernon Fruit Union. Half the space in the top floor of this large packing house is being converted and the storage will be available for holding onions now in the field.

BROKERS LOANS

WASHINGTON Aug. 7.—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve Bank for the week ending August 6 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $2,204,000,000, representing a decrease of $14,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

Lignite Field in Ontario Contains 100,000,000 Tons

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 7.—Latest advices from the Ontario Government's lignite coal field around Onaskawana indicates deposits now available there for mining of at least 100,000,000 tons. Reports will soon be received by the Government on the test shipments on coal which were made to Germany, to Dakota and to the Ontario research foundation.

ARGENTINA SENDING TRADE AMBASSADORS

Party Will Come to British Columbia on Journey East Across Dominion

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—A better understanding of Canada with a view to mutually beneficial trade relations is the aim of a party of Argentinians who will visit the Dominion next month.

At least a dozen of the group, representing business and economic interests, will journey eastward from the Pacific coast and will be present as invited guests at the Boards of Trade convention in Toronto, September 7-8.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FIRST

Under the leadership of Andrew A. Estranda, editorial writer and representative of La Nacion of Buenos Aires. The party left New York today to attend the Pan-American reciprocal trade conference opening at Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 25. Upon conclusion of that gathering the South Americans will make their Canadian tour, starting in British Columbia.

Wheat production and marketing along with trade possibilities in fruit and wines will receive major attention of the Argentinians.

NOT LIKE CANADA

"Of course we have studied your wheat farming methods and co-operative schemes for years," said Mr. Estrada. "Argentina can scarcely hope to imitate Canada, for 85 per cent of our wheat farmers are not owners of their land."

Asked if he foresaw any future arrangements between Canada and Argentina whereby production and world marketing would receive joint attention of the two great wheat-producing countries, Mr. Estrada declared that any plan to control the wheat trade with Europe must come only after a good understanding.

The ambassadors of trade, as Mr. Estrada termed his party, will pay great attention in Canada to possibilities of the fruit trade with the Dominion, and to any market for Argentina's wine exports.

OLD BATTLE FLAGS MENDED

Restoring old battle flags to a semblance of their former beauty is a new vocation recently taken up by Mrs. M. Astrobus of London. Eight tattered flags, which had been through many engagements, come being a mass of fragments with none of the original colors, were put in such condition that they looked like new from a short distance. The flags were encased in hand-woven nets and the original design repainted in the net.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

AND SO A TOWN WAS BORN

The engineer in the motor-boat pointed to a densely timbered slope on Burrard Inlet.

"There's a good spot," he said. So the party got out and looked around. They hoped the engineer was right, for they had been cruising about the Sound north of Vancouver seeking a site for a new oil refinery.

And the engineer was right. A few months later the slope had been cleared, a great industrial plant had been erected and around it sprang a city of smug new homes. It was called Ioco.

Ioco happened sixteen years ago. It was the second of Imperial Oil's refineries. Four others have been built since—at Imperoyal, N.S., Montreal East, Calgary and Regina. They have been built in order to meet new demands for gasoline and lubrication.

For the fifty years since it began, Imperial Oil has been meeting these new needs of transportation and industry.

Because it has met each one with fresh effort and new perfection, Imperial has grown from one small plant at Sarnia, Ontario, to its six great refineries—its ships on the Atlantic and the Pacific—its miles of tank cars—its nine thousand men across the world, from the Arctic to Peru.

Fifty years of constant enterprise are in the products Imperial Oil sells today.

Son of the Gods

CHAPTER XXIX.

Alanna Wagner's strength returned slowly and she was too weak to take interest in anything, her efforts to recuperate were spiritless and perfunctory and in consequence she was something of a disappointment to herself and a very real source of worry to her father.

He had purposely avoided all reference to the happenings on that night when her illness had reached its crisis, for he did not like to recall them and he prayed devoutly that they would never become known to her; therefore he was immensely disturbed when she impulsively told him one day that she considered it a pretty mean trick on Sam Lee's part to bring her back to life after she had so agreeably passed out.

Wagner learned by judicious questioning that one of the nurses had let her tongue wag, so he discharged her and determined to have a heart-to-heart talk with his daughter as soon as it was safe to do so.

Such an opportunity occurred this evening. He waited for a few weak repeated preliminaries leading up to the subject, by assuring her that he realized remedy how matters stood between her and Sam Lee. He was deeply sympathetic but it was a hopeless situation and she must make up her mind to face it.

"There's absolutely nothing to be done and you're merely making yourself miserable by brooding over this fellow."

"Something could be done," she told him listlessly, "if I had the courage of a whippoorwill."

"What?"

"Precious jelly fish, I could shut my eyes and marry him. I wish I had the girls beat—jelly fish don't have girls, do they? Nothing to hold it in."

"You couldn't even do that, not after what I'm going to tell you. I hate to shock and disappoint you, and it sounds awfully hackneyed to say he isn't worthy of you, but it's true. He's a rotter. He has gone to smash. He's a dissolute, dissipated—"

"Darling! You tempt me to defy the world."

"I got the surprise of my life that night I went looking for him. I admways figured he had some pride and decency. I assumed he was a Chinese gentleman, whatever that may be, but he isn't. D'you know where I found him? In a Filipino dance hall! The most terrible place I ever saw."

"Yes! Where? Tell me about it."

Wagner acceded willingly enough to this request. In consideration detail he described not only that place in the Riverside Drive, as he called it, but also the other haunts he had visited in company with Sam's valet. The picture he painted was vivid enough; Alanna listened with interest. When he had finished she astounded her father by saying:

"I wonder if it's any worse than some I've been in. Have you seen those colored dance halls in Harlem?"

"Did—you go?" Wagner gasped.

"Yes. I went everywhere; tried everything, but it didn't work Sam's doing the same! I know all about him. I hear every day."

"How does I jump at conclusions. I haven't spoken to him and I don't intend to."

"Then how—?"

"He asked a friend to telephone me and report to him on my condition. He couldn't do any less, could he? Well, I got on the wire finally—she's a girl he grew up with—and we've become good pals. She was here to see me this afternoon. I think she's in love with him, too, so we have plenty to talk about."

After a moment Wagner said more calmly and with a real sincerity of feeling:

"I'm awfully sorry, dear. You don't know how miserable it makes me to see you unhappy. But—what are we going to do about it? Nothing, I wish I could help you break the thing up, but—"

"I broke it up once, in the only way possible." Alanna smiled forlornly, but you and Sam spoiled it. Let's not talk any more about it. Run along now, and amuse yourself. Please."

"The father began a protest but she insisted. "Toddle off to your club or go and see the second act of some show. I'm tired and I'd rather be alone. Honestly!"

"Very well." Wagner stooped and kissed the thin, listless face of his daughter. "I'd like to help you fight it out, if I could and if you'd let me."

For a while Alanna tried to read, but the book was heavy; her eyelids were heavy, too, and her brain was weary. She was tired all over and yet the doctor pronounced her well.

Her telephone rang and with an effort she lifted it. Eileen Cassidy was calling her but in such a flutter of excitement that Alanna did not at first recognize her voice. Even then it was hard to understand her. Speaking of insanity, this Cassidy girl was plainly cracked, mad as a hatter: there was no sense at all to what she was saying. A while ago! Sam a white man? The poor child was daft: hysterical, too, for her voice was shrill, she was laughing and choking and her words fairly piled up on the wire. Sam was not Lee Ying's son! The old Chinese importer was not his father——!

No, Eileen was probably all right. It was merely her own reason that had fled.

Alanna clung dimly to the instrument; her mouth burned dry and she could utter nothing except broken and inadequate sounds; her ears began to roar until she completely lost what was being said to her.

"Wait! Please——" she managed to gasp. "I don't understand half of it. Say it over again, s'owly."

"Sam is an adopted child or exactly that. Anyhow he isn't Lee Ying's son."

"I——can't believe it. How do you know?"

"It's the strangest thing. No wonder you think I'm raving. Well, a relative of mother's came to see us tonight. he's here now. His name is Daly. Peter Daly, and he knew your father when he was a Police Inspector in San Francisco. You see Lee Ying came from there and Cousin Peter knew him, too. He says Sam was a foundling. Lee Ying picked him up on his doorstep when he was no bigger than your thumb. There's no mistake about it. That explains everything, doesn't it? I mean about Sam's looks and——. . . . Hello! Hello!"

"Yes."

"Did you hear?"

"I think so. When does he say—Sam? Why hasn't he told me?"

"He doesn't know. I called his house a minute ago and he's out. Yes, I called you."

"Are you——sure?"

"About the news? Good Heavens, yes! That's why I'm so frantic to find him tonight. Peter's sailing the first thing in the morning and it would be dreadful——Sam's off hitting it up somewhere, I suppose. No telling when he'll be back; maybe not until late; maybe not at all. He ought to know right away."

"Yes. Yes, of course. Father must know, too. . . . Could you come up here right away and tell him? I——I'm shaking so I can't hold on——"

Alanna did not remember who had the last word because her control she completely lost control of her emotions she laughed and she cried, she stuttered and she choked; she found herself gabbling wildly at his telephone even after she had replaced the receiver on its hook.

That mental upheaval did not last long, but it served to galvanize her into action. Before her old self she began to dress for the street almost before she realized why. Tears were still flowing and she was talking aloud when she broke her mirror, and pulled her hat down. Sam was white! Sam gallantry had ended. She'd find him. He was probably at that place on Riverside Drive and, thanks to her father, she knew exactly where it was. She must hurry! Why did those tears keep streaming? Being in cry about now. Why, she was a poor wet sponge. Out all night making whoopee with those damned bad girls, eh? Indeed, she'd snatch him away if she had to wreck the place. It wouldn't be the first time she. Yes, and if he ever dared to touch another girl, she—she'd fix him. The dissolute wretch! The darling! Who were these female warriors who rode out and seized their men and brought them in across their saddles? Amazons!

Her father's circumstantial descriptions of that Asiatic cud enabled her to find it without difficulty and she was admitted readily enough when she arrived there. The smiling Oriental on the door told her that Sam Lee was inside.

From the floor above came a babel of voices and the sounds of a restless, moving crowd. There was a reception room at the right of the entrance hall which was now used as a smoking lounge, and there several Filipinos were grouped around a white girl; they were talking animatedly. Alanna paused in the doorway and looked in; they turned eager faces towards her and when she moved on towards the stairway a couple of them followed her.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

MENTAL BARNACLES

The road to progress is uphill and unpleasant. It is much easier to drift or stroll along the well-trodden trails of the past than to blow a new way into the unknown.

We always try to avoid new problems of thinking. Every new thing has been condemned in its day and procrastination by those who did not adjust themselves to the new demand for the unknown.

"I must see him at once. Tell me where he is."

"What you come here for? Maybe you representing Police Department? Everything here is conducted excellently."

"No, no! I'm a friend of Mr. Lee's and I must speak to him."

"But—Well, I think you see him tonight."

"But I'm sure he's here. The man at the door just told me——"

"Mister Sam Lee is not here."

This conversation had been carried on not without difficulty, for Alanna's Filipino admirers were insistent and they continually interrupted her; other patrons, too, were attracted by her appearance for she was pretty, she was young, she was new. Several men, not all of whom were Filipinos, spoke to her, there sprang up an eager rivalry for her favor; Alanna was accustomed to servility from Asiatic men, but these fellows were anything but servile, they were not even polite; they almost fought over her, and she was crowded this way and that, they were intemperate in look, in speech and in action and a strange drunkenness possessed them. She began to feel utterly helpless and more than a little bit frightened. The proprietor was plainly suspicious of her and her appeals only evoked a shrug; he gave her to understand that she could either behave herself in a becoming and agreeable manner or get out. Then he made off.

Her heart was pounding horribly and it hurt her. She wanted to leave and all these grinning faces she was growing faint, too, and there was no breath in her lungs. But she couldn't faint here. The very thought terrified her. What a fool she had been to come here; she should have sent her father or Wales——A wave of sickness rose and threatened to overwhelm her but she fought it down. If she lost consciousness here, what would happen?

In desperation she stretched herself higher and looked over the crowd. She saw Sam almost at once; he was coming down the stairs from the floor above, but her thin cry was lost in the hubbub. He paused to light a cigarette and at that moment the music stopped. Alanna screamed his name again and pushed towards him. But her knees bent, her bones were like rope and her strength was feeble.

Never mind, he had heard her; he was charging in her direction, causing couples aside, spinning them out of his way. She could see the top of his head growing dumb and that black wave was rolling over her again.

No need to fight it down. Sam was coming. . . . The room, the world was revolving; it was falling away and she was being drawn upward higher she was borne. Nice and comfortable up there riding on a cloud with Sam. Nothing to worry about with his arms around her . . . Alanna sighed in exquisite contentment.

MENTAL BARNACLES

The road to progress is uphill and unpleasant. It is much easier to drift or stroll along the well-trodden trails of the past than to blow a new way into the unknown.

We always try to avoid new problems of thinking. Every new thing has been condemned in its day and procrastination by those who did not adjust themselves to the new demand for the unknown.

"I must see him at once. Tell me where he is."

"What you come here for? Maybe you representing Police Department? Everything here is conducted excellently."

"No, no! I'm a friend of Mr. Lee's and I must speak to him."

"But—Well, I think you see him tonight."

"But I'm sure he's here. The man at the door just told me——"

"Mister Sam Lee is not here."

This conversation had been carried on not without difficulty, for Alanna's Filipino admirers were insistent and they continually interrupted her; other patrons, too, were attracted by her appearance for she was pretty, she was young, she was new. Several men, not all of whom were Filipinos, spoke to her, there sprang up an eager rivalry for her favor; Alanna was accustomed to servility from Asiatic men, but these fellows were anything but servile, they were not even polite; they almost fought over her, and she was crowded this way and that, they were intemperate in look, in speech and in action and a strange drunkenness possessed them. She began to feel utterly helpless and more than a little bit frightened. The proprietor was plainly suspicious of her and her appeals only evoked a shrug; he gave her to understand that she could either behave herself in a becoming and agreeable manner or get out. Then he made off.

Her heart was pounding horribly and it hurt her. She wanted to leave and all these grinning faces she was growing faint, too, and there was no breath in her lungs. But she couldn't faint here. The very thought terrified her. What a fool she had been to come here; she should have sent her father or Wales——A wave of sickness rose and threatened to overwhelm her but she fought it down. If she lost consciousness here, what would happen?

In desperation she stretched herself higher and looked over the crowd. She saw Sam almost at once; he was coming down the stairs from the floor above, but her thin cry was lost in the hubbub. He paused to light a cigarette and at that moment the music stopped. Alanna screamed his name again and pushed towards him. But her knees bent, her bones were like rope and her strength was feeble.

Never mind, he had heard her; he was charging in her direction, causing couples aside, spinning them out of his way. She could see the top of his head growing dumb and that black wave was rolling over her again.

No need to fight it down. Sam was coming. . . . The room, the world was revolving; it was falling away and she was being drawn upward higher she was borne. Nice and comfortable up there riding on a cloud with Sam. Nothing to worry about with his arms around her . . . Alanna sighed in exquisite contentment.

CHINESE IS CHARGED WITH THEFT OF MONEY

Joe Wah was charged in the city police court yesterday with having stolen from another Chinese, Jue Hom. The amount taken from the latter's store was $10 in cash and a cheque for $80. The allegation is that the cheque was found in the clothes of the accused. The cash was not found.

After the case had been called in court, R. C. Lane was communicated with by the friends of the accused and arrived in court without instructions relative to the case. On his request a remand was granted until Saturday in order of the preparation of the defence. This was granted by the magistrate. Bail was fixed at $1000.

The case as outlined by C. L. Harrison for the prosecution set out that it was supposed that someone, presumably the accused, secreted himself in the store of Jue Hom and extracted the money after the latter left.

GIANT CANDLE IN DUBLIN

Nearly 100,000 people gathered at the Church of the Oblate Fathers, in Dublin, Ireland, recently, when the Roman Catholic Bishop of Dublin blessed a new shrine, to be known as "The Irish Lourdes." The bishop lighted a candle, eight feet long, which was subscribed for by the poor of the district, and is said to be the largest ever made in Ireland. The choir at the ceremony consisted of 1,000 children.

a Purveyor of Health

DR. DANIEL E. HODGEN, an eminent physician, says that Beer is a valuable Food for Health, Strength and Vitality; because it is easily digested and assimilates quickly, nourishes and invigorates the system.

The use of Beer is to be encouraged, not only as an aid to digestion, because it tends to increase the flow of digestive fluids and because of its highly nourishing reaction without any deleterious effects upon the human system.

The ingredients of Beer are properly prepared. They are guaranteed to be absolutely pure. To safeguard the public there are constantly tested by Analytical Chemists employed by the B.C. Liquor Control Board.

For sale in all Government Liquor Stores and Beer Parlors.

LEADERSHIP
··· SINCE 1740

EVERY industry has its leader—some one outstanding success—a product that sets the standard. In Scotch Whisky its "White Horse."

"White Horse" is composed only of the choicest makes of Scotch Whisky. These are matured for years in sherry wood; expertly blended—then put in the wood again to become properly "married." After a further period in wood "White Horse" is bottled and shipped to far corners of the earth.

The care, knowledge, experience and reputation of nearly two centuries are confined in every bottle of "White Horse."

A more genial, mellow and delightful whisky does not exist.

Corn Belt Railway Stocks Lead Decline in New York; Bonds Continue Advancing

NEW YORK, Aug. 7—Stocks and grains continued to move generally in opposite directions today, although corn and wheat, meeting extensive realizing in the late decline on the Chicago market, closed fractionally lower. Shares were heavy, most of the day and business of the Stock Exchange was highly professional. The bearish sentiment that has expressed itself in declining stock prices this week is generally traced to the failure of business to develop favorable symptoms.

Liquidation of the Western railroad stocks was the exception to the grain carriers through crop losses. Southern Railway and Norfolk and Western were particularly weak, both breaking to new lows. The former at 80 1-8 touched its lowest price since 1928, while Rock Island's minimum of 81 1-2 was the lowest since 1927. Both stocks, with Atchison, lost 4 points net. A few other rail issues were depressed.

Net declines elsewhere in the list were small with few exceptions. Chrysler Copper Cos. off 1½ points, United Chemical off 6 and Eastman Kodak off 4. American Water Works, American Power & Light and J. I. Case closed about 2 points lower. There were losses of 4 point or so in Corn Products, Standard Gas, North American, American Can, Warner Bros. and Radio Corporation.

Foreign exchanges mostly eased, although the French franc held stead.

Are You Profiting from Present Conditions in the Bond Market?

The full effect of existing low rates for money has not yet been felt in the bond market. ¶ Present market conditions are therefore exceptionally favourable to the bond investor, both from the standpoint of yield and some capital appreciation. We shall be glad to suggest suitable selections from the representative issues in our offering list.

Rally Failure Reveals Story Says Whitney

(Brenton, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Whitney, of Wall Street, Financial Times, says: The absolute refusal of today to engage in a rally at a point where it should have occurred simply shows us that accumulation orders have failed to make their appearance when they should. In a market under a greater degree of manipulation than the present one any such performance would be termed a failure in the respronsch in a reactionary movement to a critical point failed to produce the type of rally which loses no time in getting it's way from a dangerous place for it to be in.

In the present type of market, however, the manipulation aspect calls for some qualification of this idea. In that the very lack of it in the past six weeks or so has not generated some of the financial dangers that accompany a market which has been in a manipulative advance for a corresponding period.

The conclusion to be drawn from this is that while we have on our hands what can be called a market failure, I hardly expect it to produce any radical type of decline which has on so many occasions in the past followed a comparable occurrence I believe that when we are actually confronted with is some additional deferment of action in the general tone list until much time as we have had a further opportunity to clear up the tail-end news of the business decline.

It is true that some of the features of this decline have already exhausted themselves on the downside, the most notable example of which is the wheat market, which after registering a low point within a fraction of a cent from the 43-cent level where a bottom was predicted here two months ago, has shown us in no uncertain manner that it is all through going down.

Other culminating phases of commodity and business decline will join the wheat situation in lifting their pressure from the securities market. Some more time, however, will be needed, and of course the market will have to do something in the interval. What I believe it will do is, in the general list, to recede mildly to somewhat lower points, and in the case of particular groups go considerably lower before the business turn becomes definitely established.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7—There was a halt today in the wheat advance but this was not indicative of any particular change in the situation. Profit taking was heavy, and while there was a good general buying demand there was sold off from high points as many traders with good profits accepted them. In general speculative opinion had not changed much and the entire situation has taken a different color from that of a week ago. Canadian reports suggest that some adverse estimates may come from that quarter, Miss Cora Hind, one of the best known Canadian experts, finding a deplorable situation covering 3,000,000 acres in Saskatchewan. Canadian officials express the view that with estimates running from 225 to 400 million bushels, the final outcome is likely to nearer the lower figure. Rail is still a factor, as much wheat will not be safe for some time to come.

Liverpool kept its recent margin with the market closing 3 to 3 1-8 higher.

Primaries were 3,196,000 against 4,614,000 a year ago. The total run was 171 due estimated with 156,000 bushels shipped. Country acceptance was light.

Export business is quiet, buyers still holding waiting for markets to settle down a bit, as the situation has been rapid and some backing and filling is to be expected, but we continue to favor the buying side on setbacks.

Corn was higher early but reacted, there being free selling for profits. The cash demand was checked by the big advance, and on the other hand the country was selling more freely. Bookings were about 330,000 bushels. Receipts were 74 cars with primary arrivals 336,000 bushels, against 620,000 a year ago.

The weather map showed fair rains in eastern Nebraska, northern Iowa and South Dakota but not much elsewhere. The general trend of crop reports was pessimistic, although with good rains immediately ahead in many sections could still make a fair crop. However, the situation is critical and until after the government report we think the market will be strong, with purchases on the setbacks for quick turns.

Oats reacted with other grains from early tops. Cash demand was fair and offerings moderate. Receipts were 336 cars estimated with primary receipts 648,000 against 972,000 a year ago. On dips we look for good buying.

Rye was very strong early, with difficulty in buying round a few thousand. Rye is still low. The European crop is a little short of last year's.

COPPER FROM U.S.A. IS NOT NOW REQUIRED

New Era Opens in Manufacture of Copper Products in Ontario

CANADIANS FORMERLY PAID HANDICAP PRICE

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

A new era in the manufacture of copper products in Canada was inaugurated a few days ago when the Ontario Refining Company, limited, at Buffalo, received a substantial order for copper from the firmes of Phillips Electrical Works, Ltd., of Montreal and Brockville. Mr. Frank Toronzo remarks that for many years past this company and others have been forced to purchase the greater part of their supply of copper metal in the United States, where refiners charged them the export copper price, which is 30 cents per cwt. higher than the domestic price. No duty has been imposed on copper coming into Canada for the manufacture of electrical equipment, but the 1928 budget gave the Government power to fix a tariff if they wished to do so.

The Phillips Company has for many years purchased a large amount of refined copper from Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., but has not heretofore been able to secure its full supply in Canada. In addition to saving the difference between the foreign and the domestic. Canadian fabricators should be able to benefit by reduced freight charges to their plants from Buffalo and later from Montreal. Within the next few years, probably, even more refined metal will be found situated in close proximity to the sites of the refineries.

In regard to the Ontario Refining Company plant at Buffalo, it is of interest to note that the holdings of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. consist of 42.1-2 per cent each, instead of 40 per cent as originally stated, the additional 5 per cent having been purchased from Ventures, Limited, earlier in the year. Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company still retains a 10 per cent interest.

Ontario and Quebec mines have produced large quantities of copper ore, but bilumerio it has been sent to the United States to be refined.

Money at Work

Earning—Saving—Investing

They are never both found in the same security!

There are three big factors in every investment: (1) Marketability; (2) safety; and (3) income. Look for them.

It is common for people to ask for security which is absolutely safe, but, as to principal and income, they want marketable, with a high interest rate. There aren't any such investments.

The best bonds are safe, income is assured and they are readily marketable, but they have a low yield.

If you are investing for a long time and are willing to give up a quick market, a higher yield can be obtained. Also, if you want less safety, a higher yield can be found.

Safety, marketability and income are all important. They determine the price securities. Figure out which you want. You can't get all three combined in one security.

PROFIT SALES HALT ADVANCE IN WINNIPEG

Further Advance of Four Cents Encounters Heavy Liquidation

FIFTEEN CENT RISE LEADS TO CASHING-IN

(Brenton, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 7.—The wheat market was extremely erratic today and gave a poor exhibition of a bull market, which was perhaps only natural following the advance made this week. Prices at the start were forced 3 1-8 to 4 1-8 higher, with the outside public coming into the market on a much broader scale than for many months, but the advance of over 15 cents since Monday morning to the highest this morning could not be ignored by those who had accumulated wheat around the low points and on the scale up, and very heavy liquidation in Prices broke sharply, losing all the early gains and getting to half cent under the close last night. The weakness in corn and the coarse grains was also a factor in the break of wheat.

The weather was clearer over Western Canada with high temperatures the past twenty-four hours, running into the 90's in southern areas of the three provinces. Not much rain is in sight although better prospects will be a little lower. There was some precipitation in the corn belt and where received it will relieve the situation. Cash wheat basis at least, and lower temperatures are promised. This led to profit taking in corn by longs.

There was only a very small trade in the cash market, buyers refusing to follow the strength in the futures. While offerings were still light, early spreads were unchanged to half lower.

There was a fair export business worked, yesterday afternoon but very little done over night. There was no improvement in the export demand for flour. There was a recovery near the close from low levels and the market closed 1-4 to 3-4 higher. Today's reaction downward was only natural and we look for the market to work higher. We would not go short on wheat.

Coarse grain markets were very weak, especially oats and rye. The weakness in corn led to some profit liquidation in the coarse grains, which found very ordinary support, while the cash demand was light and without features. Oats closed 3 5-8 to 3 1-4 lower; barley 1 5-8 to 1 1-4 lower, and rye 3 1-8 to 3 1-2 lower.

Flax was heavy and weak, closing from 6 to 6 points lower. Liquidation in evidence with crushers showing interest.

Liverpool due 3 3-8 to 1 3-8 lower based on Winnipeg.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged early today. Nearby duty free were available at 2.20, while later arrivals were offered at 2.22, with Cuban soldiers asking 2.25. Buyers showed no interest and no sales were reported.

Refined sugar was unchanged with all refiners selling at 4.90 for fine granulated, but we announced yesterday some will advance to 4.60 at the opening tomorrow. The fact that this latter announcement was not made by all the local refiners seemed to restrict fresh business and orders placed were for nearby requirements only.

BIG N.Y. BANK GIVES VIEW OF PRICE OUTLOOK

Depression in United States Ascribed to Low Farming Profits

HUGE SURPLUS FROM 1928 CROP REDUCED

The National City Bank of New York has issued an analysis of the authoritative review of present economic conditions in the United States and in other related countries. This review traces the present industrial depression in the United States mainly to the low prices of farm products, and thus, in turn, it ascribes to the increased acreage brought under cultivation during the war as a result of the high prices then prevailing. The outlook for future prices is then considered. The introductory summary of the latter analysis in part, as follows:

Although a lengthy period of industrial expansion, largely built upon sanguine anticipations of the country's needs in the future, naturally involves a subsequent interval for readjustments, there is abundant warrant for saying that the weak spot at this time is not primarily to be looked for in the fields commonly distinguished from agriculture, but in the matter of country herself. Pessimism is due in large degree to the low prices of farm products than to anything regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the preferred was declared payable September 1 to shareholders of August 18, record.

G.T. SHAREHOLDERS CONSIDER NEW MOVE

May Sue in United States Courts, Claiming Title to C.N.R. Lines in That Country

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—British holders of the first and perpetual preference stocks of the Grand Trunk are considering entering action in the United States courts to have title to the Canadian National lines in the United States vested in them on the ground that they were illegally acquired by the Canadian Government. R. C. Hawkin, of London, chairman of the perpetual stockholders' committee, said here today.

Mr. Hawkin said Representative Fiorello M. Deck, of Pennsylvania, former Solicitor-General of the United States, has been retained by the Grand Trunk stockholders to study the claim, and any action taken will likely be based on his advice. Mr. Hawkin, who will leave for Ottawa shortly, said he would endeavor to discuss with the new Bennett Government the claims of Grand Trunk Railway shareholders.

The Grand Trunk stockholders committee, Mr. Hawkin said, had published an opinion by J. Arthur Dean of the United States now of London, on their rights under United States law. Mr. Hawkin's opinion is that the proceedings under which the first and second preference stockholders were struck off the register at the amalgamation and their shares transferred to the Canadian Government were not legal under the United States law. Mr. Hawkin contended the owners' rights to any property of the Grand Trunk Railway in the United States.

The preference stockholders made no agreement to accept the arbitration plan of the Drayton-Acworth and our perpetual rights were not considered at the arbitration or before the Privy Council or in the application for a fiat.

The Comfortable Way to Travel

So infinitely more pleasant, this modern way to go places. Bright, airy, quick and safe, you'll fall back in deeply-cushioned seats and watch the flying scenery as farms and towns roll by you. Not a jar or noise to disturb your reading or reverie. Men of steady nerves and long experience drive you carefully and surely. You'll like to travel by bus—it's so amazingly cheery and much cheaper.

We Operate on the Following Routes:

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

MEN KEEP LONG TRYST

Keeping a tryst started thirty-one years ago, four men met in Trafalgar Square, London, on a recent night. In 1899 six young decorative artists, H. E. Mansfield, G. MacDonald, G. Clifton, E. Pile, Brown and Edwards, were notified that the studio in which they worked was to be razed. They then made a vow to meet once a year. This year only Mansfield, MacDonald, Clifton and Pile were able to attend, but the two absent ones sent telegraphic greetings to their friends.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Mission Vessel for West Coast Will Be Dedicated Here on Sunday Afternoon

Named after a Presbyterian missionary who lost his life on the West Coast of Vancouver Island in 1904, a mission motor launch, the Melvin Swartout, will be dedicated at the C.P.R. wharf, Belleville Street, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, by members of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church of Canada. Rev. Hugh Nixon will conduct the service, and Dr. Sipprell, Rev. A. K. McMinn, ex-president of the British Columbia Conference in 1902, and Rev. W. R. Brown will take part.

Captain William Oliver a veteran of eighty years who has been active in marine mission work on the Pacific Coast for fifty years, and who designed and built the Melvin Swartout, will be present and also Rev. J. Dewar, the missionary in charge. The new vessel will sail out of Beanford and will be the seventh of a fleet of boats which patrol the Coast waters in service among the settlements, canneries, logging camps and Indian villages.

Rev. Melvin Swartout began mission work in Rupert District in 1902, with headquarters at Uclulet. Venturing out in a severe storm on his pastoral duties, he lost his life, his body not being found until three months afterward. Heroically undertaking her dead husband's duties, Mrs. Swartout carried on the work of the mission for a number of years.

NONSTOP FLIGHT TO HUNGARY IS PROPOSED

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 7.—Saint John is to be the hopping-off place for a nonstop ocean flight to Budapest, Hungary, which is expected to be essayed in the near future. Commissioner H. D. Spear under whose department the civic airport comes, has received a letter from promoters of the proposed flight, asking for information in regard to the airport here.

The letter is from Rev. Dr. E. P. Hamor, vice-president of the executive committee of the Hungarian-American ocean flight, who says he shipped from Canada to various European cities on August 4 with 164,000 gallons in July, 1929. Then, however, 74,000 gallons of "hard stuff" was exported to the United States through Canada and shipped during July this year.

Those exports to St. Pierre and Miquelon clear the situation. In July, 1929, when the Canadian Government permitted liquor to be sent to St. Pierre, United States, only 18,231 gallons were exported to these two French islands. Last month, however, the exports to St. Pierre and Miquelon jumped to 112,213 gallons, proving that the rum runners had changed their base.

LOSS $750,000

Ale and beer shipped to the United States in July, 1929, totaled 143,008 gallons, while last month this business dropped to 4,000 gallons, and Canadian brewers suffered. No gin was exported across the border last month, but in the July of the previous year 7,000 gallons were shipped.

It is estimated here that the Canadian Government loses the most best $750,000 in revenue as a result of the new barring liquor to the United States.

RUM RUNNERS DIVERT BASE TO ST. PIERRE

Figures Released Show No Liquor Exported to United States

LOSS OF REVENUE TO CANADA CONSIDERABLE

By CHARLES LYNCH

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News and Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—There were no declared exports of liquor to the United States last month according to official figures released here, but the big rum shipments that formerly crossed the International border have been diverted to the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. In other words, Canada has lived up to her bargain of prohibiting liquor exports to the United States, but the rum runners have solved the difficulty by using St. Pierre and Miquelon as the base of operations.

CLEAR THE SITUATION

As a matter of fact, last month 178,648 gallons of whisky were shipped from Canada to various European ocean flight, who says he shipped from Canada to various European cities in July, 1929. Then, however, 74,000 gallons of "hard stuff" was exported to the United States through Canada and shipped during July this year.

Those exports to St. Pierre and Miquelon clear the situation. In July, 1929, when the Canadian Government permitted liquor to be sent to St. Pierre, United States, only 18,231 gallons were exported to these two French islands. NEW DECORATION FOR THE FRENCH MARINE

Order Second Only to the Legion of Honor—Awards Will Be Limited

A new French Order of Merit, ranking second only to the Legion of Honor, has been created. The last formality was recently completed by the President of the Republic, who has signed the decree giving force to the new statute a short time ago.

The purpose of the new decoration, "The Maritime Order of Merit," is to encourage devoted service in the French merchant marine, and to strengthen the appreciation of the importance of merchants. Officers will help to develop the naval tradition amongst merchantmen. Thus, out of every awards made, seven are to go to officers of the French merchant and fishing fleets; two to ordinary citizens who have rendered distinguished service in the development of the merchant marine, and one to a member of the navy.

Nominees for the decoration must be thirty years of age, and must have served in the merchantile marine for at least fifteen years. But the new cross may also be awarded for heroism at sea or for very exceptional service. The number of awards in each year is limited to ten Commander Crosses, 100 Officers' Crosses, and 250 Chevaliers' Crosses.

RUTH ALEXANDER IN

With 300 passengers aboard, ninety of whom disembarked here, the Ss. Ruth Alexander, Pacific Steamship Company, docked at Ridley Park before midnight yesterday from California ports, and proceeded to Seattle at 2 o'clock this morning. For Victoria, the ship disembarked forty tons of general cargo.

PRESIDENT JACKSON DUE

Running on schedule, the American Mail liner President Jackson, Captain John Griffiths commander, inbound from the Orient, will berth at Ridley Park at 8 o'clock this evening, with 300 passengers in all aboard the vessel. The liner will proceed to Seattle at 1 o'clock. Early morning, arriving in the Sound city at 8 o'clock.

COTSWORTH AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Advocate of Calendar Reform Impresses Gathering at Empress

ASKS FOR RESOLUTIONS

Moses B. Cotsworth, one time resident of Victoria and an internationally known advocate of the simplification of the calendar on the basis of four week periods and thirteen months to the year, was the speaker at a joint luncheon meeting of the Canadian and Rotary Clubs at the Empress Hotel yesterday noon.

Mr Cotsworth, who is the originator of the Cotsworth Calendar now under advisement by a special committee of the League of Nations for calendar reform, and which is to be considered along with other plans at an international conference to be held next year, gave an interesting lecture, dealing with the origin of the method of counting days and the reasons for a desired reform. In opening his address, Mr. Cotsworth said the calendar affects the lives of the human race to a far greater extent than all the governments of the world

REVIEWS EARLY SYSTEMS

The speaker reviewed the early history of the calendar, going back to the days of Caesar. When Caesar as a ruler of the Roman Empire decided to reform the calendar he called to his aid his Egyptian mathematician and astronomer, Sosogenes, as technical adviser and expert. Caesar wanted the year to begin with the month of the vernal equinox, as in the early days of Rome, and to bring this about he gave to the last year of the old regime, which in the present chronology is the year 46 B.C., a length of 445 days, thus bringing the vernal equinox to March 25. March being the first month of the Roman calendar. His new calendar, therefore, began with the year 45 B.C.

Mr. Cotsworth went on to explain the method of fixing days, months and years. He also reviewed the calendar methods of the North American Indians, who counted the months by moons by cutting notches in sticks. The days were also counted by the use of sticks being placed alongside the bed and one being passed from one side to the other at the coming of night. Thus was indicated the days that were gone and the days that were to come. He also told of the workings of some of the most ancient of systems in use in Biblical times. He described the calendars in use by the Egyptians, Israelites and the Romans and told some romantic stories concerning them.

Proceeding to the present day, Mr. Cotsworth told of the advance being made in calendar reform throughout the civilized world. He intimated that hundreds of companies in Great Britain, United States, Germany and France were taking the first real steps in the ultimate general reform of the calendar by using the four weeks period in the conduct of their business and had found the method a means of saving time and money. He instanced an interview he had recently with President Hoover, of the United States. In connection with statistics of production, and so impressed Mr. Hoover that it became necessary to revise those statistics for the previous five years due to inaccuracies of increase and decrease because of short and long months.

When Mr. Cotsworth was called in by the special committee of the League of Nations, there were 145 proposals, and it became his duty to supervise the grouping. The proposals were separated into nine groups, and in the final analysis seven of these groups were discarded as impractical, leaving only two to be considered by the international conference to meet next year.

BENEFITS OF REFORM

The simplification of the present day calendar would result in many benefits to business as well as to the human race, Mr. Cotsworth averred.

Under the proposed system of equal months it would be possible at times to show the real state of business, something impossible under the plan in use today because of the unequal number of working days, such as Saturday half-holidays and Sunday whole holidays occurring in certain months, with a loss there in production in months in which there were five such days. As an illustration of this, Mr. Cotsworth stated he had shown his system to the head of a large concern in the United States and it was found by that company that seventeen distinct benefits could be obtained by the use merely of the four-week period.

The progress that has been made in the United States, Mr. Cotsworth said, is indicated by the fact that 1,158 organizations had voted in favor of the simplification of the calendar.

Before closing his address the speaker appealed to the members of the Canadian and Rotary clubs for co-operation in the formation of a national committee for Canada, and he urged that resolutions be passed and sent on to the Secretary of State for External Affairs at Ottawa.

Mr. Cotsworth was introduced by F. B. Fowler, president of the Canadian Club, and the vote of thanks was moved by Rev. M. Bruce, president of Rotary. Upwards of 120 members of the two clubs were present.

AUTO DRIVERS MUST OBSERVE STOP SIGNS

A warning is being given the public who use the East and West Saanich Roads that stop signs have been placed at various points along these highways and prosecutions will follow the disregarding of the rules respecting them. Automobile owners are warned that they must be on the lookout for these signs and act in conformity with the requirements, or prosecutions will follow.
